CHARTING

THE COURSE

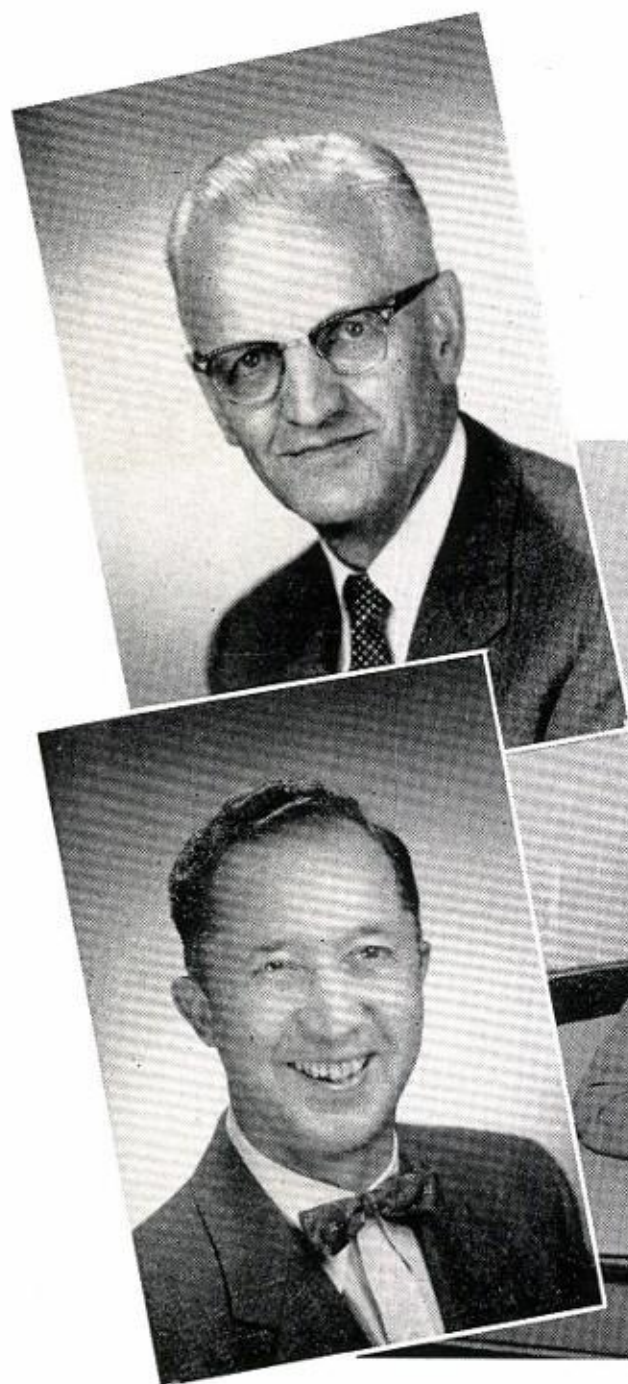

Captain's Message to Crew

ONCE AGAIN the annual staff has chosen an apropros theme for its yearbook. With Highline located so close to the sea, and with our school insignia, the Pirate, "Our Treasure Chest" becomes a fine symbol.

There are countless treasures found stored within the halls of Highline. To help willing Pirates gather a great wealth of learning, activities, leisure-time skills, friends, and special training, each is equipped with a compass. The compass, in the form of the invaluable guidance of counselors and teachers, is given to each new member as he joins the Pirate crew to chart his course toward the treasures best suited for him in the areas of curricular and extra-curricular activities.

Where can one in so short a margin of time find so many memorable treasures to fill such a chest other than at Highline? Years hence, when each pauses in a busy life to look back through these pages, students, graduates, and faculty will always say, "Thanks for the Treasure Chest of Memories."

Leonard F. Johnson

Mr. Leonard F. Johnson upper and Mr. Lowell Wiggins lower, confer with Greg Barlow, student body president concerning student affairs.

Miss Minnie Emry and her girls' athletic group.

A STRONG MIND and a strong body walk hand in hand. Throughout the years of our pursuit of a liberal education, the true significance of these words has been ever-present.

Few classes are as rewarding as those which provide wholesome recreation, for learning to play together is as vital as learning to work together. Miss Minnie Emry has unfolded to her students the treasures of good sportsmanship and wholesome activity. Through her patient and devoted teaching she has guided them, that they might grow both in body and in mind.

We, of the 1957 Pirates' Log staff wish to pay our highest tributes to Miss Emry, whose strength and devotion have made her a priceless gem in our treasure chest of memories.

The death of Miss Minnie Emry in an automobile accident on April 5, 1957, was a great shock and a great loss to her many friends. The above dedication is to one whose memory lives on in the hearts of her co-workers and pupils.

FOREWORD

IN DAYS OF OLD, lusty Pirates sailed the high seas in search of hidden gold buried deep in the sands of faraway tropical islands. Today, wealth more precious than gold coins and gems is stored within the realm of Highline for those who search willingly and wisely. These treasures of knowledge, friendship, and understanding can never be lost or stolen. No one can ever take away these memories of those happy times we shared together as each day we grew a little older, a little wiser, and a little better able to cope with the seas ahead.

When the swarthy Pirate found his treasure chest, he set sail under the sign of the Jolly Roger for distant shores to enjoy his booty. Nowadays, we too set sail for different shores, each going his separate way, with his treasure chest of memories.

It was to keep these lovely moments alive that the annual staff has worked diligently throughout the year on "A Sea Chest of Pirate Memories."

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Carl Jensen, superintendent of schools

SINCE ASSUMING the responsibilities of superintendent of Highline schools four years ago, Mr. Carl Jensen has guided the educational destinies through a period of unprecedented growth and expansion. Throughout this period of change the quality and scope of the educational services have continued to improve.

That this has been possible, despite an increase in enrollment of over 6,000 pupils and construction or initiating of over 300 classrooms, is a tribute to the cooperation and interest of the entire community and school district personnel in the educational well being of the youth of Highline.

Hands on the Pilot Wheel

JUST AS A SHIP must have a carefully charted course to follow, so must an institution of public instruction. Planning the course of Highline's education and securing its educational rights and privileges is a service entrusted to the school board, a service which demands the utmost of careful supervision and understanding. The board provides for the ever-rising number of school-aged children in the community, and establishes school policies followed by the entire district. The completion of Evergreen Junior-Senior High School realized only one of the many objectives set forth by the directors.

With thirty-four years of productive service behind him, Dr. Thompson will remain as senior member of the board, along with Mr. A. A. Soderquist, Mr. Lysle Guynn, Mr. Earl Booth and Mr. Jim Rice.

BOARD MEMBERS • Mr. Carl O. Laudenbach, board secretary; Mr. Lyle Guynn, Dr. Victor Thompson, Mr. Earl Booth, Mr. James Rice, Mr. A. A. Soderquist.

HEAD OFFICE FORCE • Mrs. Loretta Steiner, Mrs. Maxine LePenske, Mrs. Lilly Anderson, Miss Sharon Collins, Mrs. Mary Derick.

NEPTUNE'S WORKSHOP • If the names of all the worthy crew were put into a treasure chest, even the most hearty seaman would find it a difficult task to alphabetize, assort, and classify them. Yet, this was the summer work of Mrs. Lilly Anderson and her assistants of the office force. When school opened everything was ship-shape for the two thousand who were shanghaied into service.

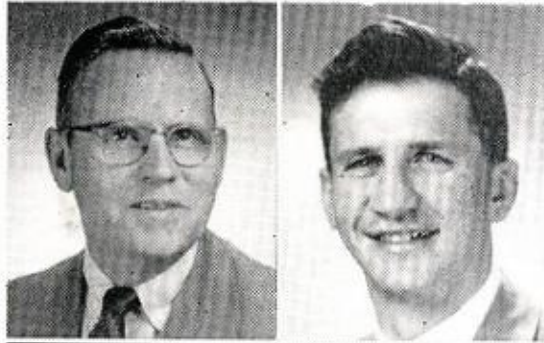

Just as Christmas vacation rolled in, Mrs. Loretta Steiner left the attendance office and Mrs. Maxine LePenske took her place. Assisted by three students each period, she dealt efficiently with all matters concerning attendance.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION • Riding the waves with an easy stride was the Parent-Teacher Association, under the leadership of Mrs. Harold Leopold. P.T.A. endeavors to form a distinct link between the student, the parent, and the teacher. By working together toward a specific goal, progress has been made not only in solving specific problems but in creating sound relationships between the groups. Through the year they have had cooperative meetings with student representatives and parents. Several dances were sponsored and chaperoned by the group. With a look to the future the P.T.A. sponsored a scholarship for graduating seniors interested in preparing for a teaching career.

PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION OFFICERS • Mrs. Philip Gruger, secretary; Mrs. Harold Leopold, president; Mrs. Velma Whitlock, treasurer; Mrs. Raymond Pierson, vice-president.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

SOUND learning procedure develops from a close bond between student and faculty, as evidenced by the interest Mr. Simpson shows in the work of two of his art students, Joan Sentz and Gale Taylor.

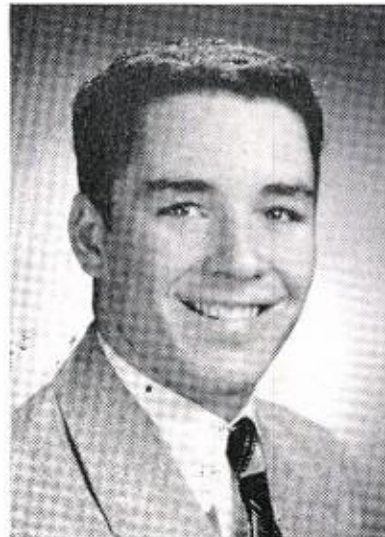

STEERING

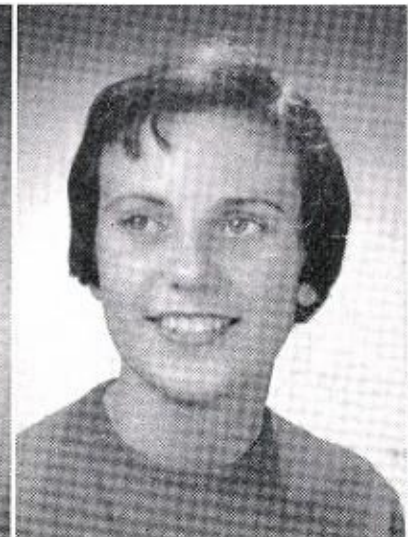

BOARD OF CONTROL • Members of the board are seen grouped about the Student Body bulletin board, one of their latest achievements. Seeing one of their ideas become an accomplished fact makes the group even more enthusiastic. Informal chatting, as pictured here, often brings spontaneous answers to problems which might prove difficult in organized meetings.

STUDENT LEADERS AT EASE • Kathy Everham, Peggy Robertson, Steve Barlow, Patti Chapman, Greg Barlow, Sandra Hayes.

A TRUE COURSE

CHARTING THE COURSE toward a stronger student body and school spirit was the privilege of this year's Board of Control. Meeting daily fifth period, the board worked harmoniously to create a stronger bond of school pride. The realization of this goal was manifest in such activities as the Hallowe'en clean-up. For the eighth consecutive season a clean-up was staged and a large number of Pirates again succeeded in their efforts toward the betterment of their community. Also, in response to a request for aid, the Highline Pirates invaded Seattle to help in a gigantic "Teens Against Polio" campaign. After several hours in the driving rain, the Pirates returned to find themselves victorious over all other Seattle area schools in the city wide contest for funds.

The board, in addition to aiding in public service, completed many worthwhile projects in the school. For example, the opening of the HUB marked the beginning of the school year for an enthusiastic student body. Then the bulletin board was another important addition, for in connection with the newly organized Student Council, it helped to bring important issues to the attention of fellow classmates. Also, these student leaders devoted a considerable amount of time to revamping the old constitution to suit the needs of the rapidly progressing student organization.

This past year will be remembered also for some of the changes that the school has made around the campus. A large marquee was left as a monument to the efforts of previous senior classes and the success of this year's senior class and Board. In addition to this, a section of land was purchased to be used as a senior park. Their final project was to instill a year's experience into next year's newly elected officers, advising them in the ways of leadership.

Thus a splendid degree of student citizenship and co-operation between the faculty and officers made this year at Highline the greatest year ever.

Seamen First Class

SAILING HIGH to the tune of "Do Lord," 850 adventurous sophomores invaded Highline to chart their course toward "Destination Unknown." Despite the confusion caused by one way halls and unfamiliar upper classmen, they adjusted readily and were soon sailing smoothly over homework and activities.

Entering their junior year on the keynote of "Mississippi Mud," they were determined to make their class the most outstanding ever to enter Highline. Contributing greatly to the spirit and prestige of the school, they lost to the seniors in the annual toy drive by a margin of one-half-of-one-percent. Not to be discouraged by this, they named a committee to send cards to ill classmates, causing them to be known as the "Heart of Highline." Various individuals of the class achieved special recognition: Mary Melick, Song Princess; Suzanne Willard, Homecoming Princess; and Nancy Thomas, Junoir Girl of the Month.

When the time came for the final lap of the cruise to begin, each one of the 540 seniors who remained knew he was prepared for the responsibilities that lay ahead. Chosen as worthy leaders were Dave Bible, president; Dick Hull, vice-president; Sue Kesler, secretary; and John Stackpole, treasurer. From the first of the year, the class worked efficiently, in the various senior committees, planning and raising money for their activities. Voted as committee chairmen were Bill Pike, for Commencement; Diane Giles, Senior Cruise; Nikki Miller, Prom; Nancy Carson, Class Day; Kay Hauser, College Conference; and Joann McKail, Cards and Announcements.

As the '57 crew of the good ship Highline left for their respective destinations, they carried with them not only the treasures of a rich voyage, but also the knowledge that they would be prepared for whatever lay before them on the seas ahead.

*I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul.*

PHYLLIS BRANDT—D.E.C.A., Glee Club, H.G.A.A., Drill Team, Junior Red Cross.

*Classical music?—Well, I say "Yea"—
And seasoned with jazz, I like it that way.*

ROGER BREWER—

*Happiness he found behind the wheel
Of his merry Oldsmobile.*

JUSTINE BRINGOLF—Entered from Redmond High School, Redmond, Washington, in her senior year. Panorama, Yell and Song Club.

*She took time out for romance and fun;
Activities, too, kept this girl on the run.*

BERT BRITTON—A Cappella.

*Give a man a song to sing and a flame to fight,
And his little world will turn out right.*

ROSS BRODY—

*When textbooks are made like cars and are thin,
Then they'll be devoured by seniors like him.*

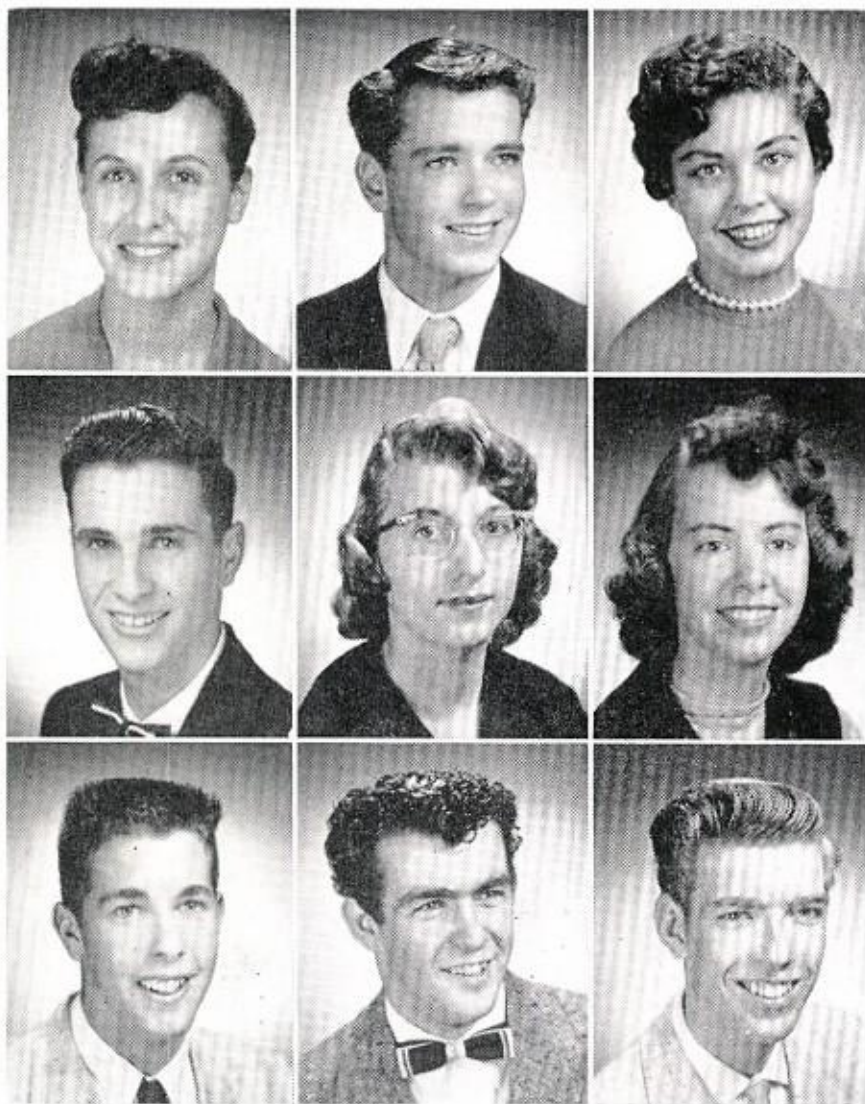

BEVERLY BROWN—Glee Club, Triple H, Ticketeers.

"School," she said, "is merely an interlude on the road to romance."

JACK BROWN—Football, Knights of the Cutlass, Track, Sportsmen's Club, Big H, Senior Band.

A little flirting now and then is relished by the best of men.

DAVE BUTLER—Basketball, Big H, Football, Pep Club, Track, HUB Committee.

Me thinks me has surpassed by far this one called "Romeo."

JAMES BYRD—D.E.C.A.

*Slow and sure the safest gait,
All things come to those who wait.*

JANET BYRD—Vendors, Make-Up Club, D.E.C.A., Orchestra.

It is not my talent to conceal my happy heart.

RALPH BYQUIST—Big H, Football, Track.

*Thou art the mildest mannered man,
Who ever on the gridiron for a touchdown ran.*

HOWARD CALL—Big H, Football, Pep Club, Track.

*He had wings on his feet to carry him away,
To the athletic field, for there he would stay.*

PHYLLIS CALLAHAN—

*Petite she was, but not too small
To be easily noticed in the hall.*

ARLENE CARLSON—Torch, Ushers.

*Capricious lassie with carefree air,
Whose complexion more often was blushing than fair.*

KARL CARLSON—

*Working on cars all the time
Is sure to be his future line.*

*Celtic beauty and Celtic wit—
Did she worry about the "High Lines"? Well, just a wee bit.*

RICHARD CARTER—

*"Man's love to man is a thing apart—"
But when it comes to cars, they lie close to the heart.*

JOYCE BROWN—

*How lovely common things must seem to you,
Who have such lovely eyes to see them through.*

LARRY BROWN—

*Books and knowledge to him were a bore,
For after school he learned much more.*

SHEILA ANN BROWN—Panorama, Pep Club, Publicity Club, Triple H, SPADES, Representative Assembly, Yell and Song Club, "Gramercy Ghost."

*This peppy lass with cheeks of tan,
Certainly knew how to hold her man.*

MELVIN BUCKLES—Senior Band, Library Staff, Movie Operator.

*Men are only boys grown tall;
Hearts don't change much after all.*

CAROL ANNE BULEN—Vendors, Library Staff, Commencement Committee.

Her trademark was a friendly smile.

ZELDA BULLOCK—CASH Club, Torch.

*The way to the heart she mastered with glee,
For skilled in cooking she proved to be.*

BRIAN BUNDY—

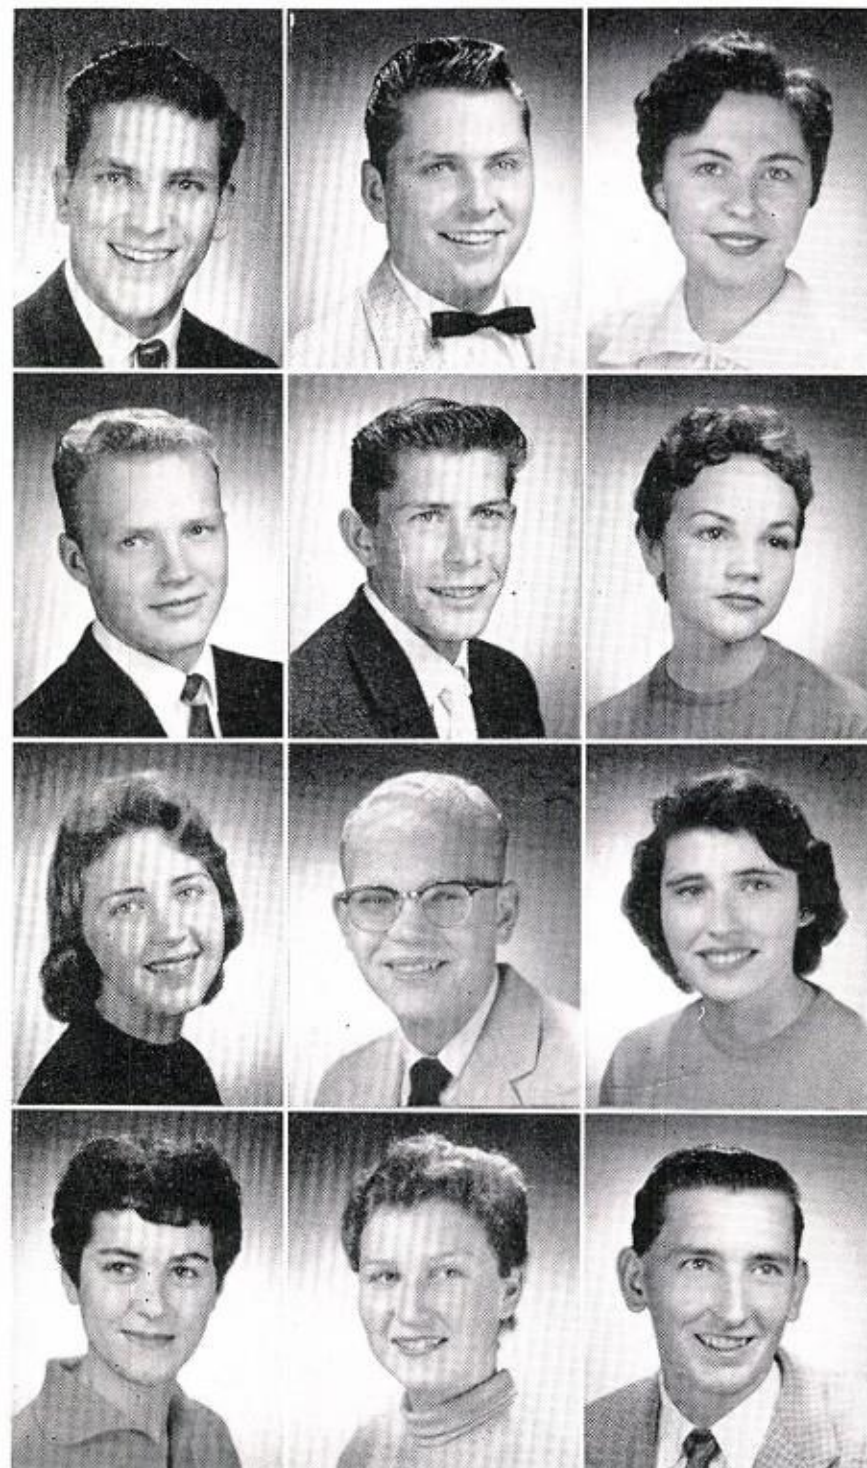

He lived for the moment and let the hour take care of itself.

RANDY BURBRIDGE—

The Don Juan of the halls.

DEAN BURKE—A Cappella, All-Northwest-Chorus.

It was as much his nature to blossom into song, as it was for a tree to leaf itself in April.

CLARA CASWELL—

She seasoned work with fun, strongly preferring the latter.

JOAN CAVEY—Triple H.

Her gentle mind by her deeds was known.

ELBE CHAFFIN—Representative Assembly, Movie Operators, Camp Waskowitz Counselor.

He seldom spoke, but what he said was clear and full of sense.

Music in his fingers.

STANLEY COOK—

"Dark Eyes."

NANCY CORNFORD—Senior Band, SPADES, CASH Club, Senior Orchestra, Panorama, Western Washington Solo Contest, "All-Pirates' Revue."

Blest is she who follows free the road to anywhere.

JAMES COWAN—Basketball Manager, Track.

*A basketball manager—supreme,
Winning the championship—his dream.*

KENNETH CRAWFORD—Sportsmen's Club, Panorama, Track, Camp Waskowitz Counselor.

The day was dull that did not have a girl in it.

SUE ANN CROTTY—Entered from Falls High School, International Falls, Minnesota, in her senior year.

*Music and dancing appealed to Sue,
Who was loyal to Highline through and through.*

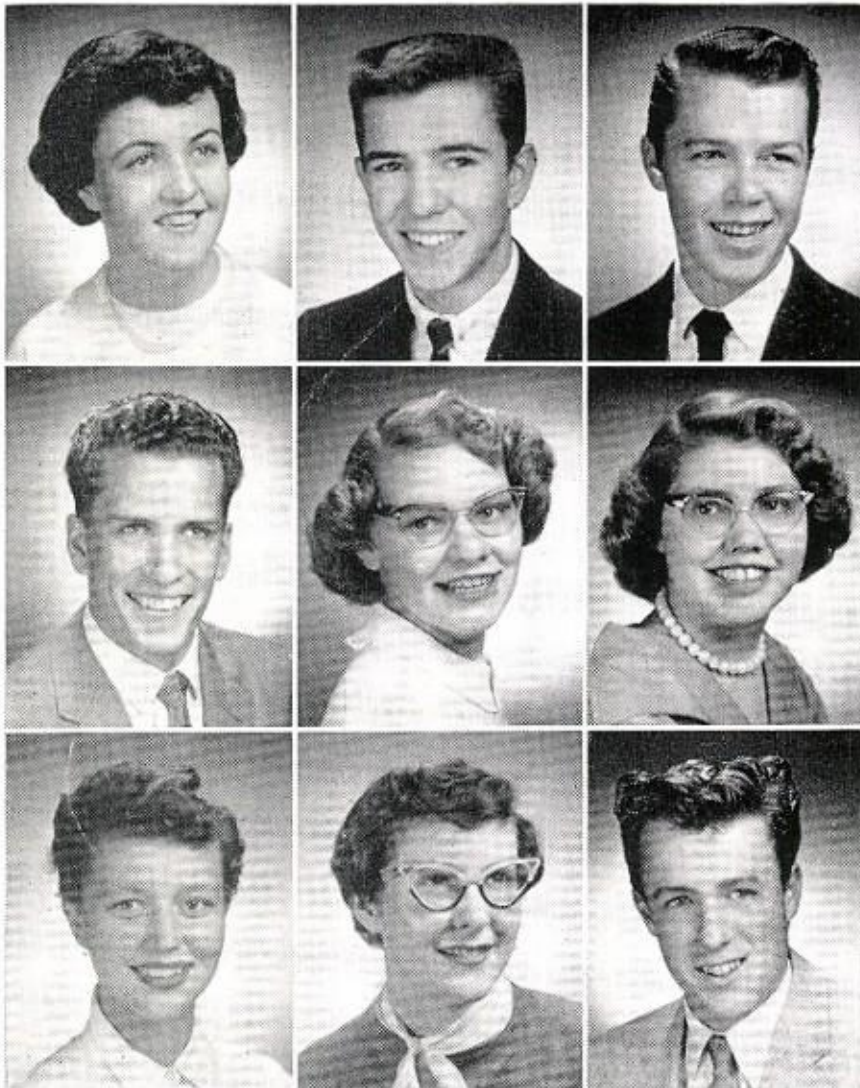

JIM CROWN—

He read only from Nature's dictionary.

MICHAEL CROY—Entered from Newton High School, Newton, Kansas, in his senior year.

Those move easiest, and best, who have learned to dance.

CAROL ANN CRUMBY—
She makes two smiles grow where one grew before.

SCOTT CULP—Entered from Clover Park High School, Tacoma, Washington, in his senior year.
He came as a Warrior, but won the Pirates' fortress with charm.

GEORGE CUNNINGHAM—
*A good-natured fellow who, by the way,
Was remembered for his girl and his Chevrolet.*

DARYL DAHLGARD—
*Cars he liked, new or old,
On this subject he's completely sold.*

KAREN DALSING—Ticketeers, Ushers, Venders.
*Ushering and selling were her hobbies,
Vending and conducting people through lobbies.*

LYNETTE DALSING—Ticketeers, Ushers, Library Staff.
A dimple was Lynette's most distinguishing feature.

LORETTA DATE—
The favorite page in her history book was the page that wasn't there.

JOY DAVIDSON—
*From the land of sky-blue waters to the world of mist and rain
Was a long journey for Joy—but "Westward Ho" she came.*

JIM DAWSON—
He lived in a world with his friends and a car.

ARLENE DEAHL—Glee Club, Panorama, "All-Pirates' Revue."
*With her friendly expression and quiet way,
She made a new friend almost every day.*

BRUCE DEAN—Stage Crew, Make-up Club, Senior Park Committee.
*Quiet, shy, full of reserve,
A big man skidding round the curve.*

JERRY DE GAGNE—Football.
*Long hours at the station he toiled,
Polishing his car and getting it oiled.*

For his mind was set on the road ahead.*

PAT MELICK—CASH Club, Girls' Club Cabinet, Panorama, Pep Club, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Torch, Yell and Song Club, Publicity Club, Senior Prom Committee.

*Art colored her life with a lovely glow,
Yet she was an individualist—that we know!*

DONNA MOORE—Triple H, Ticketeers, Torch, Ushers, Yell and Song Club, SPADES, Camp Waskowitz Counselor.
She brings soft peace wherever she goes.

JOANNE MOORHEAD—Ushers.
*Her poise was evident at a single glance;
She had learned to roller skate and to dance.*

RUTH ANN MOREY—Yell and Song Club President, Song Staff.
This princess seldom walks alone.

JIM MORRIS—
*In the classroom he was "Gentleman Jim";
Only a few knew what fun was within.*

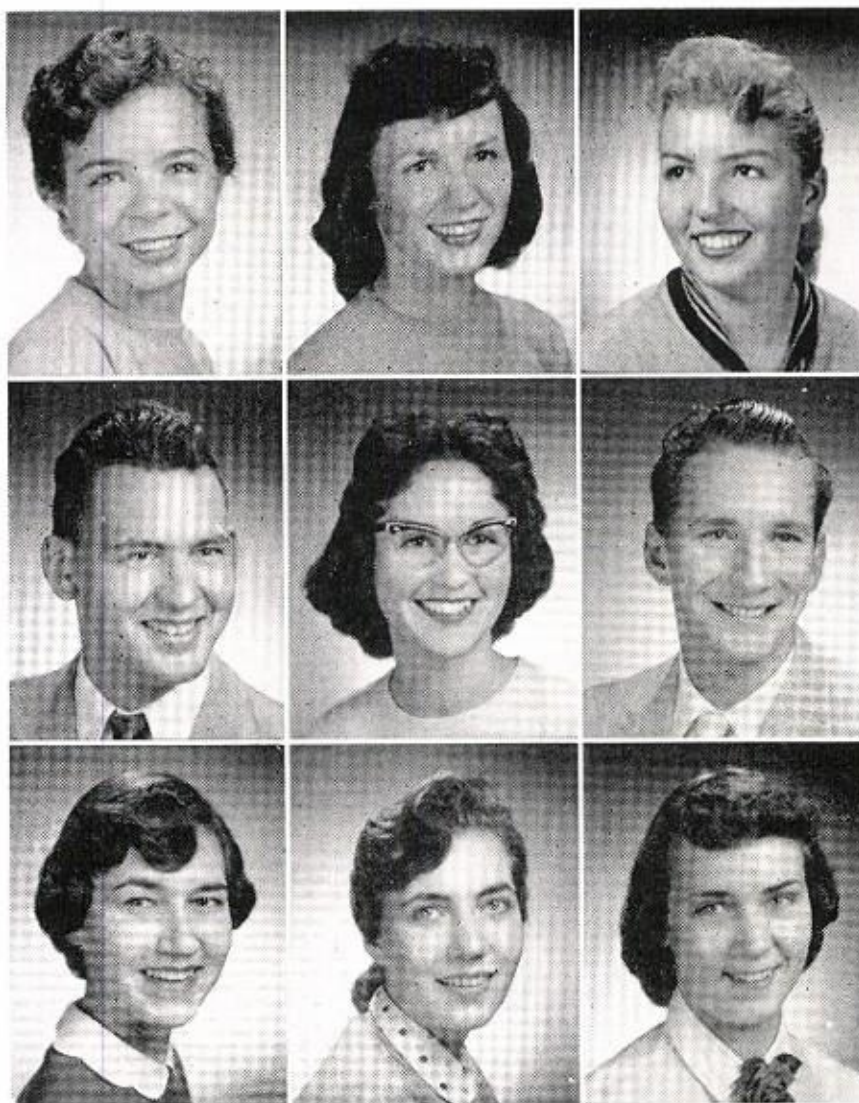

DALE MORRIS—Senior Band, F.T.A., Senior Orchestra, Panorama, Western Washington Solo Contest, Torch, Yell and Song Club, Western Washington Band, Washington State Band.
*Dale tuned her life by ear,
And it grew sweeter every year.*

JACK MORGAN—Track, Big H.
*If books resemble cars to him,
He'll lift the cover and look within.*

LINDA MORRIS—Ticketeers, Torch, Ushers, Nurse's Aid.
*Movies and candy, horses and such,
Oil paintings, and secretaries she liked very much.*

PATRICIA MORRISON—Drama Shoppe.
*A name for herself she'll make some day,
This adventurous girl with artistic ways.*

CAROLE MORROW—Girls' Club Cabinet, Triple H, Representative Assembly, Yell and Song Club, IUB Committee.
*A Girls' Club worker and a good one, too;
She was never found without something to do.*

FRAN MOSS—
Teach me half the gladness that the mind must know.

WILLIAM MOUREY—Honor Roll.
His speech was short, comprehending much in a few words.

BILL MULLER—
He was well informed about anything he didn't have to study.

DONALD NAGEL—
*Intellectual power just kept in reserve—
Otherwise he might be asked to serve.*

ROBERT NAPIER—
*There were ninety and nine that were enrolled—
But one always strayed away from the fold.*

MIKE NASH—D.E.C.A.
Mischief, thou art afoot.

JEAN NELSON—
A quiet mind is richer than a golden crown.

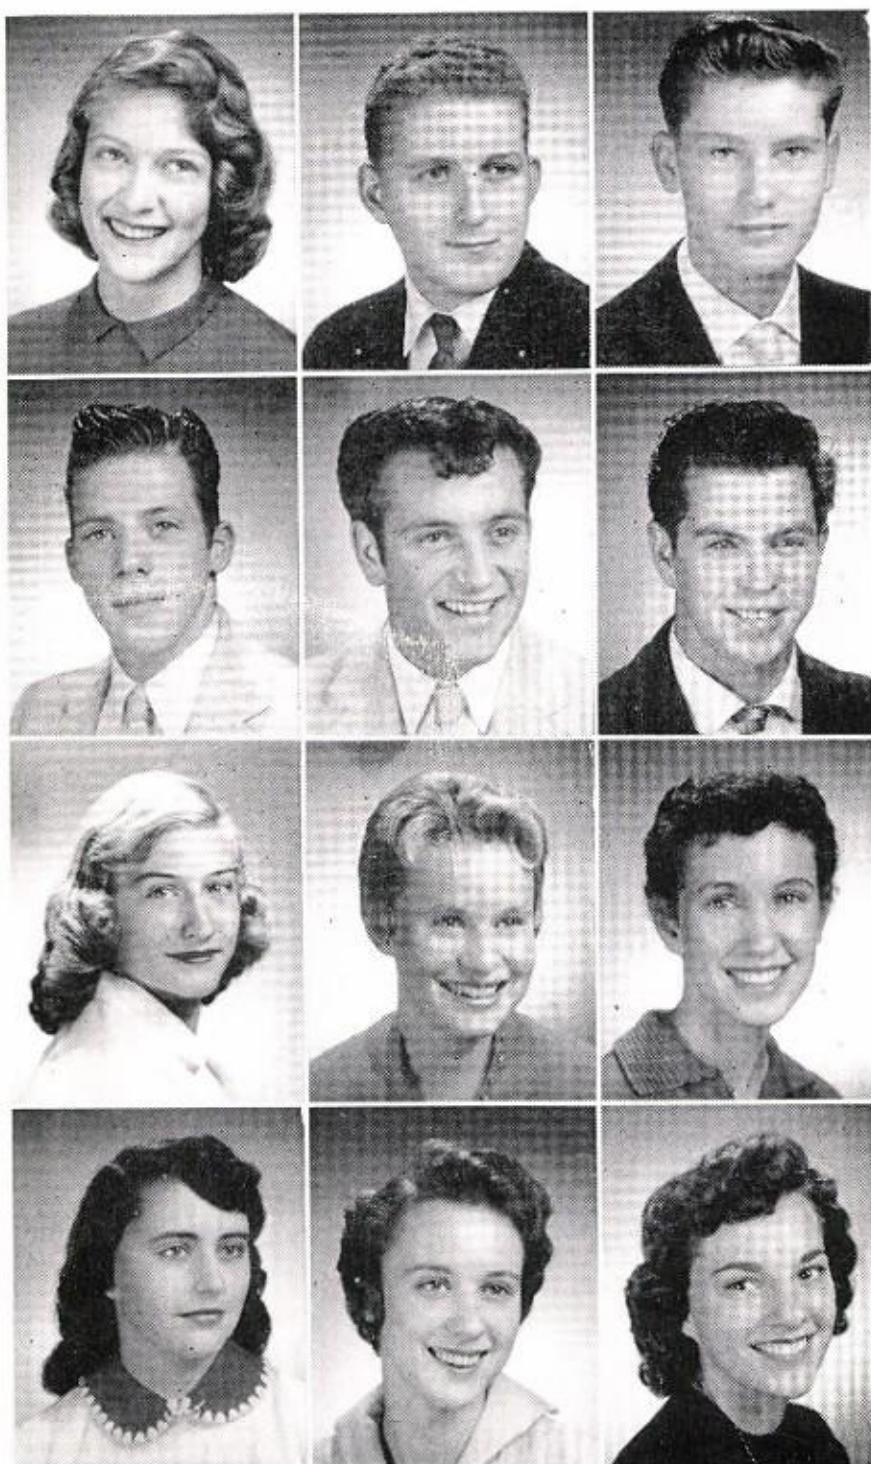

MIDGE NELSON—Drama Shoppe, Yell and Song Club.

Always achieving and pursuing—Learning to labor and to wait.*

JESSIE PAGANELLI—Entered from Yakima High School, Yakima, Washington, in her senior year.

Homemaking hearts are happiest.

MARILYN PAGE—Publicity Club, Torch, "All-Pirates' Revue", Yell and Song Club, CASH Club, Traffic Safety Council.

Her voice was ever low, an excellent thing in woman.

LEOTA PARKER—

Sweet are the thoughts that dwell in a contented heart.

DARREL PATRICK—

He who serves well and speaks not, merits more.

WENDELL PAYNE—

He invariably said what everyone else was thinking.

JERRY PERRIN—

*His senior year, the best of all,
For during this time he had a "ball."*

GERRY PETE—Triple H, Yell and Song Club.

Her eyes spoke the language her lips failed to utter.

CHUCK PETERSON—Football, Sportsmen's Club.

*"I don't care if the sun don't shine,
I get my lovin' in the evening time."*

LARRY PETERSON—

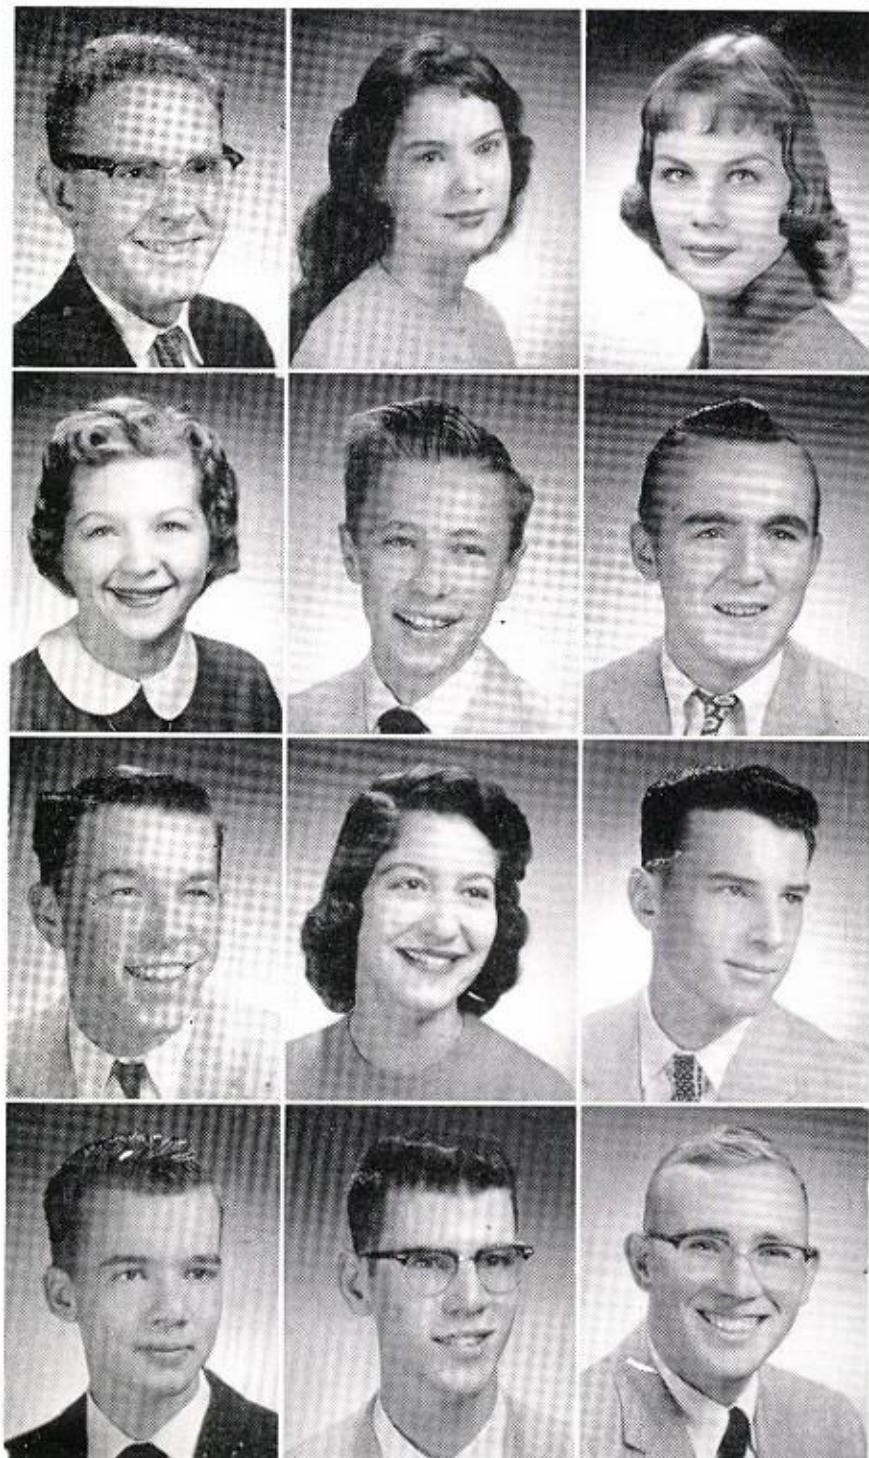

Angelic in appearance, but looks could be deceiving!

PATRICK PETTY—Cards and Announcements Committee.

*From cars he turned to textbooks grim,
For a latent ambition developed in him.*

NEIL PFAFMAN—

*Some books he had and models, too,
Of sailing craft. To the sea he was true.*

JANICE PIERCE—Senior Band.
In herself she dwelleth not, although no home were half so fair.

SHARON PIERSON—A Cappella, Glee Club, Panorama, Representative Assembly, Western Washington Solo Contest, Triple Tones.
A crown of glory that faded not away.

BILL PIKE—Tennis, Torch, Big H, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Radio Announcers, Commencement Committee.

 Made each forget his troubles awhile.*

THOMAS PIRCEY—
*To work was his life's career.
 To stay in school his greatest fear.*

DENNIS PITTIS—Basketball, Football, Track.
*Slow and easy were his ways,
 But they speeded up on football days.*

SHERRY PLATT—Girls' Club Cabinet, Honor Roll, Pep Club, SPADES, Publicity Club, Representative Assembly, CASH Club, Senior Cruise Committee.
Her incessant chatter rolled into the room before she did.

LARRY PLISCHKE—Football, Knights of the Cutlass, Track, Big H, Sportsmen's Club.
*On the football field earning glory,
 In the classroom—that's a long story.*

JIM PLYMIRE—Pep Club.
*We seldom heard much comment from Jim,
 Content he was to sit back and grin.*

PATTY POINIER—Make-Up Club, Pep Club, Publicity Club, "All-Pirates' Revue," Yell and Song Club, Attendance Office, HUB Committee.
Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.

JACK POOL—
*Designing cars that would run without gas,
 Helped this budding artist to stay happy in class.*

WAYNE POTTER—Drama Shoppe, Glee Club, "Time Out For Ginger."
The mightiest works are accomplished by men who dare to dream great dreams.

DONALD POTTS—Entered from Brush High School, Brush, Colorado, in his senior year.
*Don liked to wrestle, but not with books,
 He would rather stick worms on fishing hooks.*

NORMA POWELL—Library Staff, Panorama, Red Cross, Library-Art Department.
*While quietly wending her way through school,
 Art, music, and poetry became her rule.*

LARRY PROCTOR—Golf Club, D.E.C.A.
Don't push me around; I like to saunter.

DOROTHY RATCHFORD—Panorama.
*Dorothy was kind and willing to serve,
 And tackled all jobs with commendable verve.*

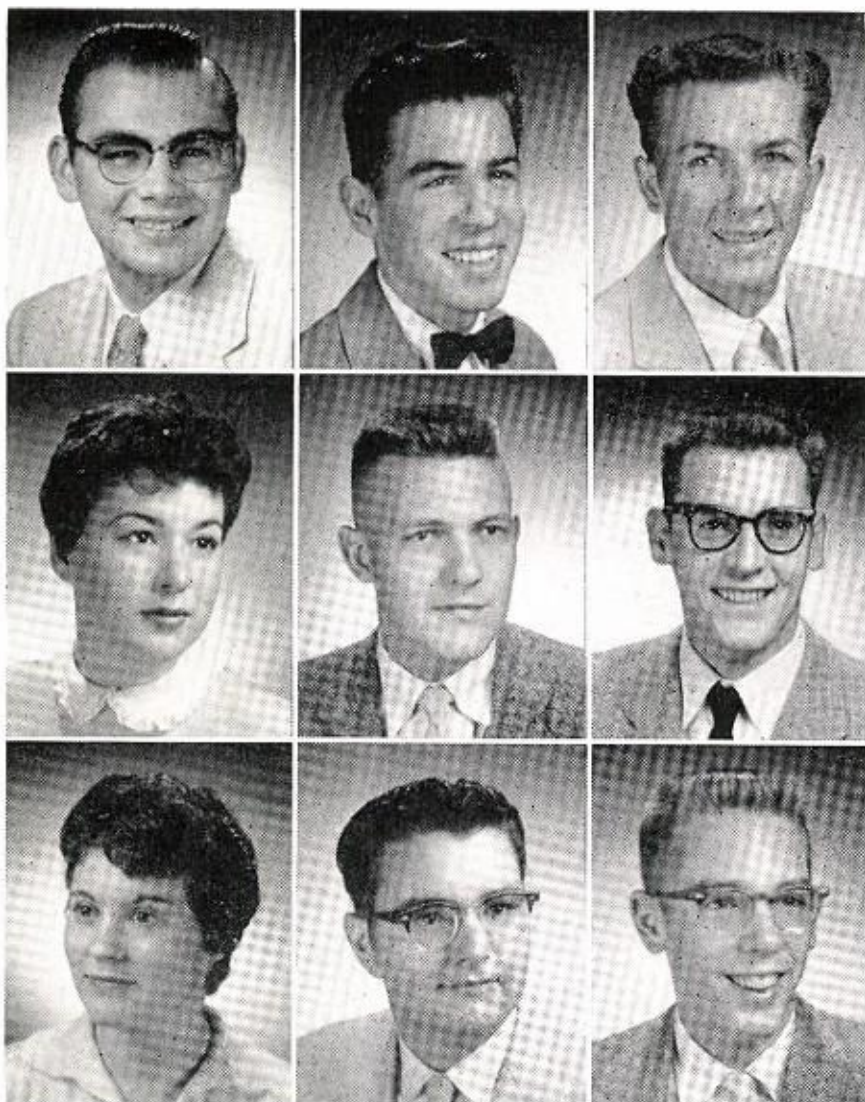

ANN RAY—
*A college girl she hoped to be,
 But sports, not books, were for such as she.*

FRED RAY—Panorama, Movie Operators.
Let me sail in "Puff", my star of the sea, to a far golden shore.

GARY REAVIS—Entered from Eldorado High School, Eldorado, Kansas, in his senior year.
*What a harsh task-master school seemed to be;
 For the U. S. Army was for such as he.*

VERNON REDECKER—Senior Band, Pep Band, Senior Orchestra, "All-Pirates' Revue."
*He played the trumpet with a right good will,
 But in all other classes he just sat still.*

JIM REECE—Football, Publicity Club, Panorama, College Conference Committee.

*The highway burned up beneath his car;
With his hand on the wheel he has traveled far.*

ROGER REECE—

*"Don't get excited, don't be frantic,
Take life easy"—says this future mechanic.*

KEN REIMANN—Entered from Boise High School, Boise, Idaho, in his senior year.

*Studies and he just never did click;
He only had time for some cute little "chick."*

SUZANNE RETHERFORD—Triple H.

*Sports' car racing draws her attention;
Drawing and painting rate honorable mention.*

ROBERT C. REYNOLDS—Swimming, Waskowitz Counselor.

He took big bites of the outdoors, with school as an added flavor.

ROBERT G. REYNOLDS—Basketball, "Pirates' Log" Staff, SPADES.

*What a voice he had, this man about town,
Who could be with ease either prince or clown.*

BARBARA RHOADES—School Bankers, Ticketeers, Torch, Ushers.

*My day will come and I'll have my chance
Of teaching others the art of the dance.*

FRANK RHOADES—

Only on the way to school did he have motor trouble.

BILL RICE—Swimming, Tennis, Track.

*Oh, give me the outdoors, wild and free,
Forest and river, mountain and sea.*

BABETTE RICHARDS—"High Lines'" Staff, Publicity Club, CASH Club, SPADES.

*Then I danced with a gal with a dimple in her cheek,
And if she'd o' kep' on smilin', I'd a' danced for a week.*

BOB RIESS—Football, Panorama, Stage Crew, "All-Pirates' Revue."

*One fine fellow with a determined grin—
To skip now and then, 'twas no great sin.*

LARRY ROBB—

*Muscle man, but muscle bound,
When any school work was around.*

JUDY ROBBINS—Panorama, Yell and Song Club, CASH Club.

The laughter of a girl is, and ever was, among the delightful sounds of the earth.

PEGGY ROBERTSON—Board of Control, Honor Roll, Pep Club, Publicity Club, "All-Pirates' Revue," Yell and Song Club, Yell Queen, Traffic Safety Council, Sportsmen's Club, Homecoming Committee Chairman.

Naught but a golden crown could adorn this fair-haired beauty.

ROBERTA ROBERTSON—

*Tomorrow to her was a bright new day,
Full of rollicking fun and acquaintances gay.*

JUDY ROBEY—Triple H, Ushers.

*She dreams of travel as the hours go by,
A compulsion to do and not to ask why.*

ROGER ROBILLARD—

He has two speeds: high for the roads, and low for the classroom.

GERALD ROGERS—

*A bit of study, a bit of play,
These were his trademarks, all the way.*

LORRIE ROGERS—

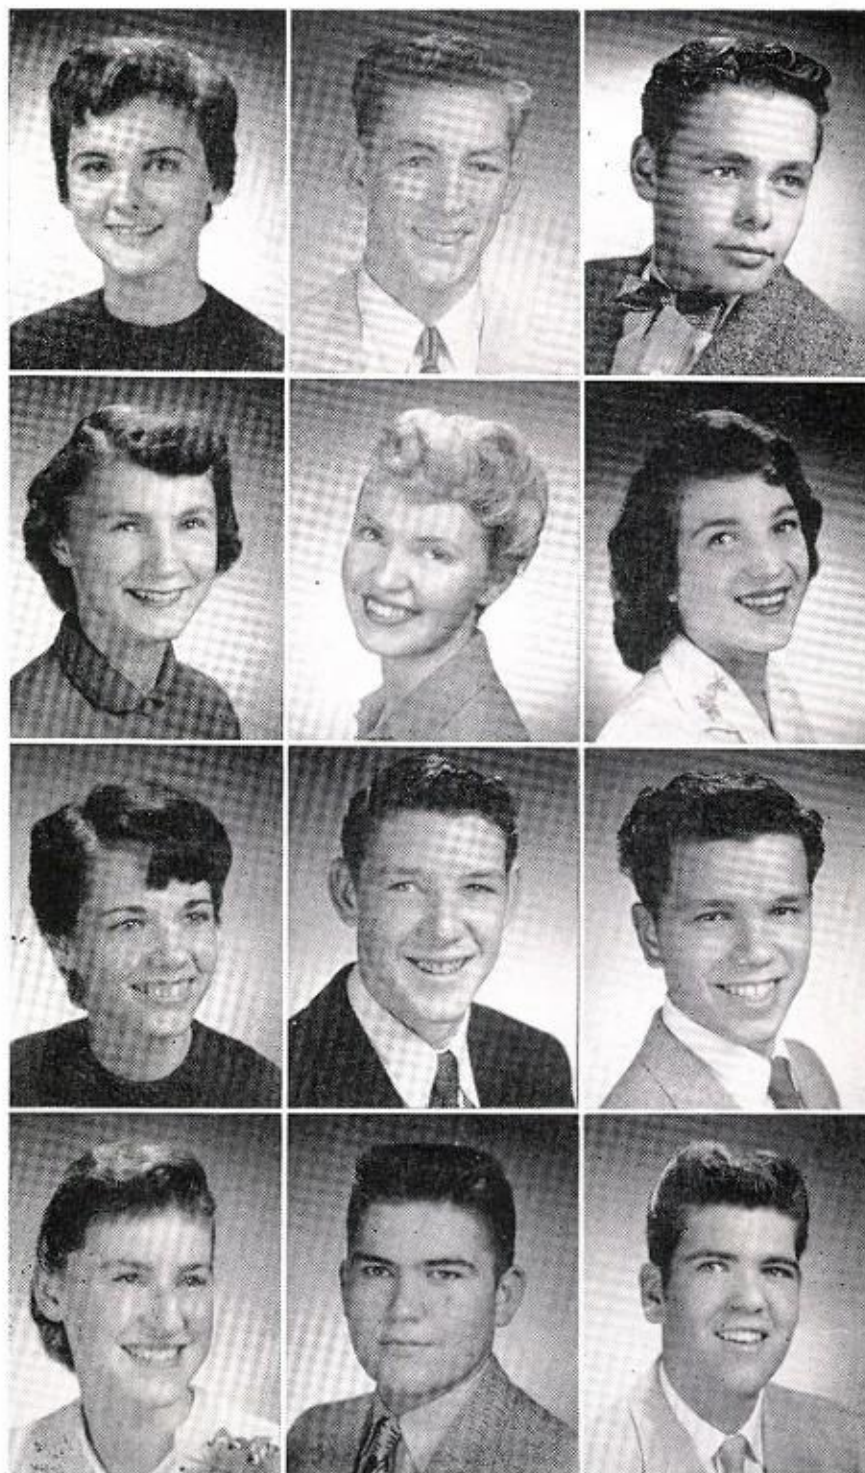

*Around and around the rink she will go
This perky miss, so pleasant to know.*

LEE ROHRER—Sportsmen's Club.

*The "War of the Worlds" he believed was right,
For he read science fiction from morn to night.*

WAYNE ROLFE—

*A "cool cat" from away, way back—
Or at least he tries to be just that.*

EDWARD ROSEBACH—
Gone . . . but not forgotten.

ROSEMARY ROWLAND—A Cappella, CASH Club, Torch.
*The adage of the bird in hand, fits her story neatly:
 She is firmly convinced that birds in the bush sing more sweetly!*

CHERIE RUFF—
*Adventure and travel fill her mind,
 For this girl is surely the restless kind.*

DARLENE RUNNELS—
Her wit was a fuse to little bombs of laughter.

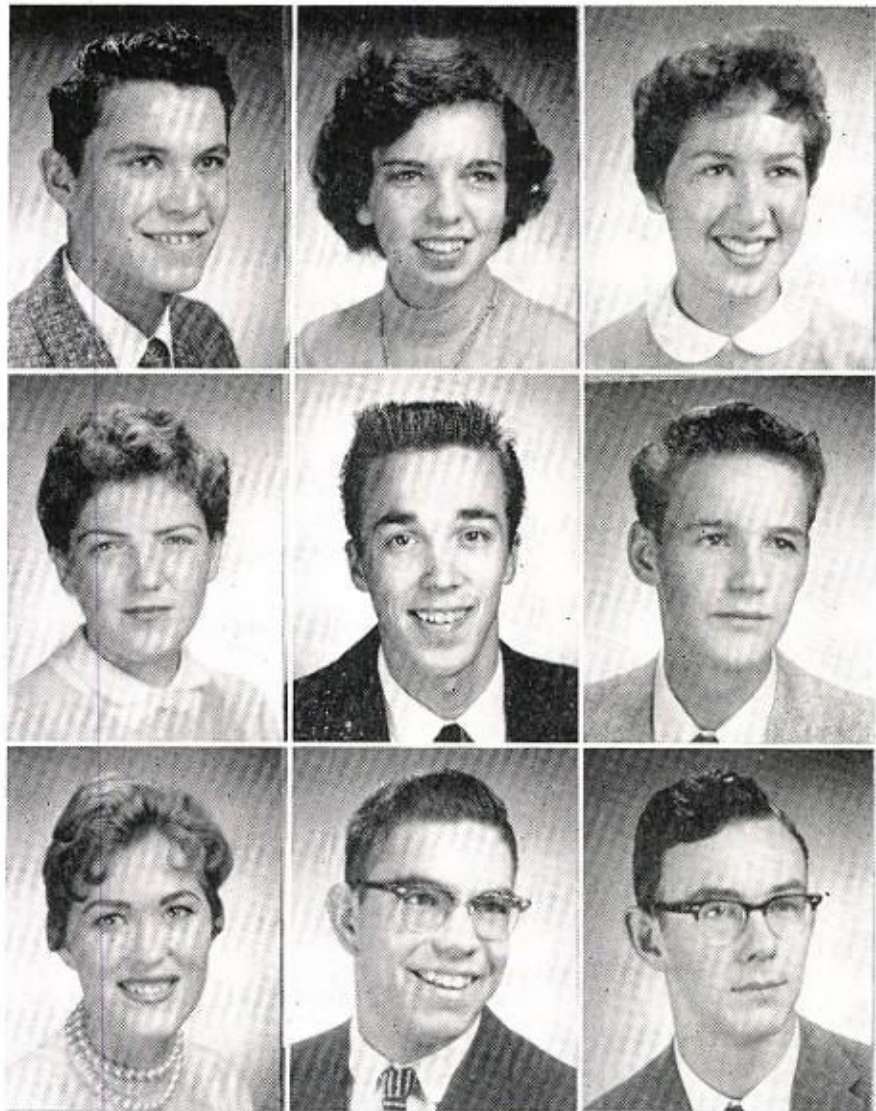

CURTIS (SPEED) RUTHRUFF—
Nicknames stick to people, and the most ridiculous are the most adhesive.

ROBERT RUUD—Sportsmen's Club.
*Fishing and hunting are in my line,
 I could fish all my life, and like it fine.*

SYLVIA SALKELD—Girls' Playday, H.G.A.A., Make-Up Club, Nurse's
 Aid, Camp Waskowitz Counselor.
*Who is Sylvia? What is she?
 Why a dilettante—or she wished to be.*

LARRY SALKIELD—Entered from Warden High, Warden, Washington,
 in his senior year. Science Club, Radio Club, HUB Committee, Torch, Homecoming Assembly M.C.
"The Velvet Throat."

STANLEY SAWYER—Chess Club, Debate, Grand Honor Roll, Torch,
 Science Club.
The scholar in our midst.

LARRY SCHAEFFER—
*His quiet nature was rarely perturbed,
 Except when slander 'gainst Fords he heard.*

MIKE SCHIEBER—Panorama, Stage Crew, Tennis, Torch, "All-
 Pirates' Revue," Camp Waskowitz Counselor.
*Be not deceived by that manner so mild,
 For he was really a prankster—but not too wild.*

ROGER SCHILLING—
*I am as happy as happy can be,
 For I have a car, and it belongs to me.*

TONI SCHOMAKER—Panorama, Torch.
*Her car was her pride,
 In no other would she ride.*

LLOYD SCHOONMAKER—
*From class routine he was always apart;
 He expressed himself only in dramatic art.*

SHELDON SCHULE—
*A quiet fellow, but likeable was he,
 Who desired to answer the call of the sea.*

DUANE SCHULTZ—Entered from Kent-Meridian High School, Kent,
 Washington, in his senior year.
School was secondary to him. His greatest riches were found in the inexhaustible wealth of nature.

CAROLYN SCHUMANN—
*Pale violets and a golden ring,
 To her mind, fond memories bring.*

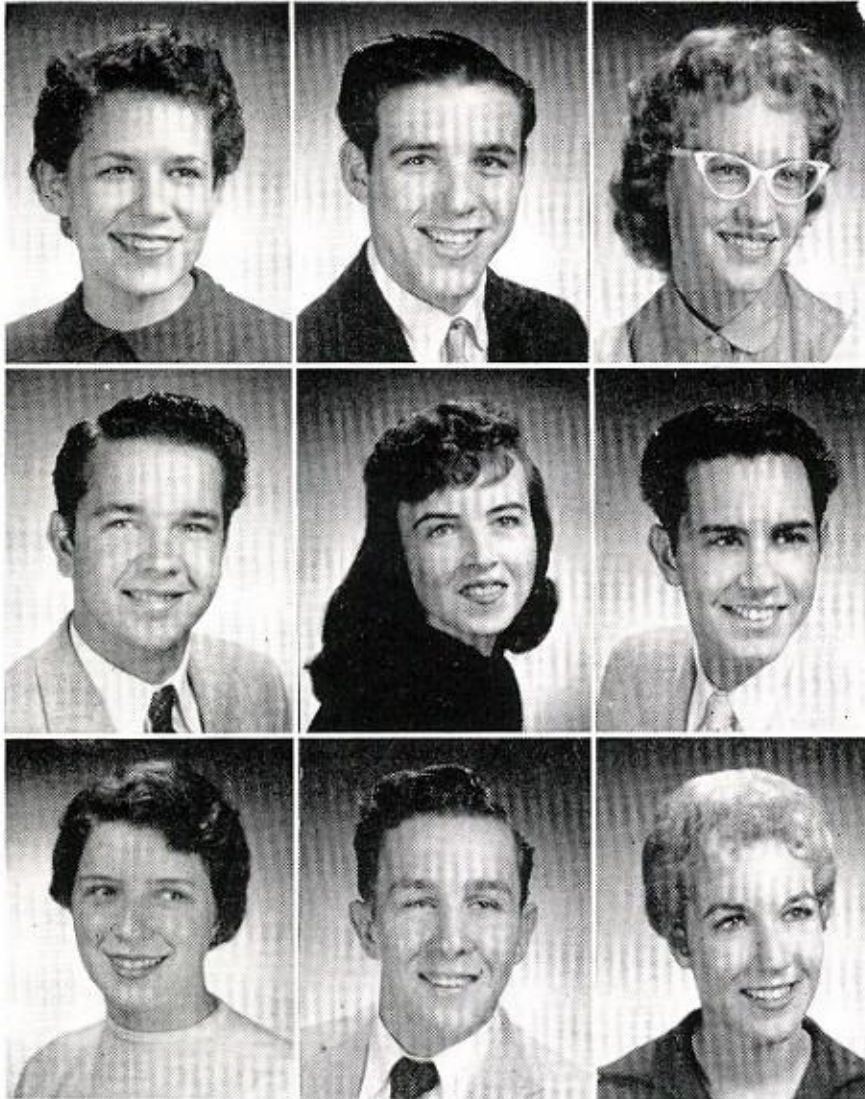

LLOYD SEACREST—Camera Club, "High Lines" Staff, Panorama,
 Stage Crew, Track, Movie Operators.
*Come I may, but leave I must, and if people ask you why,
 You may put the blame upon the stars and the beckoning blue of the sky.*

GARY SEND—Baseball, Football, Movie Operators.
Give me freedom to roam in the wide open world.

JOAN SENTZ—Drama Shoppe, Publicity Club, Ticketeers, Torch,
 Ushers, Senior Dance Committee.

Hitch your wagon to a star; this one will never disappoint you.

DONNA STAUB—
*Outside activities spiced her life,
Completely happy in her role of a wife.*

ARLENE STEGMER—A Cappella, Triple H, Representative Assembly.
*She would scarcely let a minute go by,
Without saying with a sigh:
"When is this period over?"*

NICK STEPHANI—
Sometimes, more is gained by saying little.

JOANNE STEPHENS—Glee Club, Venders.
*Not a flower, not a pearl,
Just an amiable, all-around girl.*

ARTHUR STEWART—Entered from Lincoln High School, Seattle, Washington, in his junior year.
He crammed fun into his life like goodies into a Dagwood sandwich.

BARBARA STEWART—Science Club, Honor Roll.
*Good, better, best; she never let it rest,
Till her good was better and her better best.*

KAY STONER—Publicity Club.
*Fair tresses man's imperial race ensnare,
And beauty draws us with a single hair.*

BOB STOUGARD—Library Staff, Chess Club, Sportsmen's Club.
*He was a determined bachelor, so we were lead to believe,
But some men are clever enough to deceive.*

TERRY LEE STOWELL—A Cappella, Glee Club.
His faults were such that we liked him all the better for them.

WANDA STRAND—A Cappella, Senior Band, Glee Club, Senior Orchestra, Western Washington Solo Contest, Drum Corps, Attendance Office, Waskowitz Counselor, String Quartet, Triple Tones, Western Washington Music Festival.
*A busier girl you couldn't find,
Or one with a heart half so kind.*

*Faithful is she in each task small;
Competent, steady, a friend to all.*

PHIL THOMAS—D.E.C.A. Club.
*In making models he had scarce a peer,
But he barely tolerated Will Shakespeare.*

VELMA THOMAS—
*How gentle her voice, how quiet the days
Of this little senior of unobtrusive ways.*

CAROL THOMPSON—Debate, SPADES, Panorama, Publicity Club, Triple H, Yell and Song Club, "All-Pirates' Revue."
A dancing Cinderella whose midnight never came.

DONNA THOMPSON—Debate, Make-Up Club, Ticketeers, Ushers, Torch.

*Donna was swell, as all of us know,
And her friendship for you, she'd not hesitate to show.*

LESTER THOMPSON—D.E.C.A.

*Les could be seen on his way to work,
Commanding the road with his solid gold Merc.*

YVONNE THOMPSON—Re-entered from Boga Ciega Senior High School, St. Petersburg, Florida, in her senior year. Glee Club, Ticketeers, CASH Club.

*Peaceful and gentle she goes her way,
Being a good Samaritan every day.*

BUD THORNE—SPADES, Sportsmen's Club, Track, Publicity Club.
For he's a jolly good fellow.

BOB THORNTON—Baseball, Football, Big H, Boys' Club Cabinet, Knights of the Cutlass, Stage Crew, Sportsmen's Club.

*He was a shy hunk of man in many phases;
But on the gridiron, tougher than blazes.*

DONAVON THUERK—

"The main trouble with the straight and narrow," said he, "is that there is no place to park."

FRANKLIN THURNAU—

*He got along fine with a fishing line,
Yet when it came to assignments he never had time.*

JAMES TIBBETTS—

*Jim loved the pungent smell of wood,
And worked in the lumber yard when he could.*

JOE TILLER—Chess Club.

*To join the army and travel far—
This he wanted—likewise a car.*

BURT TOOKE—Sportsmen's Club.

William Tell would shoot the apple, but Burt would rather cook it.

PAT TOPPING—Glee Club, Panorama.

*Reading she liked and movies, too,
In the classroom her comments were few.*

CURT TORFIN—

A cheerful laugh, a pleasant word for all.

HAROLD TRAUT—D.E.C.A.

I like work; it fascinates me. I can sit and look at it for hours.

TONI TREOSTI—Attendance Office, Drill Team, Girls' Club Cabinet.

*A petite little miss who got her fun,
From horseback riding and jobs well done.*

JERRY TRISLER—Basketball, Big H, Football, Track.

*He met the opposition, they hit the ground;
A finer tackle will ne'er be found.*

JUDY UTLEY—Ushers, Panorama, Waskowitz Counselor.

*A flirtatious miss who, in passing by,
Was sure to catch a gentleman's eye.*

JACK VAN VLECK—

*"All work, no play", the saying goes,
Combine the two and then who knows.*

BARBARA VAUGHN—H.G.A.A.

*When she at last from school is free,
She'll return to the lake and water ski.*

PAT VAUGHN—Tennis, Ticketeers.

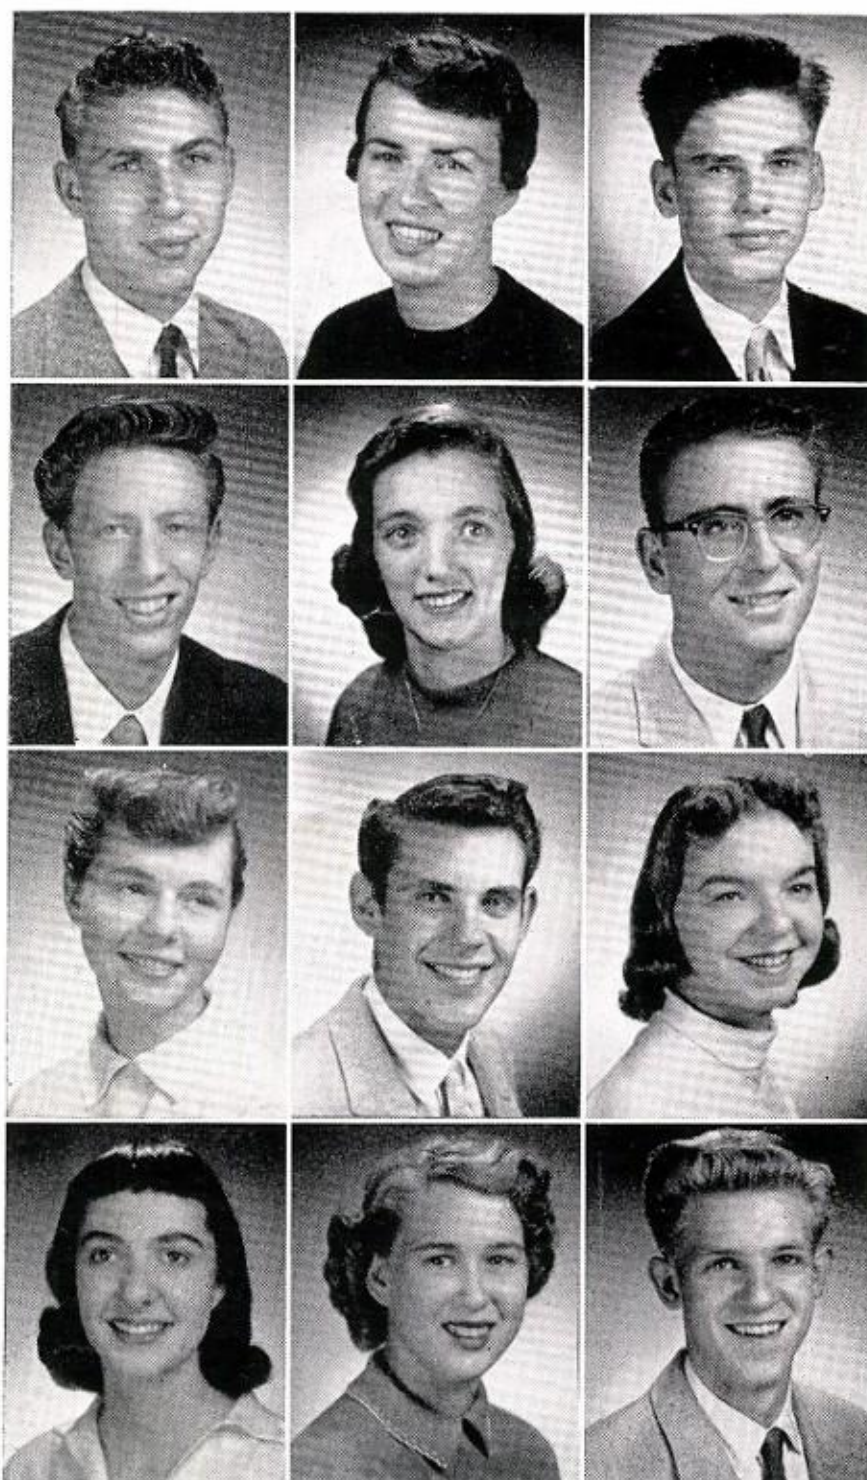

*Tall, dark, and dignified at times,
As up the ladder to success she climbs.*

JENNIE VEENHUIZEN—Glee Club, Ushers, Ticketeers, Yell and Song Club, Drill Team.

*Sunbeams danced in her fair hair,
This Norwegian lass without a care.*

JIM VEENHUIZEN—Pep Club, Student Court.

If he had madness, there was method in it.

VIRGINIA VOIT—Book Club, SPADES.
Culinary arts appealed to this lass,
Who made life pleasant in many a class.

DAVID WALKER—
A draftsman he'll be in future days,
This pleasant lad with friendly ways.

JAMES WALKER—Boys' Club Secretary, Junior Class Treasurer,
Sportsmen's Club, Pep Club, Publicity Club, Representative Assembly,
Track, "All-Pirates' Revue," Traffic Court, Movie Operators, Torch.
He ever let his fancy roam,
For pleasure never was at home.

DENNIS WALTERS—Band, Honor Roll, "All-Pirates' Revue."
His motto: "Politeness costs nothing, and gains everything."

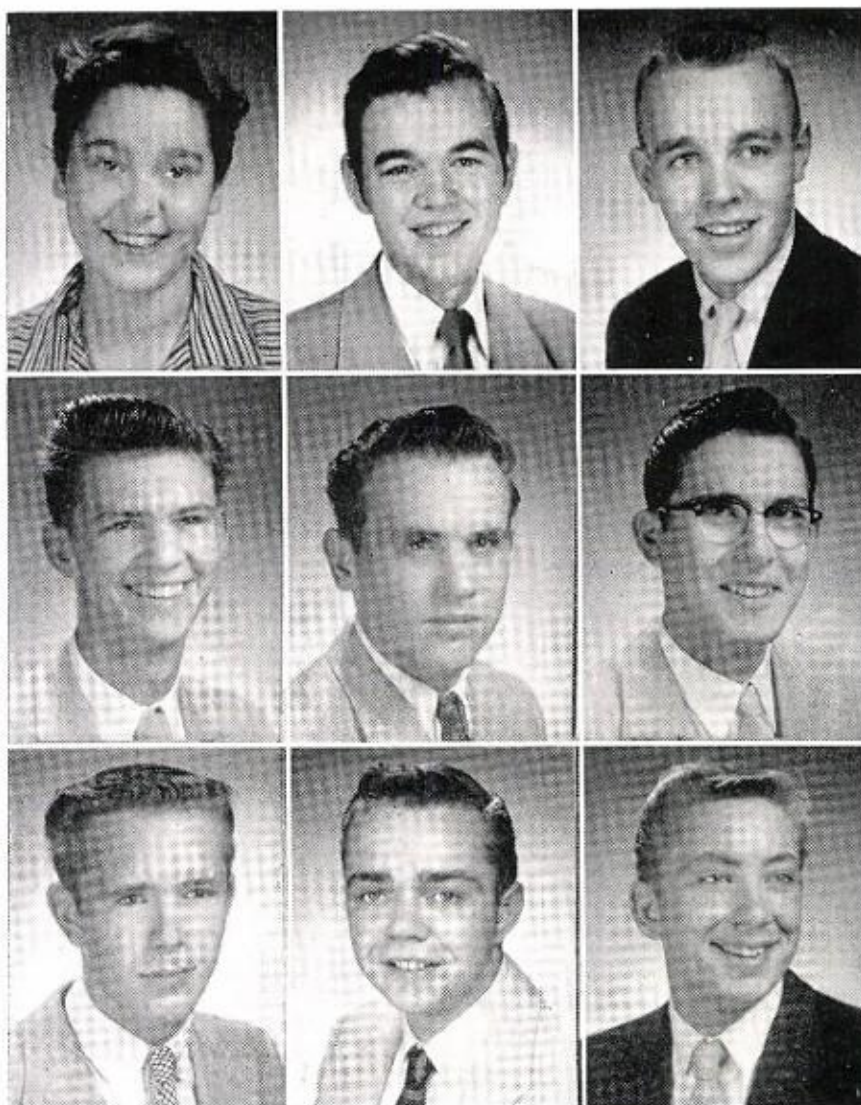

BOB WARD—Track.
Stuffy classrooms with ceilings and floors,
Were not for this man who loved the outdoors.

WARREN WARD—Sportsmen's Club, Track.
His interests have now made one thing clear,
He's headed for an Air Force career.

MICKEY WARFIELD—Senior Band.
When it came to cars, he was the best of tinkers;
When it came to books, he tinkered still.

JOHN WARREN—Football.
A sports car enthusiast, with one of his own,
Permitted this lad enough room to roam.

GEORGE WATKINS—Entered from Edison High School, Stockton,
California, in his junior year.
I've met a few people who liked hard work; unfortunately all of them happened to be my teachers.

JACK WATNEY—Senior Band, Senior Orchestra, Panorama, Torch,
Track, Pep Band, "All-Pirates' Revue," "Pirates' Log" Staff.
His circumlocutions were most profound,
For he searched for wisdom, going 'round and 'round.

SHEILA WATTLES —
Gentleness is the evening star of her soul, as happiness is its sun.

LARRY WEBB—Quill and Scroll, Representative Assembly, Football,
"High Lines" Staff, Knights of the Cutlass, Torch, Track.
When it came to editing, he was "A" number one;
When he covered the sports, it was surely well done.

JERRY WEBSTER—
With his mechanical mind he'll carry the load,
Though his path may wind to a wide open road.

MARY ANN WEBSTER—Senior Orchestra, Triple H, Ticketeers,
Vendors, Junior Red Cross, Percussion Ensemble.
One of the sweetest blossoms in our garden of memories.

JUDY WEDLUND—School Bankers, Glee Club, Make-Up Club, Triple
H, Ticketeers, "All-Pirates' Revue," Yell and Song Club.
Don't confuse her with facts—Her mind is made up.

SALLY WEEKS—Science Club, Torch.
Smiles and cheer are down her alley,
Friends galore belong to Sally.

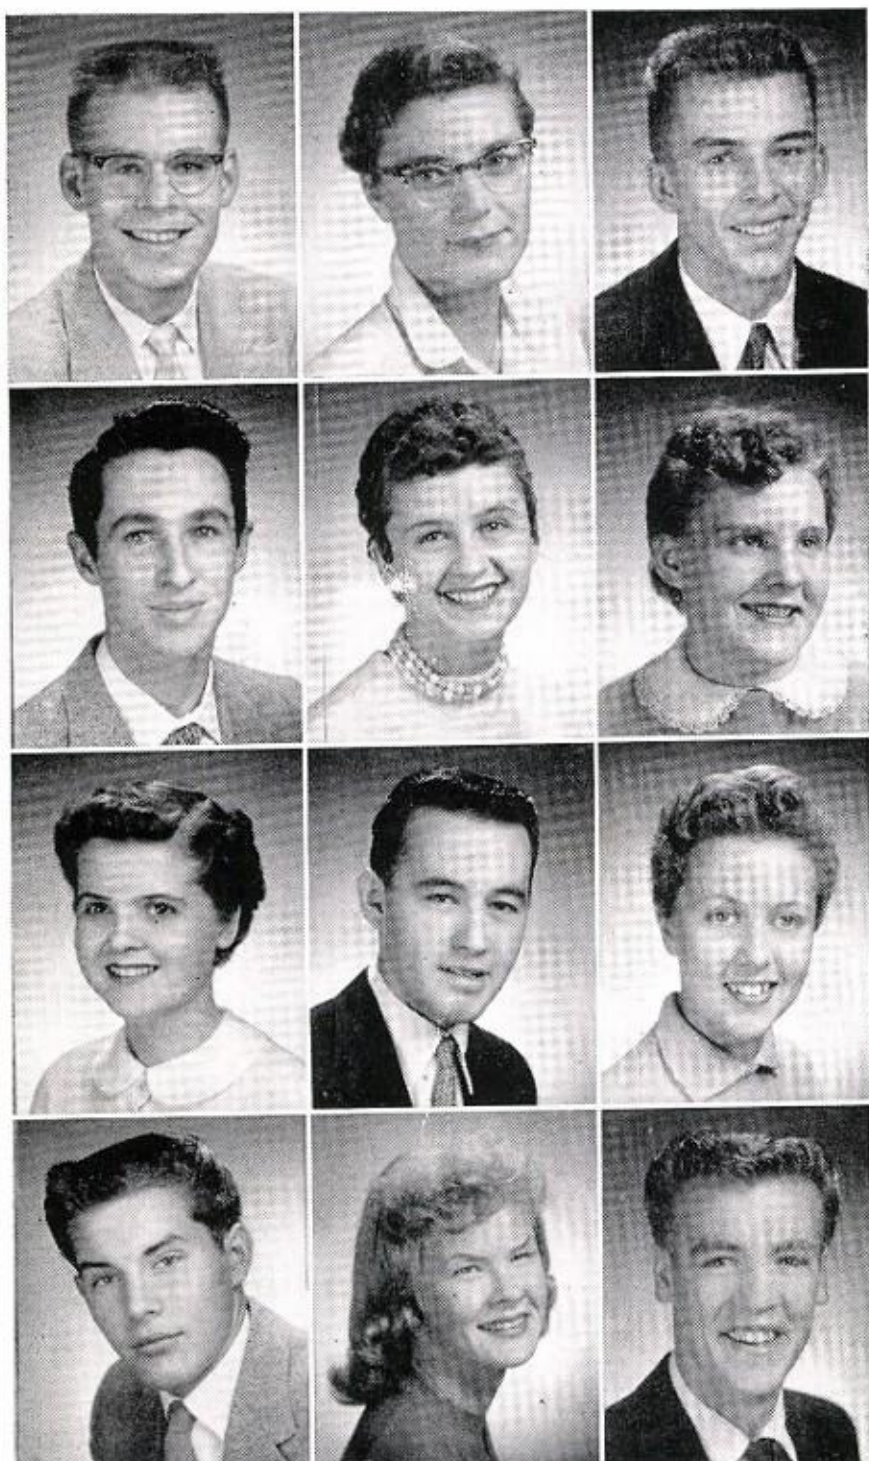

DAVID WEIR—
Pictures he'll take, develop and sell,
A photographer like him will do quite well.

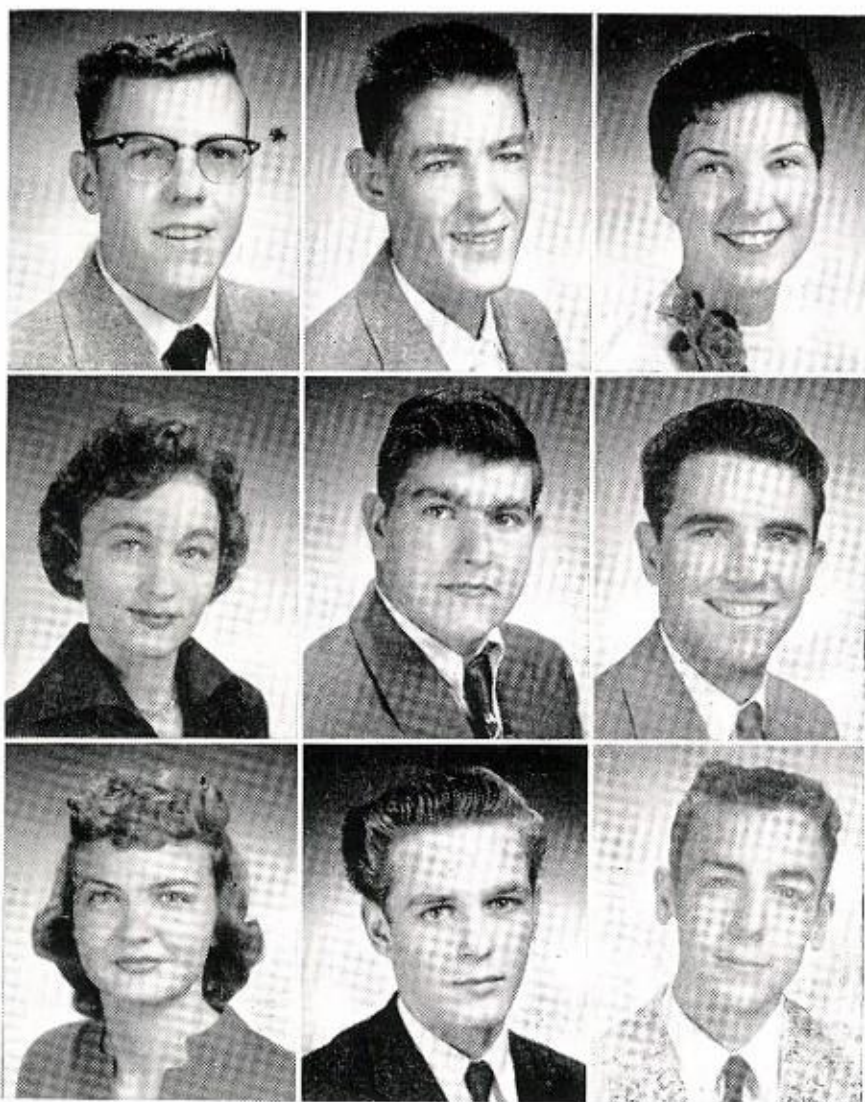

KAREN WELLS—
Perfection, as her goal, shall always rule her future.

CLIFF WESCOTT—
A youth to fortune and to fame unknown;
But he was never seen alone.

LOUISE WESTERLUND—
I have made a great discovery—
What I love belongs to me.

FRED WESTHOLM—Football, Big H.
He was the joker in the Pirates' deck.

SUZANNE WILLARD—Yell and Song Club, Pep Club, Publicity Club, Junior Homecoming Princess, Prom Committee.
*Thou art fairer than the evening air,
Clad in the beauty of a thousand stars.*

JO ANN WILLIE—A Cappella, Girls' Playday, Glee Club, H.G.A.A., Panorama, SPADES, Ticketeers, Venders, "All-Pirates' Revue."
There was grace and rhythm in her step, for in music she was adept.

ELIZABETH WILLIAMS—Book Room, School Bankers, Panorama, Ticketeers.
*Cameos and Liz seem to create the same type of atmosphere—
One of peace and serenity and old-world charm.*

ALBERT WILSON—Entered from Renton High School, Renton, Washington, in his senior year.
*In foreign lands he traveled far,
Then Highline was his homeward star.*

JIM WILSON—
*He took all curves at sixty-five
And still he managed to stay alive!*

HUGH WISEMAN—
*Oh, I am tired of brick and stone, the heart of me is sick,
For windy, green, unquiet sea, the realm of Moby Dick.*

JOHN WISEN—Swimming.
*A teasing merman, who, on land,
Will build his success with rule in hand.*

CHARLOTTE WOESSNER—Triple H, Ticketeers, Venders, D.E.C.A.
*When school is over how happy she'll be,
For homemaking appealed to her, you see.*

ERNEST WOESSNER—Football, Knights of the Cutlass.
*Down the field with the ball he would race,
But never a curl would slip out of place.*

GARY WOLDSTAD — Baseball, Basketball, Big H Club President, Football.
His stepping stones to fame were the yard markers on the gridiron.

JANICE WOLFE—
*Though crocheting and bookkeeping she did boast,
Giving oral reports was disliked the most.*

JO ANNE WOLFE—Honor Roll.
*Though quiet she seemed to you and me,
With eyes to the future a beautician she'll be.*

ROLLY WESTON—Honor Roll, Track, Gift Committee, HUB Committee.

*Mechanical gadgets pleased this lad,
But he wanted only the best to be had.*

DONALD WHITE—Entered from Roseburg High School, Roseburg, Oregon, in his junior year. Basketball.

*To be an engineer is his aim;
It may bring him money, it may bring him fame.*

JOAN WHITEMAN—

*I do not have the gift of tongues;
My eyes speak to you.*

JULIE WICKRE—

Earth has not anything more fair to show.

MIKE WIEDEL—

He has no scorn of common things.

HAROLD WIELAND—Baseball, Football, D.E.C.A.

*So tall, so dark, with curly hair,
In Air Force blue—so debonair.*

JUNE WIGHT—

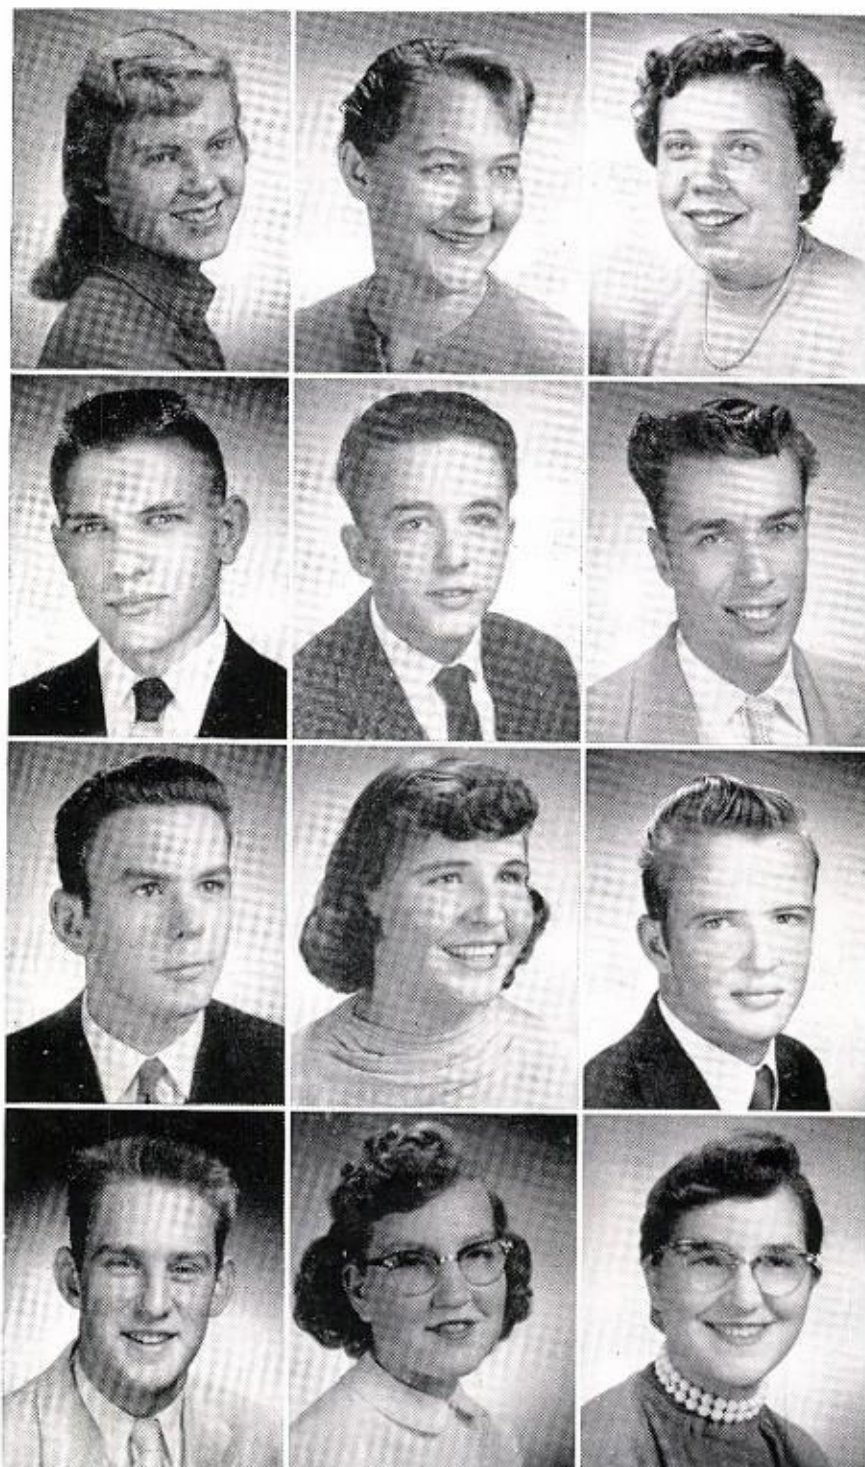

There's nothing so rare as a day with June.

KENNETH WILCOX—Entered from Camas High School, Camas, Washington, in his junior year.

*Here was a life guard with so genial a face
That all little girls gladly entered the race.*

BOB WILKIN—

*This smiling man has fun galore,
And when school is out, he has even more.*

ELLEN WOODARD—Make-Up Club, Panorama, Ticketeers, Torch, Attendance Office, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Nurse's Aid.
The colors that Titian used were caught in her lovely hair.

GLYNNE WOODRUFF—Camera Club, "High Lines" Staff, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Track, Movie Operators.
*On the shore of the wide world I stand alone and think,
 'Til love and fame to nothingness do sink.*

JAMES WOOTAN—Track.
*Pictures of mountains, scenes of the sea,
 Will be future creations of this artist-to-be.*

HERMAN WYANDT—
He who hath lived quietly, hath lived well.

TIM WYNDHAM—Entered from Lakeside High School, Seattle, Washington, in his junior year. Baseball, Basketball, Football, "High Lines" Staff, Sportsmen's Club.
*Many a yard of skin he peeled
 Fighting on the football field.*

DIANA YANSEN—SPADES Secretary, Debate, Girls' Club Cabinet, Grand Honor Roll, Make-Up Club, Publicity Club, Ticketeers, Torch, "All-Pirates' Revue," Yell and Song Club, CASH Club, Girl of the Month, Waskowitz Counselor, Pep Club, Representative Assembly.
Pretty as a picture in a golden frame.

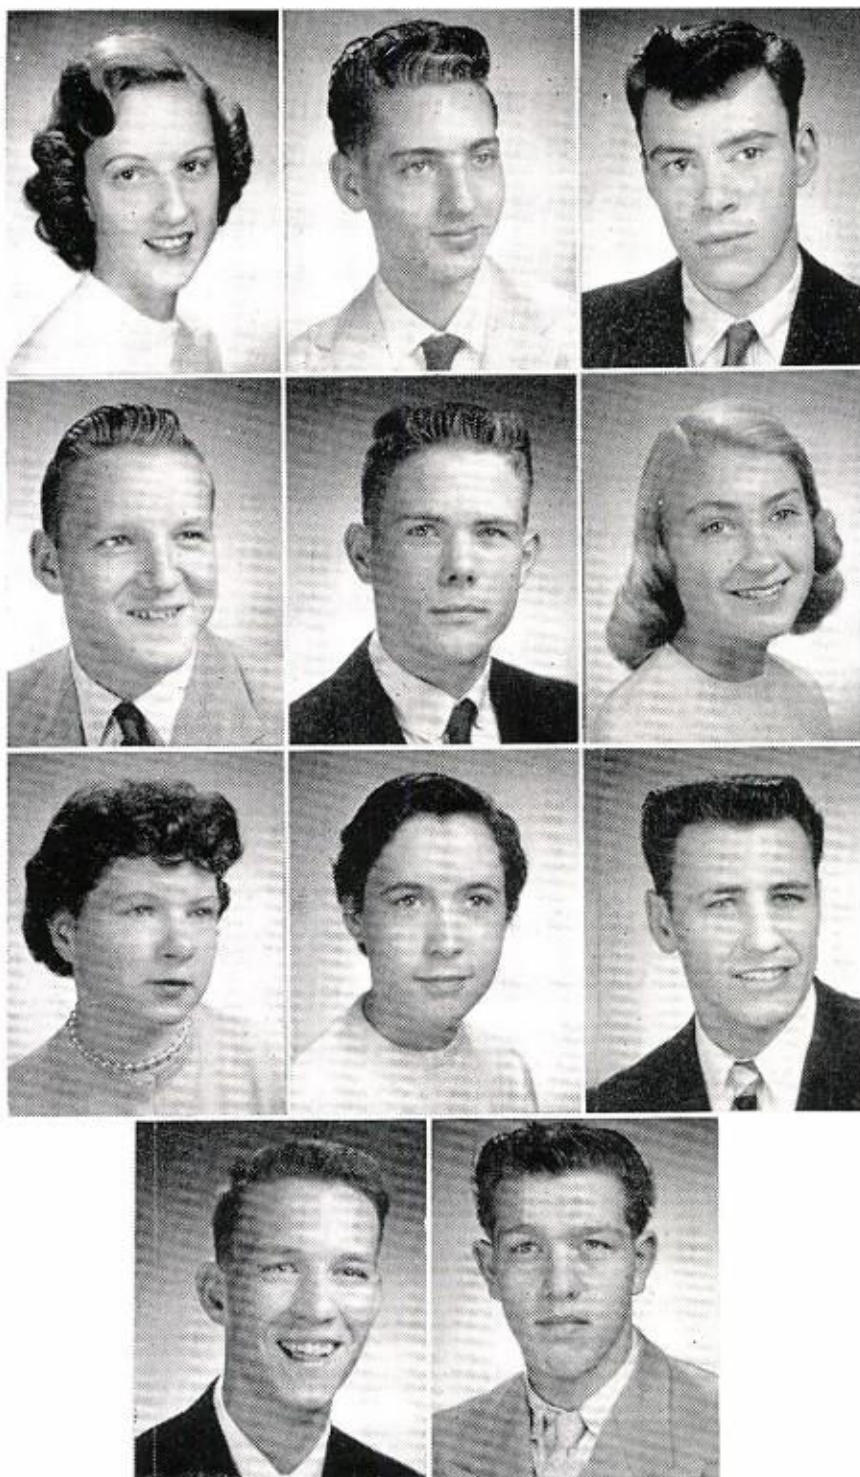

PATRICIA YATES—Entered from Holy Trinity High School, Hartington, Nebraska, in her senior year. Glee Club, Junior-Senior Prom Committee, Operetta "Pinafore", Pep Club, Plays.
Never a sweeter seraph hid within so small a house.

ROBERTA YILEK—
She does the little kindnesses which most leave undone.

LEROY YOUNG—Baseball, Big H, Football, Knights of the Cutlass, Publicity, Track.
A leader of men, a follower of women.

JOE ZIEBARTH—
*Always a ladies' man was he;
 But somehow he managed to stay free.*

TERRY ZITKOVICH—Entered from Olympia High School, Olympia, Washington, in his senior year. Baseball, Football, A Cappella.
*He could punt and carry the ball,
 Or flirt with the girls while standing in the hall.*

ENTERED AT MID-YEAR

KIRK ANDERSON—Entered from Kent-Meridian High School, Kent, Washington, in his senior year.
*Many a classmate did aspire
 To match his impeccable manners and attire.*

JUDY BURKETTE—Entered from Yakima High School, Yakima, Washington, in her senior year.
*This girl with the captivating smile and eyes
 Is also learned and very wise.*

LARRY BUTTERFIELD—Entered from Centralia High School, Centralia, Washington, in his senior year.
*His favorite fiesta
 Was a classroom siesta.*

LUCILLE CARVETH—Re-entered Highline High School after a year's absence.
*From work she doesn't run or hide,
 And only when done is she satisfied.*

CAROL CHRISTOPHERSON—Re-entered from Farmington High School, Farmington, Washington, in her senior year.
*Carol was a traveler with progressive plans
 Who brought with her the flavor of exotic lands.*

DONNA HIXSON—Re-entered from Tolt High School, Carnation, Washington, in her senior year.
*Her every movement was a pantomime
 Of grace sublime.*

DON NIST—Entered from Seattle Prep, Seattle, Washington, in his senior year.
*Prep was fine, but after all
 It takes some girls to have a "ball."*

GRADUATED AT MID-YEAR

VIRGINIA THORNTON—SPADES, Torch, "All-Pirates' Revue," CASH Club.
She forsook the halls of Highline for a career in homemaking.

Sailing On

“AS WE HAVE CLIMBED, so shall we succeed.” Five hundred and forty seniors chose this motto as the symbol of their lives as they completed the twelve giant steps of primary and secondary education and as a symbol of the challenge of the future. With this theme in mind, the four commencement speakers—Priscilla Carrier, Nancy Carson, Nova Jones and David Monuszko—spoke about the events of the past in relation to the future: the hopes, the fears and the challenges of tomorrow.

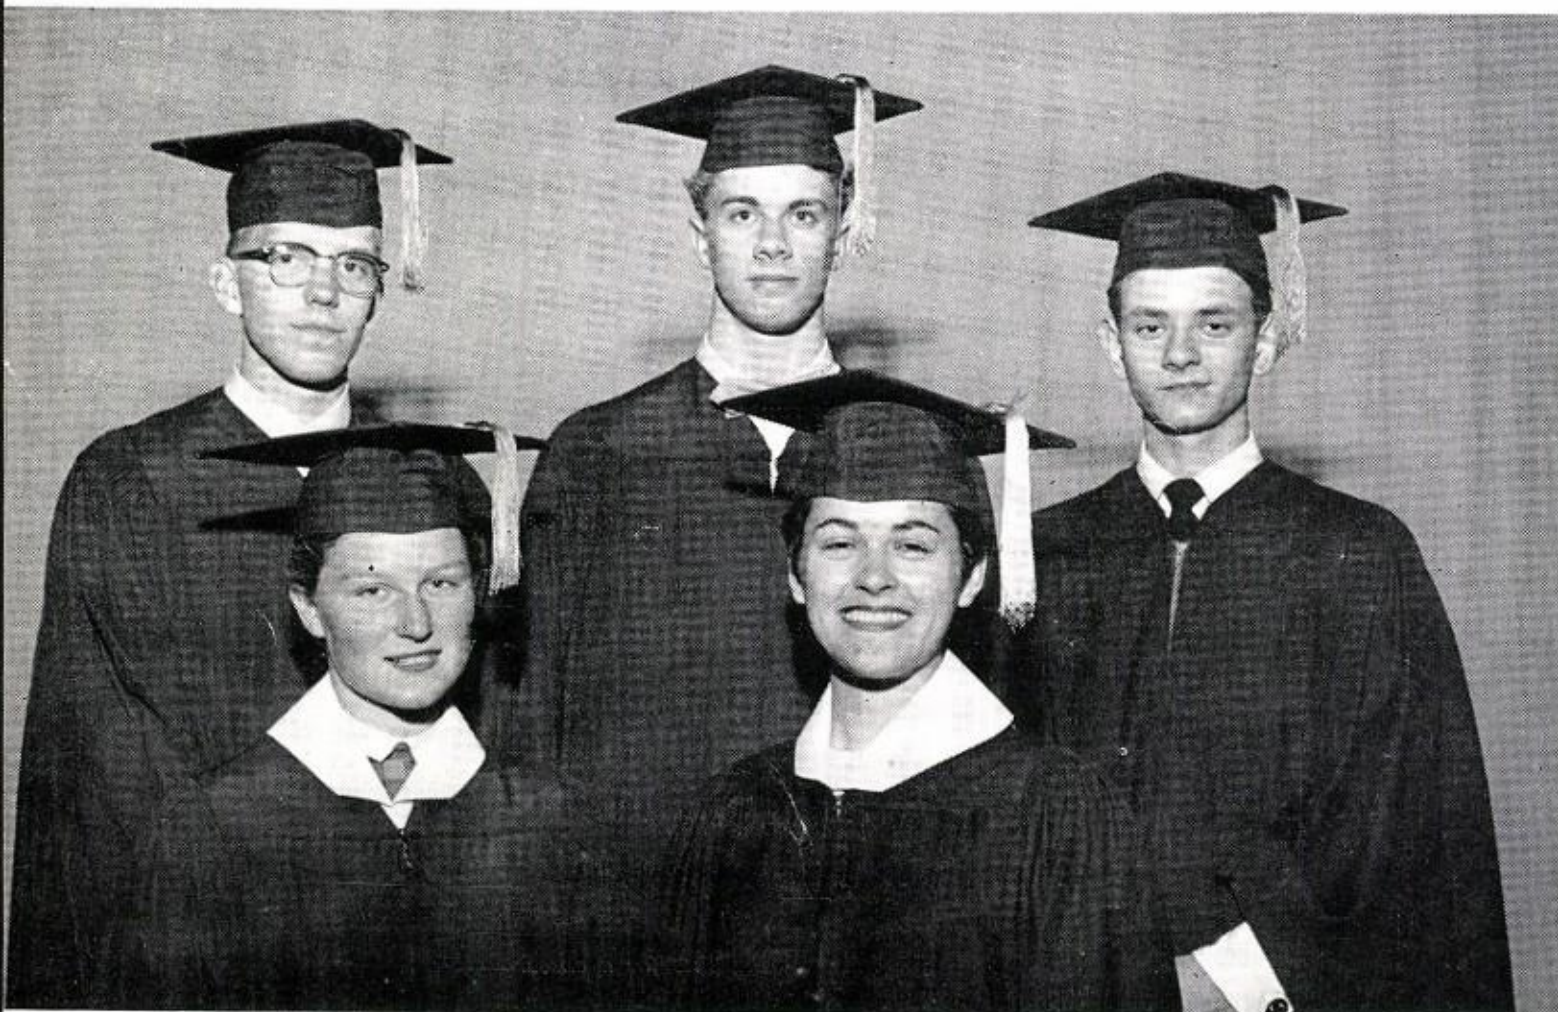

Commencement week opened with the seniors gathering in the auditorium on June 2 to receive an inspirational address by the Reverend Gordon Rasmussen, in which he reviewed the past and gave a glimpse into the future. Miss Margaret Rydholm, faculty adviser, and a capable committee helped Chairman Sharon Dunn to make the 1957 baccalaureate one to be remembered.

The commencement committee, under the chairmanship of Bill Pike and guided by Mrs. Justine Richards, of the faculty, worked diligently to prepare a memorable program. Several talented seniors added to its success with their carefully prepared musical selections. Thus with “Pomp and Circumstance,” commencement night came and went.

Preceding the commencement exercises came the twenty-second annual Class Day, sponsored by The High Lines. After the traditional rap of the Class Day gavel and the salutatory welcome came the always amusing reading of the class history, prophecy, poll, and will. As the identity of the prettiest, the nicest, and the most bashful senior was revealed, the members of the Class of '57 realized with more than a touch of nostalgia that good comrades of a twelve-year journey were about to part.

And so Class Day of 1957 came to an end, as the familiar strains of “The Halls of Highline” and “Sailing On” filled the hearts of everyone.

*Sailing On! Sailing On! O'er the sea of life,
Sailing On! Sailing On! Beginning worldly strife
Some go east, some go west, each his task to do,
But we'll meet again to greet
Highline friends so true.
Sailing On! Sailing On! We'll love you to the last.
Love you to the last.*

CLASS SPEAKERS •
Back: Nova Jones; Paul Boynton, salutatorian; David Monuszko, valedictorian. Front: Nancy Carson, Priscilla Carrier.

Apprentice Seamen

ACTIVE PARTICIPATION by all juniors in school affairs was the goal of this year's enthusiastic Junior Class. Led by President "Bo" Sprague, Vice-President Marion Knighton, Secretary Larry "Doc" Strege, and Treasurer Jane Oishi, the group did outstanding work in the Christmas Toy Drive, Hallowe'en Clean-up, and the canned food drive.

To assist the many projects in which the class participated, four new committees were organized during the year in order to coordinate junior activities. The dance committee was headed by Barbara Angle; Class Day, Tom Ing; Assembly Committee, Terry McCarthy; and Baccalaureate, Nancy Poesnecker. Approximately fifty students worked on each committee.

Many honors were bestowed on these seamen during the voyage. Chosen as Junior Homecoming princess was Carol Stensland, who represented the class in the Homecoming queen's court at this gala affair. The class was also well represented on the yell and song staffs; Charlene and Arlene Marrone, Mary Howard, and substitute, Diane Thomas, were elected to the varsity staffs, while Sue Atkinson, Anne Gruger, Carol Stensland, Judy Solschied, Barbara Benson and Joan Domonoske served on the second staff. Many other juniors distinguished themselves in varied ways: Girls' Club chose Sue Larson as November's Girl of the Month; Tom Ing, Jerry Reiss, Elaine Mosier, Margretta Wesson and Melvin Blake excelled in forensics; Pete Armentrout and Dean Straley served on the traffic safety council; and Evelyn Yates and Barbara Angle served as competent student body business managers.

To climax an eventful year, "Bo" Sprague, Barbara Angle, Bill Carmichael and Jane Oishi organized a "spring clean-up," to beautify the campus. Armed with clippers, shovels, brooms, and rakes some fifty energetic students worked diligently one week-end with thoughts in mind of making this the first step toward betterment of their senior year.

Cabin Boys

JOINING up with the Pirate crew, as seaman recruits, the Sophomore Class captured many a prize to stow in its hold. To lead them on their gallant excursions the class elected Steve Barlow, president; Rich Heino, vice-president; Margie Conrad, secretary; Betty Schultz, treasurer. Mr. Neil McKay, counselor, and Mr. O'Brien, adviser, kept these young "Bucs" on their course. Representing the girls, Judy McBride served on the Girls' Club cabinet, and helped in uniting the classes. In connection with this, Dixie Schepper was chosen January Girl of the Month for her outstanding work in school activities.

A gallant lot was this young crew as they forged on to attain many high honors. During the year they claimed the longest Grand Honor Roll list and boasted two varsity letter winners in football. The "B" squad basketball team was filled with sophomores who had a successful season. Again in the sports field, Terry Hildebrand won many medals in gymnastic competition and at the A.A.U. gymnastic championships. Baseball and track kept many of these "Bucs" working as they strived to ready themselves for team competition.

When committees and clubs began to form there was no lack of spirit and enthusiasm in the Class of '59. Nancy Smallwood and Lynn Oswald were elected to serve on Student Court and Student Traffic Council claimed Alice Temple, Janet McEachern, and Joe Wisen. To boost the amount of gold in their chest of winnings, the class sponsored several dances throughout the year. One of the main projects of the year was a spring clean-up in which both the juniors and sophomores worked together and swept through the building from top to bottom. Chosen to work on the ship's log were Marise Picou and Pat Monuszko, sophomore editors; and Sharon Smith, art editor. Journalism claimed several sophomores to work on the High Lines, while debate heralded Dave Bennett, who took first place in the "Youth Looks to the Future" oratory contest. The final goal of the year was the committee formed for class day.

Mermaids at Pilot Wheel

DONNING their blue jeans and sailor hats with mops and pails in hand, the Girls' Club cabinet spent an energetic summer swabbing down the decks of Highline. They touched up the Girls' Club room and re-decorated and painted the "powder room" in a luscious pink. Wide and full length mirrors were placed on all sides, while the pert, candy striped curtains echoed the matching striped wall. The first day of school marked the grand opening of this project.

The months that followed were active for the Girls' Club. The Friendship Tea, the Hallowe'en party, the Girls' Club Conference, the assemblies,—all were successful undertakings. The purchase of new mirrors and furniture brought the cry, "Pieces of Eight," "Pieces of Eight," from the Girls' Club. Fund-raising projects were dances, lost and found sales, and shoe shines.

The Christmas season was filled with holiday spirit, including a party for the Ruth School girls, a middy decoration contest and the annual Boys' and Girls' Club food drive. The girls were victorious in the clothing drive, filling thirty-two parcels to the boys' two. The theme, "Moonlight and Roses," lent a sentimental atmosphere to the White Clothes Day Tolo and was beautifully carried throughout.

In the award class, two junior girls were chosen to attend Girls' state. The club also started a one-hundred dollar scholarship in memory of Miss Minnie Emry for a deserving senior girl.

Climaxing the year was the Mother-Daughter Hour, when the officers and cabinet for nineteen fifty-eight were installed against the colorful Carousel background.

Mermen Meet Challenge

THIS was the year of accomplishment. Despite female sabotage, threats and accusations, the swabbies, proving their salt, won nationwide fame in Colliers magazine on behalf of their Traffic Court, which pioneered in this field of student government. Local citizens did not overlook their achievements either. The boys were featured on television, and the Washington P.T.A. Congress invited a representative from the court to its session to explain their program.

Along the traffic safety theme the swabbies conducted a pre-Hallowe'en clean-up, aimed at blind spots and damaged or camouflaged road signs. To aid further in traffic safety, two car checks were held during the year under the guidance of the Washington State Patrol.

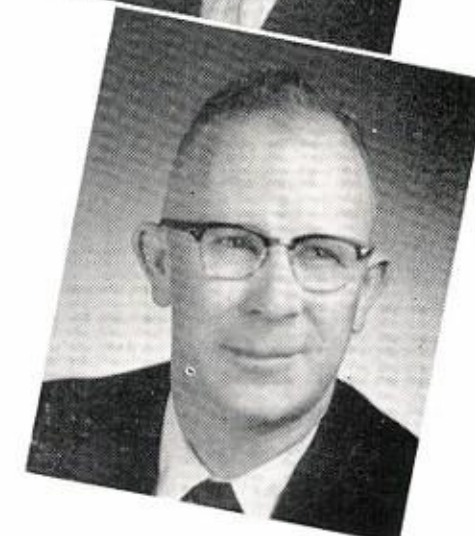

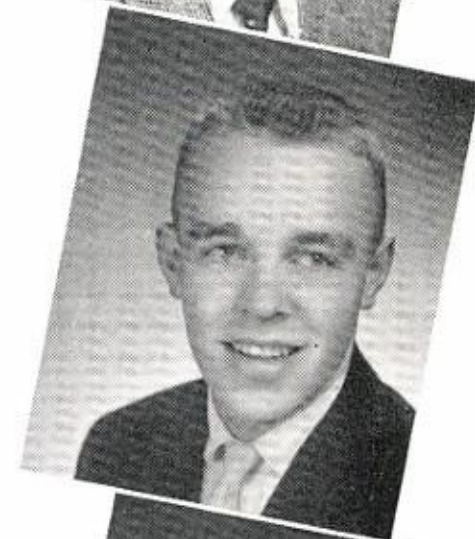

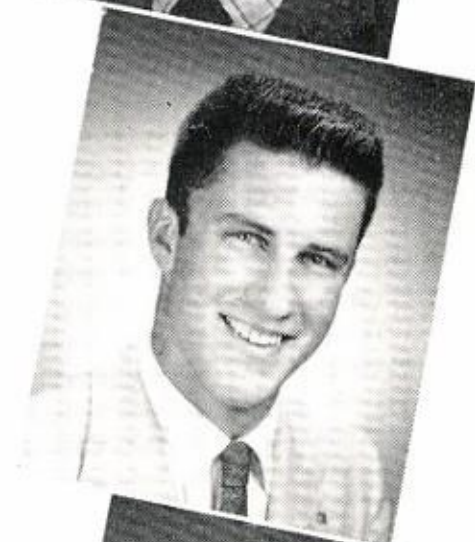

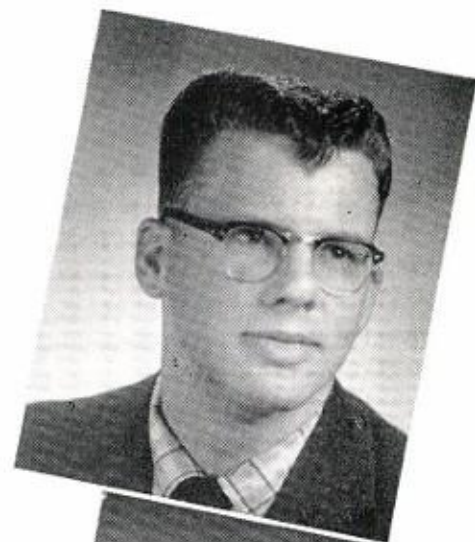

When it came to contests the hearties left the girls with empty sails. Their first cache came as a result of the pre-season sale of football tickets. When a call for money was made by the Red Cross the boys got there the "firstest with the mostest." The midshipmen lost the middies off their backs in the clothes drive, but food proved to be the opposition's weakness. Saving their C-rations they brought home the bacon for a clear cut victory.

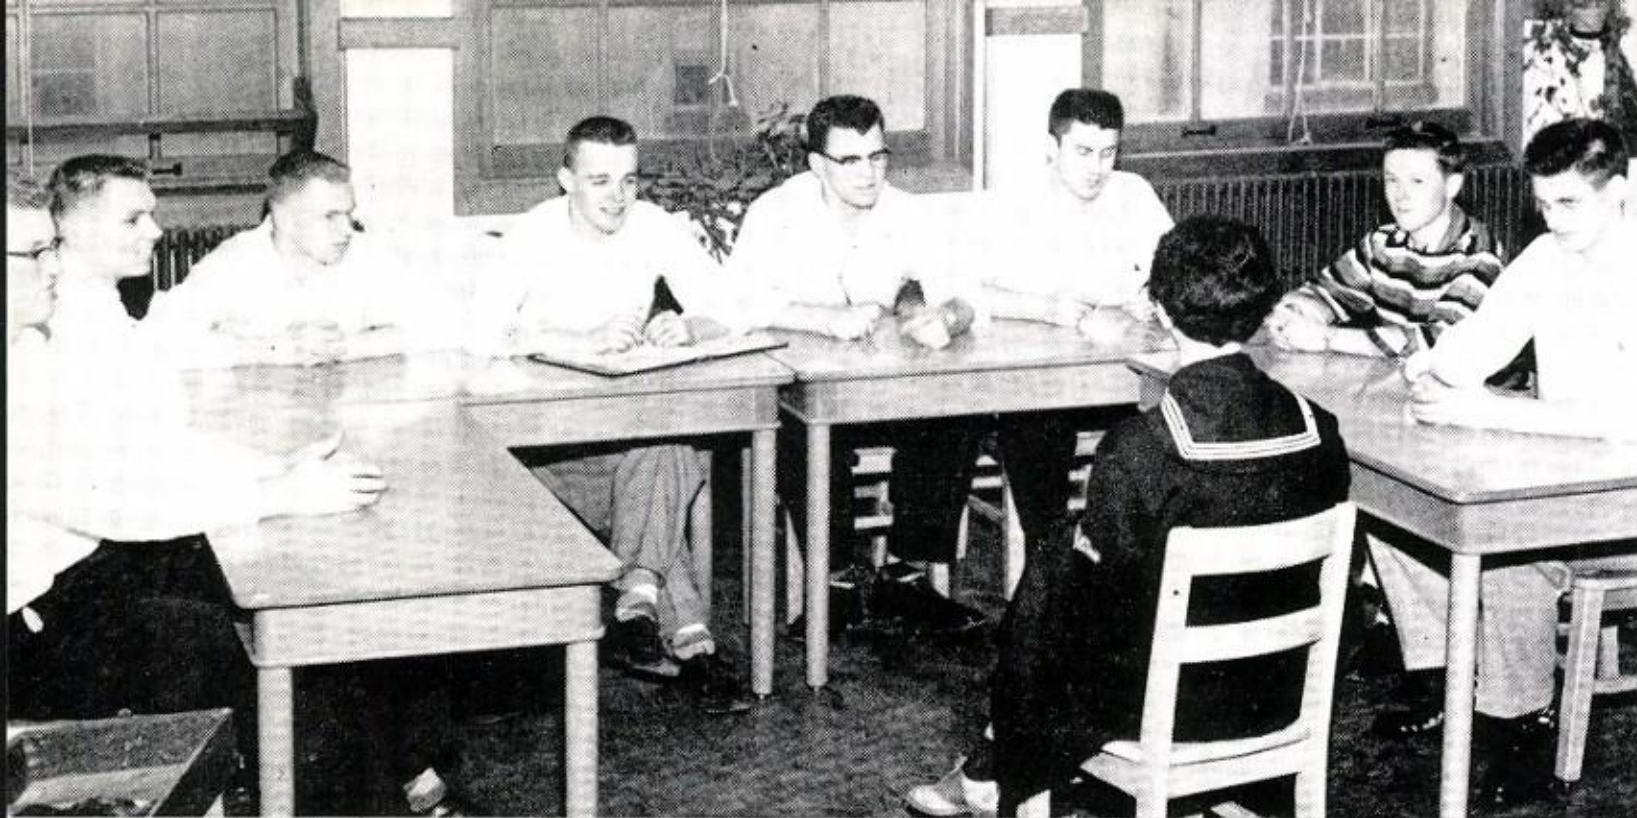

Assemblies were subjected to feminine piracy. The boys' perpetual plan for having their spectacular "Big Fat Earth" on the stage of the auditorium usually ended up on the floor of the gym. Undaunted, they entertained themselves with the stellar performances of gymnasts or exhibitions of superiority which the seniors displayed to underclassmen on the casaba court.

All in all, the salty dogs proved the old adage that "All that glitters is seaweed!"

SAFETY ON THE HIGH SEAS

PROMOTING SAFE DRIVING and the proper attitude toward laws and law enforcement agencies was the purpose of Boys' Club Traffic Court. With the help of Mr. Peter Hallgrimson, faculty adviser, and Officer Dick Darby, Washington State Patrol representative, the court set a new record in lowering the number of traffic violations.

If the violator had no objections to being tried by the students, both sides of the case were heard. If found guilty, the violator was assigned a certain number of hours work in the bus garage or on campus clean-up. Occasionally a violator with a bad record had his license suspended. In addition, all offenders were required to attend the Seattle Police Department Accident Prevention School.

Publicity for the court was obtained when Colliers magazine published an article on court activities, after which many groups from all parts of the country wrote asking for information.

TRAFFIC SAFETY COUNCIL

THROUGHOUT the duration of the school year, the traffic safety council has been occupied with promotion and coordination of many "safety centered" activities. Many of these have included the "Teen-age Rodeo," fire exit banners, and the planning of several mock fire drills. The highlights of the council's year were conducting the Hallowe'en Clean-up in the fall, and participation in a teenage Traffic Conference, followed by a Safety Week in the spring.

These varied responsibilities fell on the shoulders of Mr. Lowell Wiggins, adviser, Peter Armentrout and Ted Mihalisin, the enterprising chairman and co-chairman respectively.

MERCY SEASONS JUSTICE

STUDENT COURT is an organization which strives for better understanding of students as individuals. The court deals with violators of school regulations and works for better citizenship attitudes among the students.

Senior judges Diane Gunsul, Linda Erickson, Nova Jones, and Vic Keithley presided in turn over the weekly court sessions. The Junior Class was represented by Linda Keene, Margretta Wesson, John Culton, and Tom Hill. Sophomores Sallie Bereiter, Nancy Smallwood, Lynn Oswald and Philip Rude complete the jury. Sue Kesler served as court recorder and Mr. Chester Read as faculty adviser.

Students and faculty find that this method of disciplining school law violators is as effective as leaving it up to the administration.

CARETAKERS OF THE PIRATES' DEN

"UNDER THE SEA" was the theme of the newly opened Highline Union Building. Fish nets, marine life, and buoys adorned the recreation center, making it a place of which all students were justly proud. Soft chairs, booths, a juke-box, apple machines, and a food counter all contributed to make it a popular place.

Activity in the HUB was supervised by a group of ten students. Rules were posted on a bulletin board together with a calendar of events. There was a suggestion box to collect complaints and compliments concerning the HUB from the entire student body, making it a place truly of the students, by the students, and for the students.

All the Brothers Were Valiant

"CAPTAINS COURAGEOUS" for the '57 Pirate crew were the ever faithful Knights of the Cutlass. Remaining steadfast, despite pleas to go "just a little way," the Knights kept traffic flowing smoothly in the one-way halls, and were on their posts from the first day of school to make sure "land-lubber" sophomores observed rules and arrived at their correct classrooms.

Under the experienced guidance of Mr. Lowell Mason, faculty adviser, the twenty-four senior boys met daily fifth period to discuss problems and make assignments for various school functions. Carrying out the executive duties of the group were officers Bob Thornton, skipper; Tom Bean, first mate; and John Pinto, scribe; who were elected in the fall. Glimpses of a golden-sweatered Knight patrolling at football games was sufficient to restrain the enthusiasm of the more boisterous rooters who might have gotten out of hand. Assemblies and basketball games also found the Knights on duty, as did the spring track meets. The school rewarded the boys by sponsoring a trip to the State Class A Basketball Tournament at the University of Washington.

As the year drew to a close, the Knights turned their attention to organizing the nucleus of next year's group. Candidates petitioned for membership and then were privately interviewed. Finally, twelve junior boys were chosen to carry on the traditions of Highline's outstanding service group.

THROUGH EDUCATION WE LIGHT THE WAY. With this as their motto, the 1957 SPADES surpassed the Seattle schools in membership and forged ahead with four parties at the Lakewood School for the Handicapped. They also participated in the television marathon for Muscular Dystrophy, an Easter "pal party," and a field trip to Rainier State School. The Highline chapter set another precedent when the Kiwanis-sponsored summer camp opened last August. For the first time in the camp's twelve year history there were four representatives from the same school assisting as counselors. These were Judy Adams, Dale Johnson, Judy Kinsman, and Judy Morrill.

Guiding the active organization this year were Judy Adams, president; Patte Elrod, vice president; and Diana Yansen, secretary. Mr. Robert Johnsen served his first year as faculty co-ordinator and Mrs. Dorsey Prater completed her fourth year as Kiwanis sponsor. A further honor came to Judy Adams who was elected president of the All-City Council.

When the Breakers Roar

STIMULATING AND MAINTAINING school spirit through the sale of shakers, hats and pins was the task undertaken by Yell and Song Club. The success of these sales could be measured at basketball and football games where purple and gold flourished in abundance. The snappy appearance of the rooting section was further enhanced by the wearing of white clothing, which was the direct result of the club's slogan, "Wear white on game night."

Within the club itself, a point system was developed this year by which those members who earned a certain number of points received a rooter's pin. In December, the club sponsored a dance, "Angel Sonata."

With adviser, Mr. Al Rossi; president, Ruth Ann Morey; vice-president, Joey Julson; and secretary-treasurer, Diane Newsham, Yell and Song Club completed a year of which they may truly be proud.

Lots of Action Back Stage

THIS LIVELY CREW of hard-working flunkies deserves a big hand for the part that they played in turning out the year's productions. Under the direction of Mr. Donald Simpson, the stage crew was ever at the call of any organization that wished to put on an assembly, talent show, or play. Besides being present at the usual assemblies to solve any emergencies that might have arisen, the crew worked long and mightily on the Homecoming assembly, the Thanksgiving assembly, and the Christmas extravaganza.

A crew from Miss Shipley's drama class assisted during the school play. Jon Lomax and Mark Hackman had charge of sound effects; Ron Johnson was stage manager and handled the large stage props; Debra Marks, Marsha Winters and Deanna Turner took care of the small properties. Not a detail was overlooked by this ambitious group. When the curtain was pulled on the opening night, the finished product was a real tribute to the talent and hard work of these behind-the-scenes artists.

In the Spotlight

DESTINED to become stars? Drama Shoppe afforded forty-five members valuable experience in the field of dramatics this year. This club, the oldest at Highline, encouraged participation in dramatic activities and developed, through constructive criticism, potential drama stars.

Climaxing Drama Shoppe's efforts was the production of the all-school play, "Gramercy Ghost." Moreover, nine persons were also singled out because of their outstanding work for acceptance in National Thespians.

Words are feeble instruments measured against the success Drama Shoppe achieved at the University of Washington Speech Festival. Members of Drama Shoppe brought to Highline the plaque for interpretive reading the seventh consecutive time. In recognition of their outstanding record at the speech festival, the Washington State Speech Association honored Drama Shoppe members with a request for their participation in the Oral Interpretation Interest Meeting at Yakima.

Presiding over monthly meetings was President Nova Jones; assisting Nova were Sharone Shawstad, vice-president; Barbara Behm, secretary; and Jim Benedict, treasurer. Miss Dorothy Shipley was faculty adviser.

Pearls in the Pirate Chest

"OHS!" AND "AHS!" followed this year's Homecoming court down the aisle of the closely-packed auditorium. At the fore of the royal procession was Queen Peggy Roberson, escorted by Coach Alf Hemstad. This was, in effect, the second coronation for the regal miss who served as queen of the yell staff as well.

Next in the procession came Junior Princess Carol Stensland, followed by Loretta Palmasson Steiner, graduate princess. The soft look of happiness glowing on Loretta's face and the fresh blush of healthy youth blooming in the cheeks of the petite Princess Carol made this truly a set of beautifully matched pearls.

Power Behind the Sails

LAUNCHING the first big event of the year, Homecoming, Pep Club members again proved themselves undisputed Captains of the Seas. With the theme, "Drifting and Dreaming," the daring crew lured many a grad back to the mother ship where they dined on delicacies of the deep and were held captive by a program of aquarian artists. Reigning over the festivities, were Queen Peggy Robertson with her junior princess, Carol Stensland, and graduate princess, Loretta Palmasson Steiner. These royal mermaids inspired their Buccaneers to conquer the Kent-Meridian Royals at the football game that evening and from there took the victorious crew to a dance at the Spanish Castle, drawing a record crowd.

After Homecoming, Pep Club was kept busy boosting the basketball team to a league victory. The members also sponsored a car wash to raise funds for the senior cruise. At the helm of this year's Pep Club were Carol Austin, president; Sherry Platt, vice-president; Linda Erickson, secretary; and Vic Keithley, treasurer; with Mr. Hugh Emry steering a steady course as faculty adviser.

HOMECOMING COMMITTEE • Standing: Carol Austin, Nikki Miller, Vic Keithley, Sherry Platt, Noel Kane, Linda Erickson. Seated: Janet Leman, Judy Snowberger, Linnea Beffa, Kay Worrall, Judy Gibbons, Peggy Robertson, Priscilla Carrier, Georgia McVey.

Pieces of Eight

GOLD DOUBLOONS flowed into the ushers' treasure box during the noon movie weeks. Girls were stationed at the auditorium doors to collect the admission fee, which replenished the annual staff treasury. Ushering at the movies wasn't the only occupation for this active service club. Members were kept busy ushering at band concerts, plays, pep assemblies, games, and special programs. Their efforts were rewarded by Mr. Johnson in the form of a paid trip to the State Basketball Tournament at the Hec Edmundson Pavillion.

As an added incentive for participation, the point system was in practice. Through this, the girls with a high percentage of points earned through their work received Torch credit. The system also determined the head usher or president, who is their representative on Girls' Club Cabinet.

Leading the crew as head usher was Barbara Baxter. With Miss Lydia Palmer as faculty adviser the organization sailed through a successful year.

GALLEY GIRLS IN ACTION

CRIES of "Popcorn! Peanuts! Candy!" announced the presence of the hard-working Venders during football and basketball seasons. In addition to feeding the record-breaking crowds, the girls gained valuable selling experience and fostered good will between student and adult guests. Proceeds from the sales went toward the support of various P.T.A. projects. With the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Temple and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schepper of the P.T.A. and adviser, Mrs. Velma Mason, the needs of the hungry sports fans were admirably met.

WILLING MAIDS SERVE CREW

FUNCTIONING as a well organized unit under the advisorship of Mr. Lloyd Ashcraft, this year's Ticketeers succeeded in accomplishing their goal of service. During the football season they sold programs and tickets before and at the games as well as at various school activities, such as the All-School Play and the band concerts.

The club, composed entirely of sophomore girls, chose the following girls to direct their activities: Jan Nelson, president; Donna Wolfe, vice-president; Gail Porter, secretary; and Barbara Weir, recording secretary.

Bid Them Discourse

UNDER the able direction of Mrs. Richards, Highline forensic activities revolved around the question: Resolved, That the basic principles of the Brannan Plan be adopted.

Through the efforts of Tom Ing, Roger Doebke, and Dave Monuszko, Highline won the Pacific Lutheran Student Congress early in the season, and also won, with Sharon Oliver and Melvin Blake, the University of Washington Speech Festival. The Highline squad was largely made up of the teams of Tom Ing, Roger Doebke, who took two firsts; Judy Gibbons, Jerry Riess, who took a second; and Elaine Moshier, Wayne Balkenhol, who took a second. Jim Carter and Dave Monuszko reached the finals, and Dave took a second in Lincoln-Douglas debate and Extemporaneous Speaking.

Individual event winners were: Bryon Martin, first in Interview; Jerry Riess, second in Interview; Elaine Moshier, second in Extemp; John Oldfield, second in After Dinner Speaking; and Dick Hull, third in After Dinner Speaking. Doug Davis, Gretta Wesson, and Curt McPhail achieved the finals in their events. Other participants were Stan Sawyer, Patte Elrod, Diana Giles, Donna Thompson, Larry Ehle, Linda Justice, Nancy Pocsnecker, Anne Gruger, and Carol Stensland in Extemporaneous Speaking, Interpretive Reading, Oratory, and Impromptu Speaking.

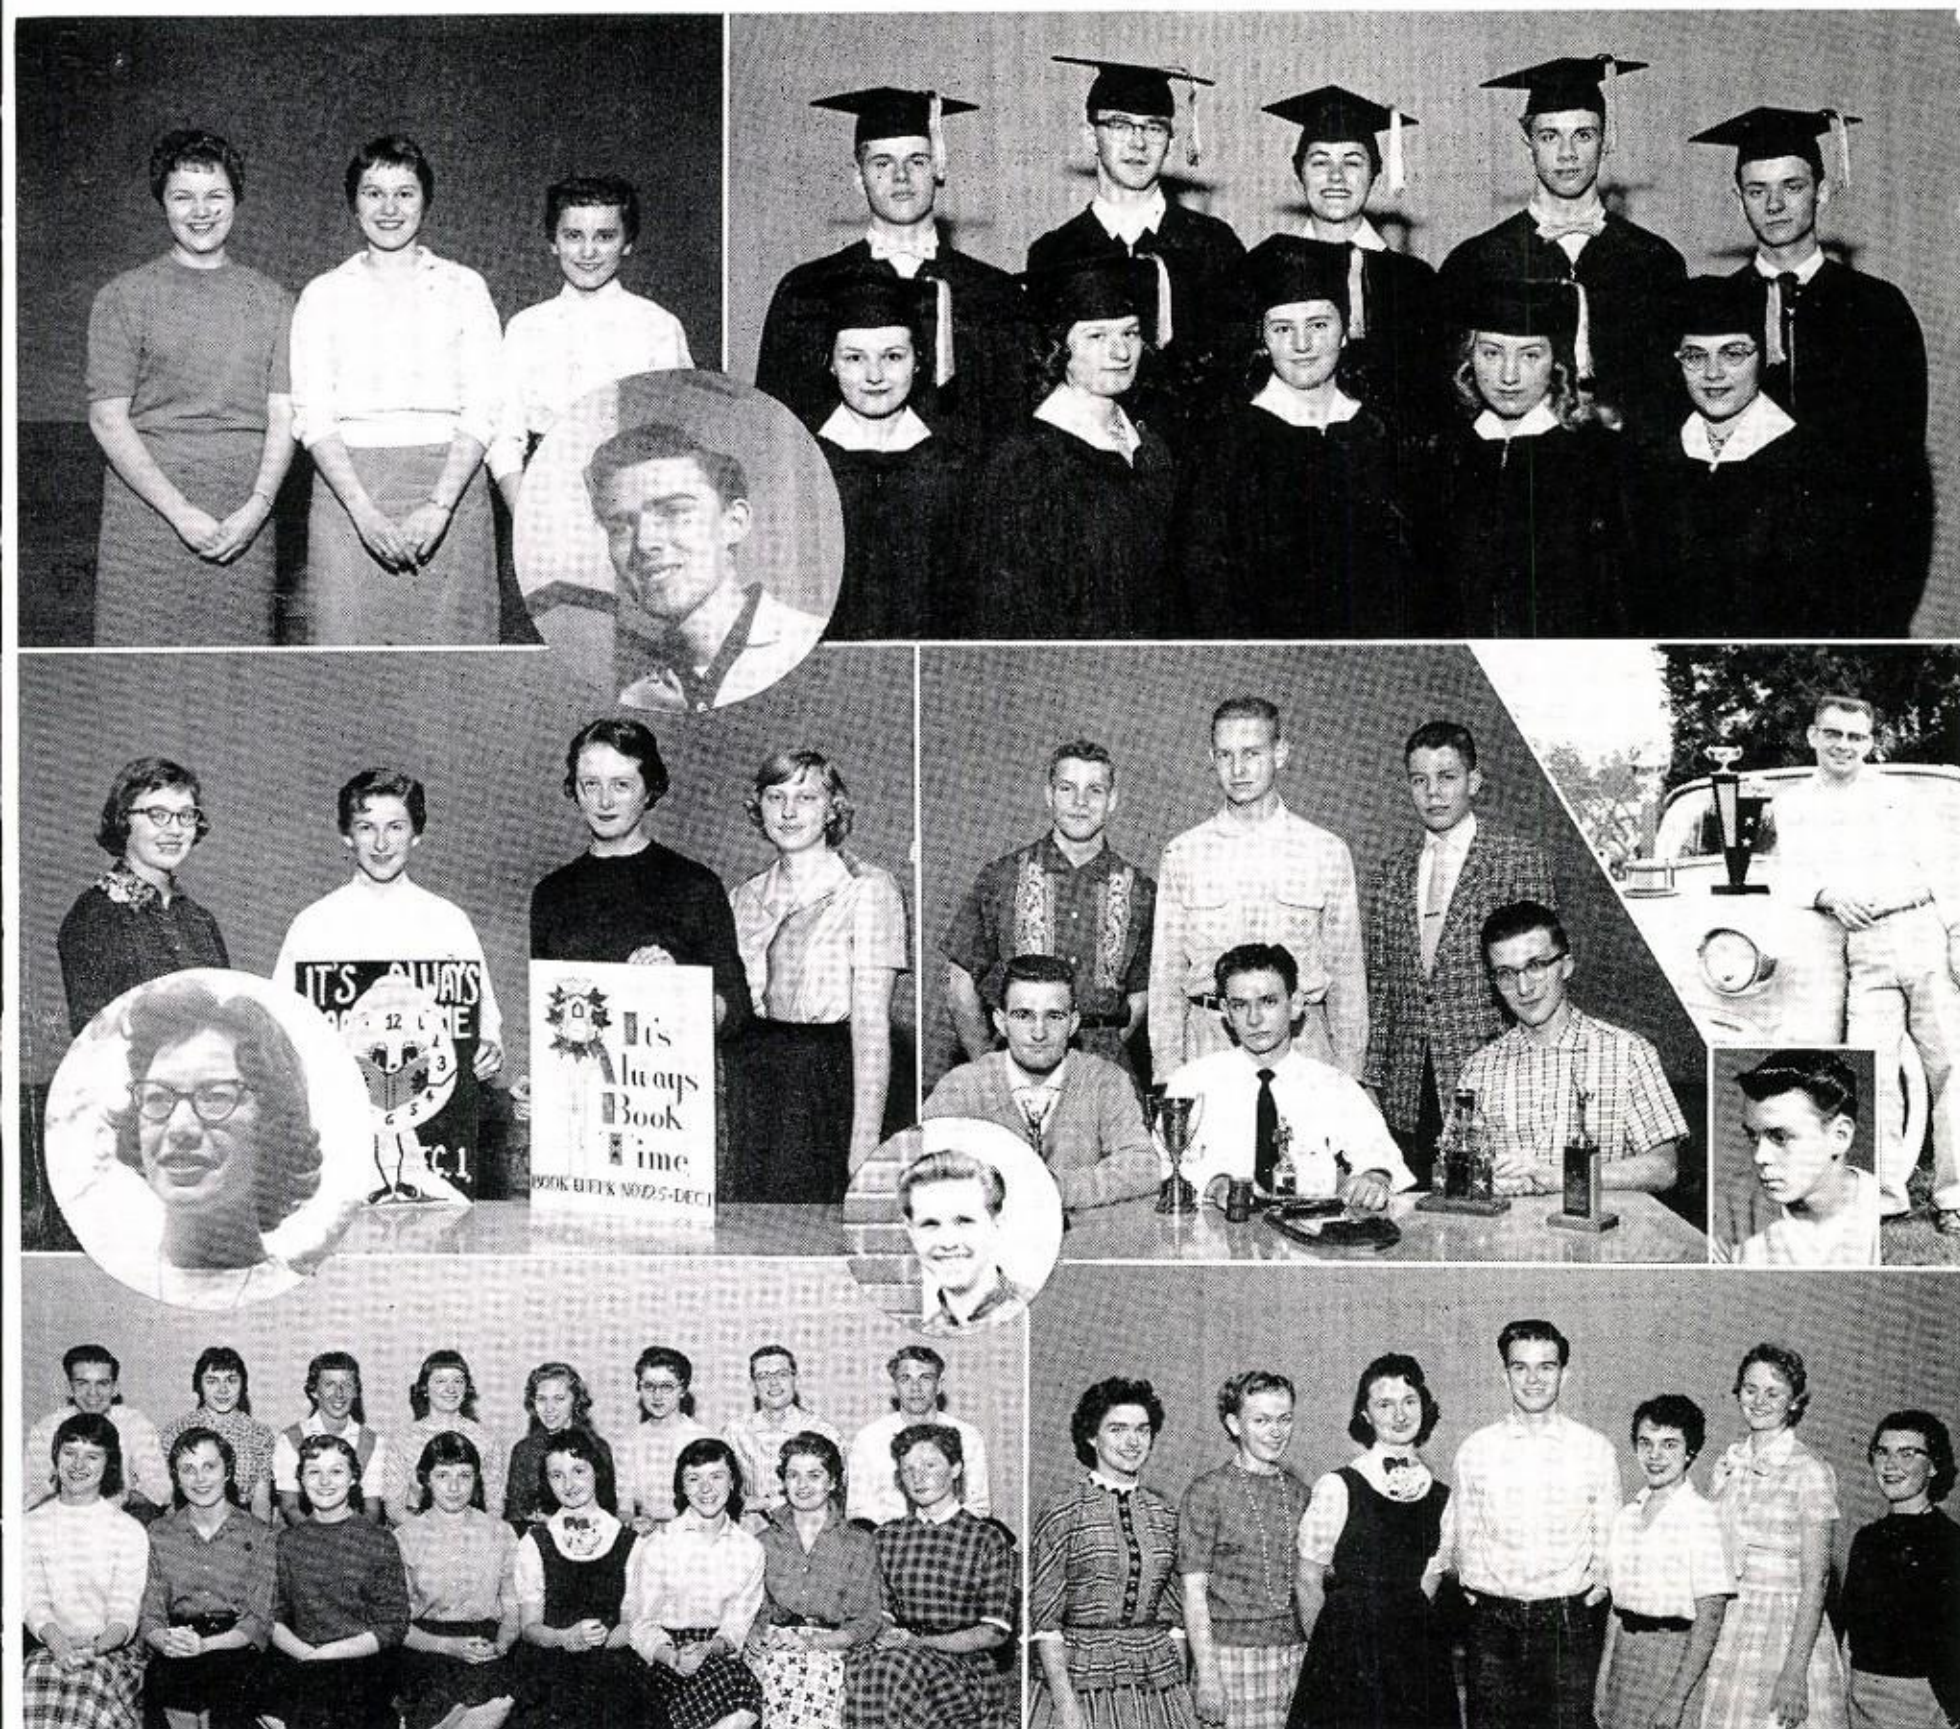

At the N.F.L. Student Congress held at Highline, Dave Monuszko became a candidate for nomination to the National Congress and received the congress gavel for best chairman; and Jerry Riess won the Outstanding Congressman Silver Medal.

At the final session in Bellevue, Dick Hull was awarded the Outstanding Congressman Gold Medal.

PAWN PUSHERS

CCHECKMATE! Castle! Stalemate! Once again this year the Chess Club took up residence in room 254. Playing before school, at noon, after school, and whenever they had a spare minute, the club was very active this year. The team, with a schedule of three matches, was undefeated. They pinned back the ears of Kent-Meridian twice and beat a team of adults from Boeing once. Coached by Mr. Alf Hemstad, the team roster read: Stan Sawyer, Dale Bjornson, Chris Calligan, Gale Hake, and Jim Munro. In the intramural competition the top five were: Stan Sawyer, Dale Bjornson, Chris Calligan, Chris Napjus and Dick Hiatt.

The "Chess Ladder," workbook of the club, costs 10 cents for membership with each boy challenging the one above him. Posted in the top four as the yearbook went to press were Jerry Hanson, Stan Sawyer, Chris Calligan, and Bob Burns.

SPORTSMEN, ALL

THE JUNIOR SPORTSMEN'S CLUB numbering thirty-three, under the leadership of Jim Gleason, president; George Holthe, vice-president; Patsy Harrell, secretary; and Mr. Malone, adviser; enjoyed an eventful project-filled year. During deer season last fall, the club sponsored the "Big Buck" contest in which nearly fifty boys took part. The prize, a check for thirty dollars, was won by Jim Wooding. In December, members of the club attended the shot gun clinic at the trap and skeet range in Edmonds, Washington. Pictures taken at the range by a Seattle Times photographer were later shown in the Seattle Times Sunday Pictorial.

This spring, fly-tying classes were taught by George Holthe, for the benefit of anyone interested in learning the art. On opening day of trout season, club members participated in the annual fishing derby, held by the King County Jr. Sportsmen's Council. Prizes were awarded for the heaviest catch, the heaviest fish, and the longest fish. This summer the club is sending a boy and girl to their respective sportsmen's camp.

BRINGING THE PIRATES into the news was the task of Publicity Club during the past year. Heading sixty strong members for the year was Jack Kalina. Sandi Clibborn served as vice-president. Linda Justice was given the job of keeping the records and roster up-to-date, along with the responsibility of handling finances as secretary-treasurer. Under the leadership of these officers and Mr. Larry Lemmel, adviser, Publicity Club staged several active campaigns designed to make the community well aware of High-line happenings.

Reorganization was put into effect this year, dividing the club into various committees. Heading the Poster and Art Work Committee were Judy Dougan and Marise Picou, sophomores. Its duty was to make posters or obtain them from the art classes for distribution throughout the district. The job of transmitting news of the activities to the newspapers was given to Kathie Mansfield and her committee. The sound car was under the co-direction of Sue Kesler and Jim Walker. Radio and TV publicity was used extensively for school sports and the all-school play. The pilots of this committee were Jack Kalina and Ted Mihalisin.

Learning Through Doing

FAR FROM THE SALTY AIR of the sea and its treasures lies another chest to be remembered. Nestled on the edge of the South Fork of the Snoqualmie River in the Cascades, Camp Waskowitz was the scene of many never-to-be-forgotten experiences.

Each week for six weeks in the fall and then again in the spring, student leaders, selected on the basis of interest, leadership, ability, and grades, scrambled out to the bus garage loaded down with a several days' supply of everything to await the beginning of the great adventure. All too soon, three busses, filled to overflowing with sixth-graders, camping gear, and wondering teachers, would arrive on the scene.

A hike in search of a beaver dam, a trip through a saw mill, or a cook-out by the river were only some of the many activities that could be included in a typical day. The student counselors participated in these, as well as conducting recreation periods in the afternoon. Each counselor looked forward to the "free time" during which the teachers took their classes for a study session.

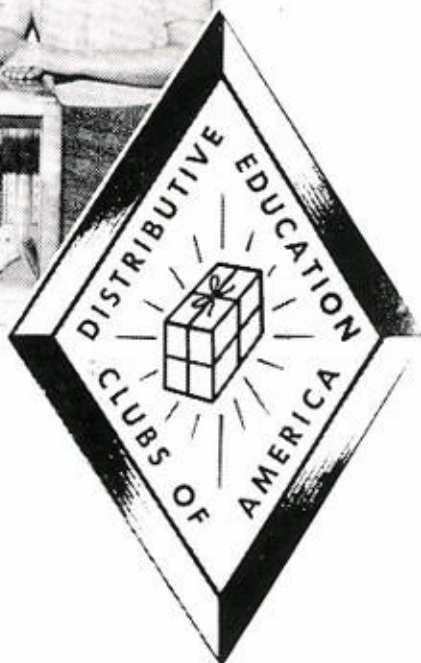

Giving teachers, student leaders, and youngsters alike a valuable lesson in living and working as a group, the Outdoor Education Program emphasized learning through doing.

D.E.C.A. OFFICERS • Lester Thompson, Harry Huf, Mike McQuade, Barbara Groner, John Warren, Phyllis Brandt, Stuart Johnson, Kaye Comstock.

FIRED by the energetic leading of a new co-ordinator from Colorado, Floyd Ashcraft, the Distributive Education Clubs were launched in September with a total of fifty members. As all good ships must have crews, the following officers were elected: Presidents, Kaye Comstock and Lester Thompson; Vice-presidents, Jerry Berg and Bob Furney; Secretaries, Phyllis Brandt and Harry Huf; Treasurers, Charles Adler and Mike McQuade; and Reporters, Mark Downs and Barbara Groner.

Gaining headway in October, the Good Ship D.E.C.A. sent the two presidents, Lester Thompson and Kaye Comstock, to the Governors' Convention in Olympia. During the month that followed, the club invited several businessmen and one college student to speak at club meetings on retailing as a career.

In March came one of the highlights of the D.E.C.A. year—the State Convention in Tacoma. Seven students from Highline were able to attend. They participated in various workshops and contests, and two merchandise manuals were entered in the statewide competition. Club No. 1 won an honor award, the first ever awarded to a Highline D.E.C.A.

To conclude a successful year, the annual Student-Employers' Banquet was held at the Aero Club.

Gramercy Ghost...

GHOSTS at midnight on a dark Hallowe'en are frightening enough, but a ghost whose residence is in one's home is absolutely unnerving, as the heroine in "Gramercy Ghost," Nancy Willard, found. To Nancy's dismay, the words of her lawyer, Miss Ames, alias Nancy Carson, informing her of an inheritance which includes a ghost from the Revolutionary War, were correct.

To complicate matters, the ghost, skillfully created through Nova Jones' talents, could only be seen by Nancy, portrayed by Barbara Behm. Therefore her fiance, stuffy aristocrat Parker, enacted by Roger Doebke, believed she had become mentally unbalanced.

Charley Stewart, better known as Joel Woodman, a newspaper reporter, doing a story on Nancy and her ghost, became a comforter and companion through Nancy's trying days of reconciliation to a ghostly co-occupant. Parker was greatly perturbed by their amiable relationship.

Parker suffered a black eye from Officer Morrison, Jim Benedict, while resisting arrest for striking a policeman. In quick sequence Parker became involved in a second issue when he finally decided Nancy should go to a rest home; for at the time the rest home attendants arrived, Sheila Brown and Janet Ringdahl, circumstances inferred that Parker was the patient.

...a Land Lubber

By this time Nancy realized her love for Charley and lack of love for Parker, so broke her engagement with Parker. This action greatly pleased her companion, Margaret Collins, Sharon Oliver.

The ghost, Nathaniel Coombes, was forced to stay on earth only until a message lost in the Revolutionary War was delivered to a descendant of Riker. Parker was a descendant of Riker, so when Charley discovered the message and it was given to Parker, the doors of heaven were open to Nat and to his two ghost friends, Irv and Rocky, characterized by John Morrow and Bruce Townsden. In heaven Nat's sweetheart, Betty Warren waited. The curtain descended on the celebration of Nancy and Charley's engagement.

Miss Dorothy Shipley directed the play. Other faculty help was received from Miss Claudia Nichols, Mr. Larry Lemmel, Mr. Spencer Hungerford, Miss Lydia Palmer, and Mr. Donald Simpson.

NOW HEAR THIS

YO HO, YE MATIES! Sound out the call—the Pirates strike again. This call to action was a familiar one to every student during the sports season at Highline. Under the guidance of their Captain Putnam, the P.A. Crew broadcast the Pirate victories.

John Pinto and Nick Bennett, the senior members of this crew, capably worked with Larry Ehle and Jim Burton, of junior rank, to promote the installation of a new 70 watt R.C.A. amplifier, rewiring the speaker system and adding six new speakers in the gym. Maintenance and operation of all student body P.A. equipment, such as the office P.A. system, and handling the sound for assemblies, sporting events and other Pirate affairs afforded a busy schedule for these hardy seamen.

WHEN LEARNING WAS FUN

MEMBERS of Highline's projection crew were always on hand to operate the numerous projectors, record players, tape recorders, and other audio-visual aids that did so much to add variety and interest to the daily classroom routine. More than 5,000 such items, secured from many local and distant sources were enjoyed by the various classes.

Another of their jobs was to project the several noon movies that were shown from time to time during the year. The addition of a special new lens and a larger, wider screen made viewing the new Cinemascope movies much more pleasant.

Mr. Chester Read helped instruct the members in every phase of projection and repair. Each member was required to complete a project quarterly. With such valuable and useful training provided, some members have been able to find employment in this field in later life.

A MERMAIDS' WORLD

ASSISTING THE COUNSELORS in every way possible was the task of the CASH Club. Typing, filing, checking on absentees, acting as receptionists, running errands, arranging bulletin boards, keeping the offices neat and clean—these were only a few of the multitude of duties willingly assumed by these ambitious girls, whose only reward was being of service to someone else and a Torch credit.

The president and only officer of CASH Club was Sharon Hightower and Mrs. Loretta Steiner acted as faculty adviser until her departure in December.

ALMOST A MERMAIDS' WORLD

WHILE molding future citizens, the Future Teachers of America aimed toward more co-operative action and to provide exploratory pre-vocational assistance in the field of education. These essential guidances were put into practice through various activities, such as talking with well-known leaders in the Highline school district. The qualities which make up an efficient teacher were brought to the attention of the club members this year through guest speakers, films, group discussions, and field trips. Although this was only the second year that Highline has had a Future Teachers of America Club, the importance of a group of this type was reflected in the sincere desire displayed by many students to be leaders in the educational field.

Miss Hazel Chapman served as the inspiring faculty adviser. The responsibilities of leadership were entrusted in Leanne Korsgaard, president; Jean Backlund, vice-president; Dale Morris, secretary-treasurer.

Treasures Stored Here

WITH SERVICE TO STUDENTS and faculty their main purpose, the Library Club has indeed had a busy year. With Book Week came the many excellent displays and posters illustrating the values of reading. The annual Book Week poster contest winners this year were Pat Melick, Nancy Smallwood, Judy Munger, and Janet Ringdahl.

Highline was well represented again this year at the University of Washington Librarians' Conference. Expeditions to the King County Public Library headquarters in downtown Seattle and to the Seattle Art Museum provided afternoons of educational entertainment.

An ambitious activity undertaken this year was the Pirates' Pen, which came off the press in May and received an enthusiastic reception.

Painting a Sea of Faces

BUSY, busy was this year's Make-up Club in traveling to the Civic Ice Arena. Doing make-up for the Ice Capades in the fall kept the crew hustling with the rouge and eyebrow pencils for three consecutive days. Then, inspired by all of the fancy footwork, the group decided to try their hands—or should we say feet—at ice skating. Two ice-skating parties resulted, but the fanciest footwork they did was in striving to stay on their feet.

Under the tutelage of Miss Claudia Nichols, adviser, the club advanced from straight juvenile make-up to pirates for the homecoming assembly, witches for Hallowe'en, and finally ghosts for all-school play. Near the end of the year, this busy group concentrated on such character faces as Chinese, clowns, and even tried their clever young hands at putting on beards.

The members also enjoyed going to the Penthouse where they saw "Charley's Aunt." A theater party of this type has become an annual affair to enable the members to see, first hand, make-up other than their own.

This group was guided by Sheila Strauss, president; Mary Dena, vice-president; Priscilla Duncan, secretary; and Linda Lee, treasurer. The members agreed, in looking back, that the club enjoyed good sailing this year.

ON THE LOOKOUT

THIRTY GIRLS in Triple H, Highline Hall Hostesses, worked hard to earn not only the respect of their fellow-students but the extra dividend of a Torch credit. It was the job of the Triple H members to greet new students and visitors and help them in any way they could and to keep the halls in ship-shape order.

After the beginning of early spring, it was a common sight to see a roving Pirate shyly kneeling before a hall patrol girl, begging for a permit through the halls. Every student knew, of course, that this was a system established to help keep the halls clear and quiet during the class day, but it was rarely appreciated until the permit had been obtained.

RECORDERS FOR THE DAY

PURRING ALONG at a smooth pace, the eighteen girls making up the attendance office force were under the supervision of Mrs. Maxine LePenski, Mrs. Steiner's able replacement. By collecting absentee slips, posting names to the permanent record cards, and running the numerous errands necessary, the girls assisted in the most overwhelming task of keeping track of two thousand students.

In addition to these duties, the girls also assisted the counselor and Mr. Wiggins whenever needed. Acting as hostesses to new students was still another duty assumed by these willing students, for who knew the building as well as the girls who scrambled from room to room each period collecting absentee slips.

The experience gained from working in the office, all the girls agreed, was especially valuable to anyone planning a business career. They learned much about such simple office procedures as filing, answering the telephone, and acting as receptionists.

ON A GOODWILL CRUISE

"ACTIVITIES were plentiful" seems to sum up the Junior Red Cross program of this year. With a Pirate Chest under way last year, the group continued this project by collecting articles, boxing them and sending them to the Star of the Sea Orphanage and School in Inchon, Korea. At Christmas time the Junior Red Cross sponsored a toy drive and collected many toys which were given to the United States Marine Reserve to distribute to the needy in this area.

As is done each spring, the group organized the drive for Junior Red Cross membership. This year a contest was held between the boys and the girls. The former group won by seventy-nine cents. A grand total of $71.69 was collected.

NURSE'S MATES

EACH PERIOD of the day there were two nurse's aids standing by, ready for any emergency. They worked with Mrs. Jean Wolfson charting the various health records of the students and running errands. When polio shots and chest x-rays were given they were there as valuable assistants. These girls needed to have at least one year of first aid, and a course in home nursing was desirable. They were all either juniors or seniors. For their contribution to student welfare, the girls received one Torch credit a semester. Lyn Anderson was their representative on the Girls' Club Cabinet.

WORKING under Mrs. Alice LeMieux's enthusiastic supervision, Panorama scheduled an exciting year of events. To get things rolling at a fast pace, the board planned several social events including a costume masquerade and a backwards party. For a "schussing" good start for the ski season, the way was cleared to pack up to the Rustic Inn. Only one thing stood in the way—no snow. However, with the arrival of sufficient snow, a bus load of enthusiastic skiers journeyed to Snoqualmie Pass to participate in the ski school program for eight successive Saturdays. To highlight the ski season, Marilyn Johnson and Scott Eyler received the inspirational ski award. John Stackpole was given the Panorama ski trophy for his outstanding work in the club. The finale of events for the year was an annual cruise on the Night Witch, through the locks and out into the sound.

Running Lights Point the Way

THE LARGEST TORCH membership in the history of Highline also boasts the honor of being the first in Highline to be included under the program of National Honor Society for Secondary Schools. A maximum of five per-cent of the Sophomore Class, eight per-cent of the Junior Class, and ten per-cent of the graduating class may be chosen by the faculty council to be included under this separate distinction. The awards made to the graduating class were presented at commencement exercises and were based on the scholarship, character, leadership, and service demonstrated while attending Highline.

Mr. Trowbridge, the faculty adviser, recently stated, "It is a group that I think will contribute to our school and community more and more as time goes by. It already has made a worthwhile contribution to Highline."

The following are charter members of the Highline chapter of the National Honor Society under the National Association of Secondary School Principals of the National Education Association: Paul Boynton, Priscilla Carrier, Nancy Carson, Diane Vern Gunsul, Loretta Lloyd, Kathie Mansfield, Ted Mihalisin, David Monuszko, William Pike, Stanley Sawyer, Peggy Spraines, Diane Yansen.

Little Lights Along the Shore

KNOWING all the answers, carrying mounds of books, and spending evenings with chemistry, English, and history usually characterize a Torch member in the eyes of other students.

Few realize that students must also have activity points as well as a high scholastic standing to join this organization. Students must have "B" average with two extra-curricular activity points. It is an honor; consequently, it must be earned.

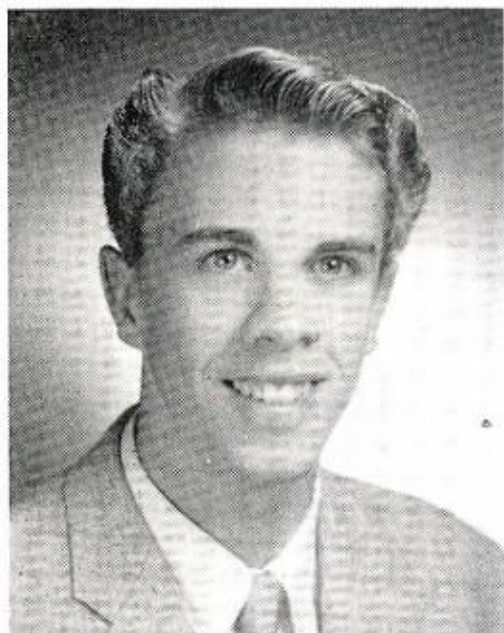

Sophomores claim the highest honors with one hundred and forty-one members. The Junior class followed with a seventy-six. At the bottom of this treasure chest can be found forty-one Seniors.

With officers Dean Straley, vice-president; Pete Armentrout, secretary; and Dorothy Labrum, treasurer, backing him, Ted Mihalisin, Torch Club president, pushed ahead for more activities. Solidly included in the Honor Society, Mr. Earl Trowbridge, adviser, wholeheartedly supported the foursome's decision for a more active organization. Specific committees were formed to carry out the new program. The constitution was revised under the leadership of Bryon Martin. Priscilla Carrier was in charge of assemblies, Judy Snowberger and Richard Inch were in charge of dances. The skating party and other activities were headed by Diana Yansen. A gift chosen by Bill Pike's committee was presented to the school.

IN CABIN 161 each day of the voyage were twenty-three loyal Pirates working together on their Log, busy taking pictures, cutting pictures, pasteing pictures—always with the fear that the ever-approaching deadline would close upon them unawares. Mrs. Birdie Davis, faculty adviser, helped her able-bodied seamen to solve the many problems which confronted them in preparing the Log for publication.

This year's editor, Paul Boynton, assisted by the associate editor, Lynn Sternberg, could often be seen huddled over a layout for the senior pictures with senior editors, Linda Erickson and Barbara Groner; while "Bobbie" Dethlefs, girl sports editor, would be mumbling over her H.G. A.A. write-up. Business manager, Diane Gunsul, was usually occupied by deciphering contracts or writing letters. Kay Worrall and Gretta Wesson, junior editors, would be busy trying to piece together bits of information about Junior Class officers. The clicking of the typewriters, ably manned by Mary Lou Wentz, Anne Gruger, and Ellen Woodard, added to the efficiency of the scene, disturbed only by photographer, Terry Clemmer, as he dashed in looking for flash bulbs. In another corner of the room, art editors, Judy Snowberger, Sharon Smith, and Marise Picou, advised by Mr. Donald Simpson, were busy designing and re-drawing the tiny illustrations on the Pirate theme that were used to develop continuity in this year's annual.

But all too soon, the year began to draw to a close. Sports' editors, Norm Eckert and Bill Pike, dashed off a last minute article; proofreaders, Bob Reynolds and Carol Austin, gave a final okay and the yearbook was off to the publisher! It was clear sailing again for the keepers of the Log!

"OH, KOKOALAPALA, journalism god, please honor us by letting all copy come in today, for the High Lines comes out tomorrow," begged the editor of the High Lines. This didn't happen only occasionally either. Nancy Carson, editor-in-chief, was often seen running down the hall on a Friday morning hysterically screaming, "We've lost some copy; ten heads are missing!" That was only one of the problems facing the harassed staff. Another was the joy of discovering there was no news for the first page, so Kathie Mansfield and Judy Adams ran a contest to make their own news. Larry Webb, sports editor, was able to cover sports events this year, even with the girls hovering around. Peg Sprains, girl sports editor, played the "Old Philosopher" for the staff and told the boy reporters what to do. Kathy Everham, the only editor for second page, found time to fulfill her job each issue, splattering her page with stories of leech nuts and toads. Combining news and feature material, Janice Smith and Nancy Poesnecker put out the fourth page this year by feeding the printers ice cream bars.

The annual journalism highlights were attending the All-Coast Press Conference at the University of Washington, and sponsoring Class Day. A new feature, interviewing statewide teenage personalities, was begun. Tim Wyndham, ad manager, was responsible for raising enough money to cover the majority of publication costs. Suzie Christian served as exchange editor, while Sheila Strauss and Claudia Austin, typists, helped out all year. The paper was published once every two weeks at the Highline Times in Burien.

SCIENTISTS OF THE FUTURE

HIGHLIGHTING this year's Science Club was the first Science Fair. Students prepared projects in the fields of biology, chemistry, physics, and photography, which were displayed in the HUB for the enjoyment of students and adults. The Grand Prize winner was Donnie Davis for her exhibit of the eye, in the biology classification. In the chemistry division Mollie Miller won "best of class" award for her outstanding paint display. A communications receiver and oscilloscope made by Jim Burton won "best of class" award in physics and Barbara Morrison took top honors in photography. The fair was a colossal success.

THROUGH THE PERISCOPE

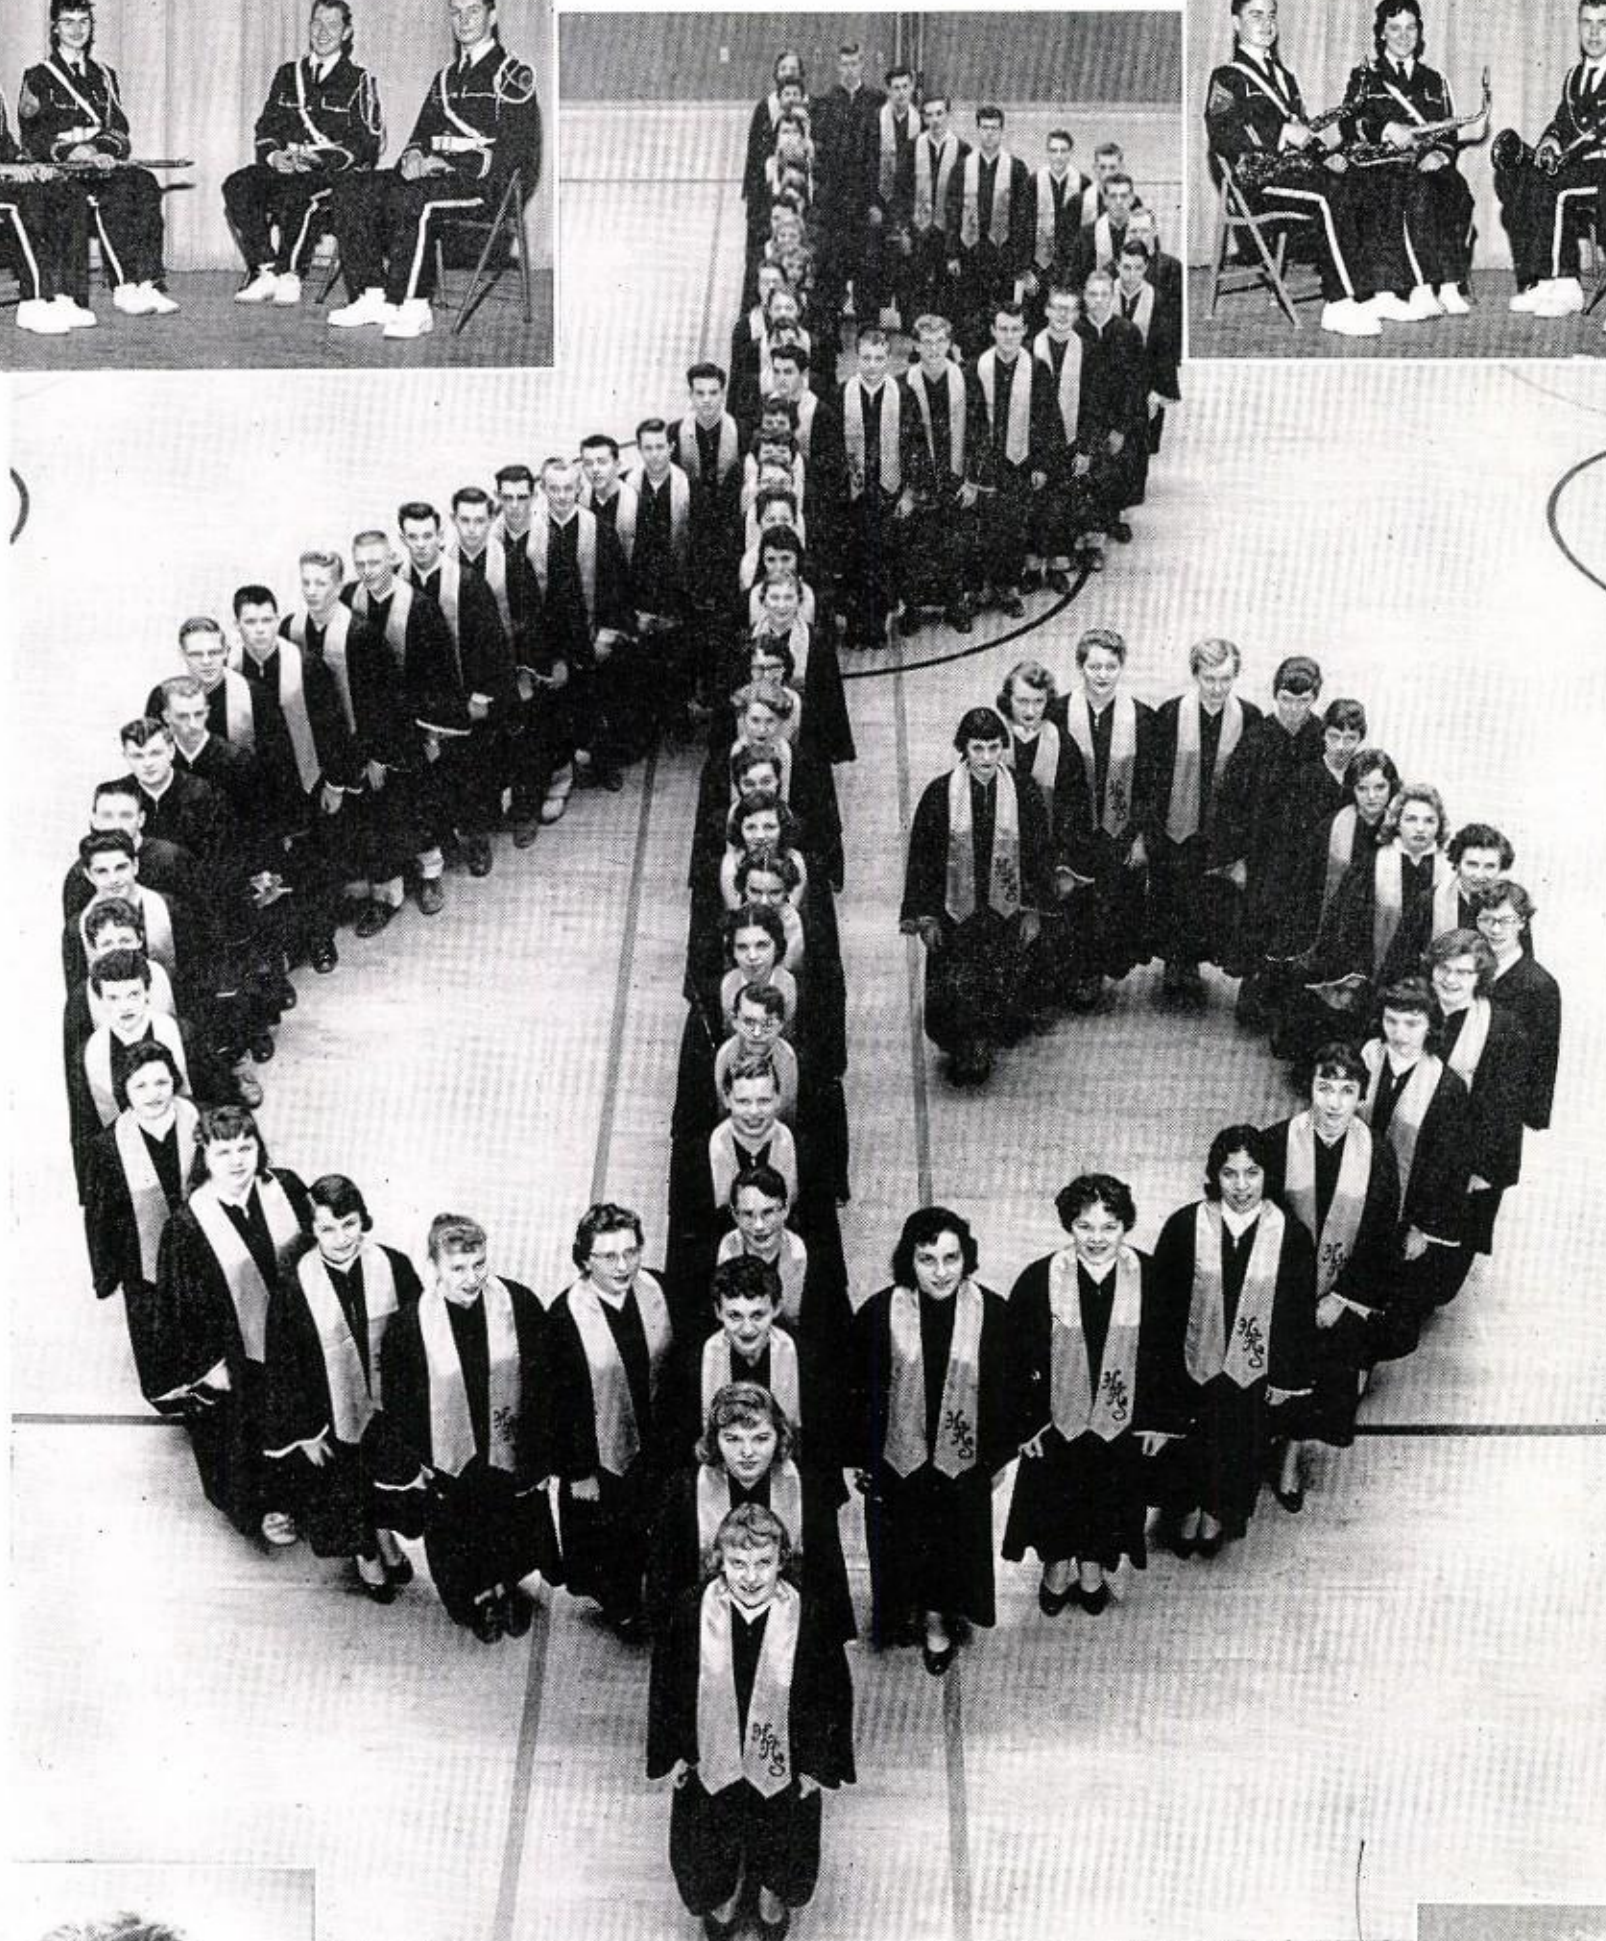

CLICK, FLASH! These sounds announced the beginning of the re-organized Camera Club. Covering school and extra-curricular activities, such as the all-city polio drive, was only one of their many projects. During the first semester Nancy Christian headed the group with Leonard Johnson, vice president; Don Galt, secretary; and Larry Line, treasurer aiding her. The second semester leaders Larry Van Winkle, president; Leonard Johnson, vice president; Carla Coplan, secretary; and Jerry Behm, treasurer, finished the year under their adviser, Mr. Chester.

Come On and Hear...

"TO PROVIDE the listening audience with the ultimate in musical pleasure," may be termed the goal of every orchestra, but surely this endeavor was exemplified by the past year's performance. With lights dimmed they met their first assemblage at the Christmas Concert. Going their way to prepare for the Western Washington Solo and Ensemble Contest, many found the path led upward. Those winning superior ratings were the string quartet, the flute duo with Ramona Hopping and Karen Hansen, and the flute trio consisting of Carolyn Winders, Kay Hauser and Alice Temple. Soloists who received excellent ratings were Ramona Hopping and Carolyn Winders.

Assisting Mr. Jakey in presiding over the numerous projects of the year were: Pam Pucky, president; Peggy Spraines, vice-president; Dave Hovland, secretary-treasurer; Jean Backlund and Jackie Olsen, librarians; and Leanne Korsgaard, custodian of the white dinner jackets.

With their initial appearance before the Highline Women's Club, the String Quartet was launched on a season of successful performances. They proceeded to take a "Superior" rating in the Western Washington Music Festival at Renton, and then embarked on a full schedule that included performances for the Sun-nydale Music and Art Foundation, King County Federated Women's Clubs, and King County P.-T. A. Council.

With an eye towards the lighter side of music the Pep Band, in true tradition, gave strength at Pep Rallies and provided morale at basketball games. The band's first formal presentation came in the interlude of the Winter Band Concert. They then appeared in an exchange assembly with Puyallup. Besides providing reinforcement for the Song Staff, the band devoted its talent to popular music.

The Best Band in the Land

IN STEP WITH an expanding activity program the band was soon into the groove for another year of exceptional performance. In recognition for past outstanding service, the band was the first one to cross the new First Avenue Bridge at its formal opening. According to tradition, one of the major functions of the band is to provide the colorful half-time entertainment for games during the football season, which was made possible by Mr. Jakey's ingenuity in creating the field formations, which were novelly augmented by the addition of hat lights. Because it was an off-year for regional individual merit, the band was content to know that it produced many outstanding musicians.

To provide the necessary leadership for so large an organization, the following were elected to assist the director, Mr. Jakey: Dan Batterberry, president; Ted Jones, vice-president; and Dale Morris, secretary-treasurer.

BAND • Back Row: Sears, Teschner, S. Hurd, Hahn, Horning, R. Hurd, McCamish, Butcher, Kammer, Gibson, Remick, Kilbourne, Metzenberg, Shepper, Moshier, Culton, Guthrae, McNickle, Wolff, Sheppard, Mannering, Lundeen, Stanford, Kinsman. Row 3: Mathews, Redecker, Hendry, Hunington,

MUSIC! HARD WORK! FUN! These words fittingly describe the A Cappella Choir, as it sang its way through another eventful year. Mr. Harry Lemon, director, was assisted by a group of hard-working officers under Dean Burke, president. Mary Dena, vice-president, assisted in all matters, and Linda Lazzar was the choir scribe and treasurer, all in one. Marc Choate handled all business affairs and arranged for advertising along with Sandy Gooch, publicity manager. Rosemary Rowland and Bryon Martin kept the robes in good condition, and JoAnne Willi made certain that everybody had the correct music. Judy Pomeroy and Marilyn Precious kept the role, and Yvonne Shores did a magnificent job as accompanist.

First on the musical calendar was the annual re-dedication of Memorial Field, followed in November by an exceptional Veterans' Day assembly, at which the choir joined forces with the band and glee club to present "They Call it America." November was concluded by a Thanksgiving assembly, and a community church Thanksgiving Day service for the entire South End. At this service the choir gave an inspiring rendition of "The Lord's Prayer."

Christmas spirit ran high as the "Candy Cane Choir," so-called because of its clever Christmas room decorations, prepared its repertoire of Christmas music. Caroling trips to several rest homes, the airport, and, by special request, to Frederick and Nelson of Seattle, were successfully fulfilled. Climaxing all was the annual Christmas Concert given at the school.

Three months of hard work on two difficult numbers, "The Pilgrim's Song" and "The Creation," were rewarded by a "superior" rating received at the Western Washington Choral Contest held in Tacoma.

Spring brought mild confusion as the choir rehearsed for the annual Spring Concert. It was a tremendous success, effectively culminating a magnificent combination of the choir, orchestra, and glee club presenting selections from "Brigadoon."

Several members of this year's choir were rewarded for their musical talent and choir experience. Dean Burke, first tenor; Norman Eckert, second tenor; Glenna Holly, first alto; and Marilyn Hansen, second alto; were accepted in the 500 voice All-Northwest Chorus. The chorus was a part of the All-Northwest Music Festival held in Boise, Idaho, April 2-6, 1957, and included high school students from five Northwest states.

At the Helm

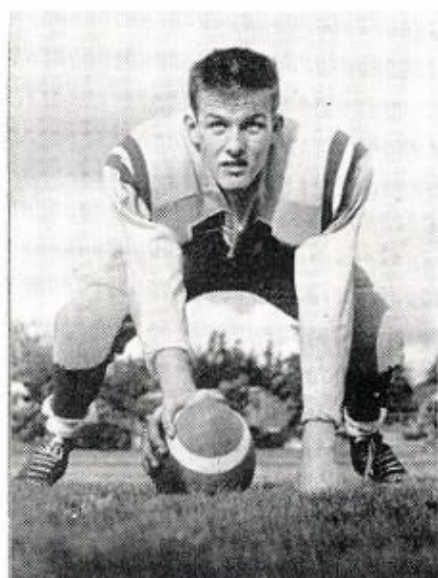

PILOTING the crew of athletes, the Pirate coaches helped their teams make a lasting impression on the log of the Puget Sound League. The overflowing trophy cases bear witness of their outstanding leadership in the quest for booty:

Coach Alf Hemstad, assisted by Coach Lindy Aliment, set sail on the '57 sports program with their fine football crew, taking fourth place in the League with a record of five wins, three losses and one tie . . . Coach Bill Trowbridge and Junior Varsity Coach "Mac" Malone combined their ability and some impressive basketball players to bring home the first League Championship in several years. Their record for the season, after a tough West Central Tournament battle, was twenty wins and three losses . . . Spring weather brought out of hibernation the court-pounding racket squad. This year's tennis team was commanded by Coach Don Amundson . . . Captained by the versatile Coach "Mac" Malone and Junior Varsity Coach Leonard Tazioli, the baseball team was again steered toward the top, as their record testified . . . Cinders flew when Highline's trackmen started their season. Coach Vic Carpine, assisted by Coach Alf Hemstad, again produced a squad capable of winning the annual Highline Relays and of being a top contender for the conference title . . . New-comer to the athletic staff this year was Mr. Jack Sharp, who served as the trainer for all of the Pirates' crews. Taping ankles and diagnosing players' aches and pains was his chief time consumer. His work was greatly appreciated by the coaches and players alike.

SEATTLE PREP was sunk for the second time in succession as the football armada of the Highline Pirates launched its first of nine attacks. With an almost all-senior crew, commanded by Coach Alf Hemstad and Assistant Coach Lindy Aliment, they continued to sail through their Puget Sound League schedule, followed by boat loads of exuberant and loyal deckhands, finally anchoring in fourth place.

Several seniors captured rewards for their football endeavors and fine playing. Half-back Dave Butler was one of the league's leading scorers, and gained an alternate spot on the all-state team. Big Jerry Trisler, one of the league's fine tackles, along with Dave, represented Highline on the all-conference first team. Gary Woldstad received a well deserved reward as an all-conference second team end, and an all-state alternate. Senior guards, Gary Dethlefs and Jack Brown; senior tackle, Dave Nietula; senior center, Dennis Pittis; senior backs, Bob Thornton and Ralph Byquist; and junior quarterback, Tom Gibbs, received honorable mention for their fine season of play.

Two other awards are the highly-coveted position of team captain and the most honored award, the inspirational senior player. Gary Dethlefs, a hard-hitting guard, was elected team captain; and swift, determined Bob Thornton was voted the most inspirational player.

PANTHERS SWAMPED

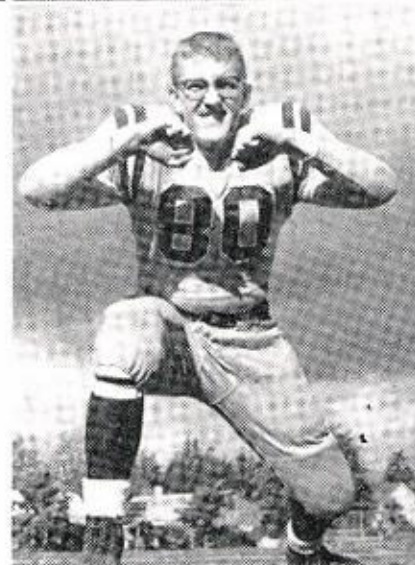

Unpredictable proved to be the keynote of Highline's football season. Starting fast, the newly-outfitted Pirates swamped the Seattle Prep Panthers. A case of fumbleitis on the part of the Panthers helped the Pirates roll up an impressive score of 34-12. Dave Butler and Ralph Byquist gave the Pirates their big scoring punch. Dave Bible, end, picked up a Prep fumble on the Highline eight-yard line and ran ninety-two yards for another Pirate touchdown. John Dudder scored on a quarterback plunge from eight yards out, seconds before the game ended.

PIRATES ALMOST STUNG

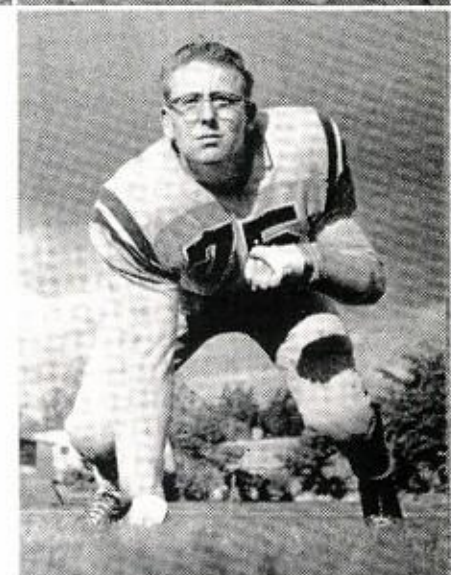

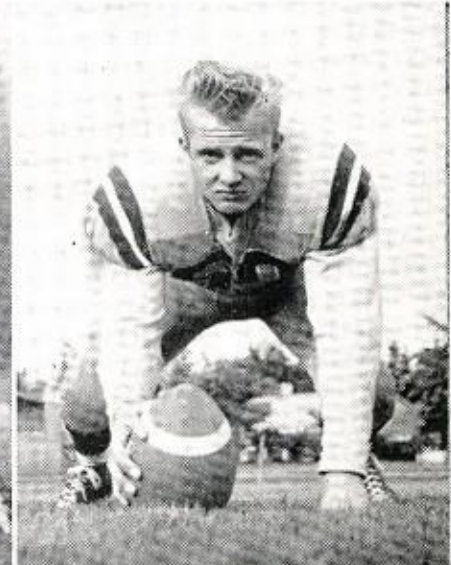

The Enumclaw Hornets gave the Pirates a scare in the first league game of the season. Trailing at half-time by a touchdown, the Pirates began to move in the third quarter, tying the score and breaking several Hornets' attacks. The Pirates barely squeaked in a touchdown in the closing seconds, tying their first league game 19 to 19.

SPARTANS NO MATCH

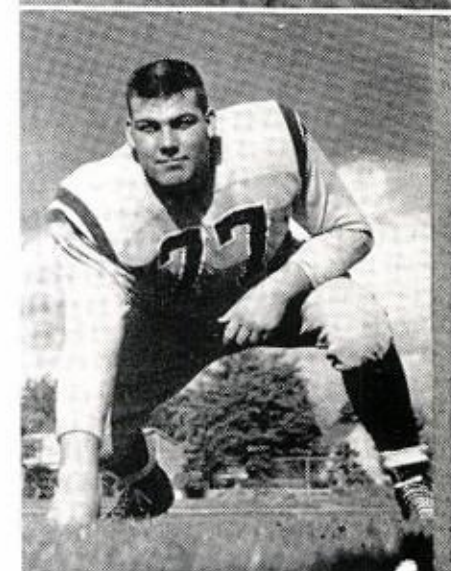

Highline's Pirates didn't find much competition as they rolled over the Sumner Spartans 25-0, in the ninth annual re-dedication game on Memorial Field. The Spartans never reached into Highline territory as the Pirates tallied up 300 yards rushing. Dave Butler, assisted by Bob Thornton, scored the four six-pointers.

Pirates Drive Ahead ...

CARDINALS ALSO FALL

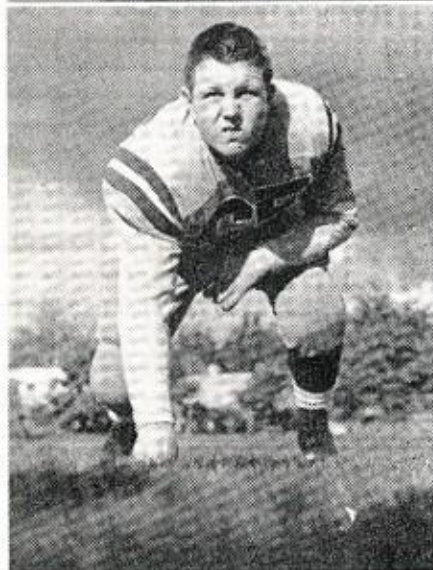

The Franklin-Pierce Cardinals provided the means by which Highline remained undefeated as they continued through the season. Fred Westholm chalked up 150 yards on passes to Gary Woldstad, Dave Butler, and Bob Thornton as the Pirates dampened the Cards' second homecoming with a 20 to 0 win. Fullback Ralph Byquist, along with Butler and Thornton, struck paydirt for the Pirates, keeping them in contention for the Thanksgiving Day game.

ROYALS NOT EASY

The 26th annual Highline Homecoming game gave the Pirates their fourth win of the season. Though they started with an early lead, the Pirates soon found themselves on the short end of the halftime score of 13 to 7. Larry Webb's recovery of a Kent-Meridian fumble set up the winning Pirate touchdown. The Pirates' come-from-behind victory was topped by a Thornton one-yard plunge in the fourth quarter making the final score 21 to 13.

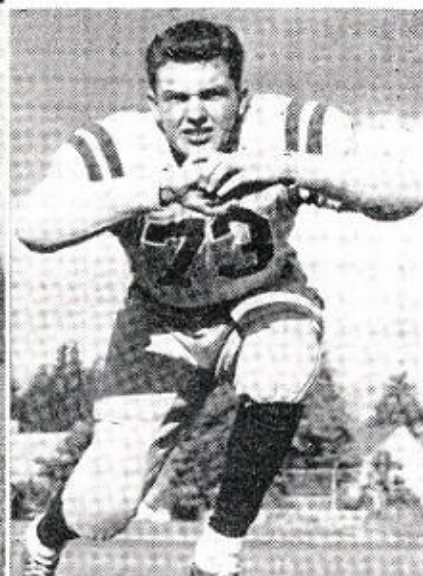

TROJANS DOWNED

Trailing at halftime by one point, the Pirates put on a scoring streak in the third and fourth quarters and downed the Auburn Trojans 25 to 13. Sparking the second half drive was a fifty-yard scoring run by Bob Thornton in the third quarter, and another six pointer by Dave Butler.

..Winds Alter Course

COURSE ALTERED

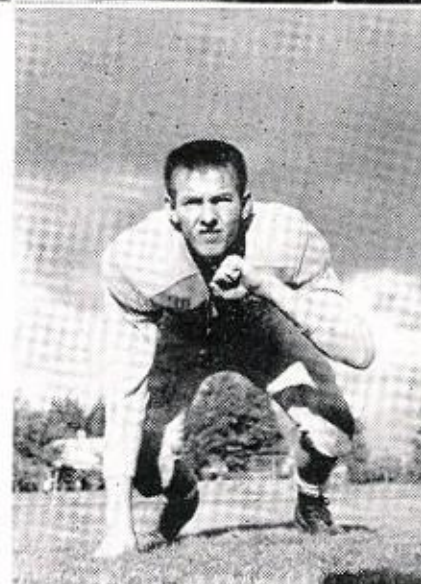

Highline's course to the Turkey Bowl was altered as the Clover Park Warriors forced the Pirates aground. The third quarter was the turning point as the Warriors scored two touchdowns taking a commanding lead that handed the Pirates their first setback of the season with a score of 20 to 12.

VIKINGS ROLL

Unable to get their offense rolling smoothly, the Pirates suffered a second defeat at the hands of the Puyallup Vikings. Highline scored its only touchdown on a pass from Tom Gibbs to Gary Woldstad, with Terry Zitkovich making the conversion point. The Vikings continued to score with the final tally reading 19 to 7.

PIRATES SCALPED

Mud was ankle deep as the Pirates met the Renton Indians in the last game of the season played on Memorial Field. Both teams went scoreless until Renton sloshed through a series of downs that struck pay dirt for them in the third quarter. Unable to make their offense click, the Pirates lost a heartbreaker 6 to 0, but finished the season with four wins, three losses and one tie.

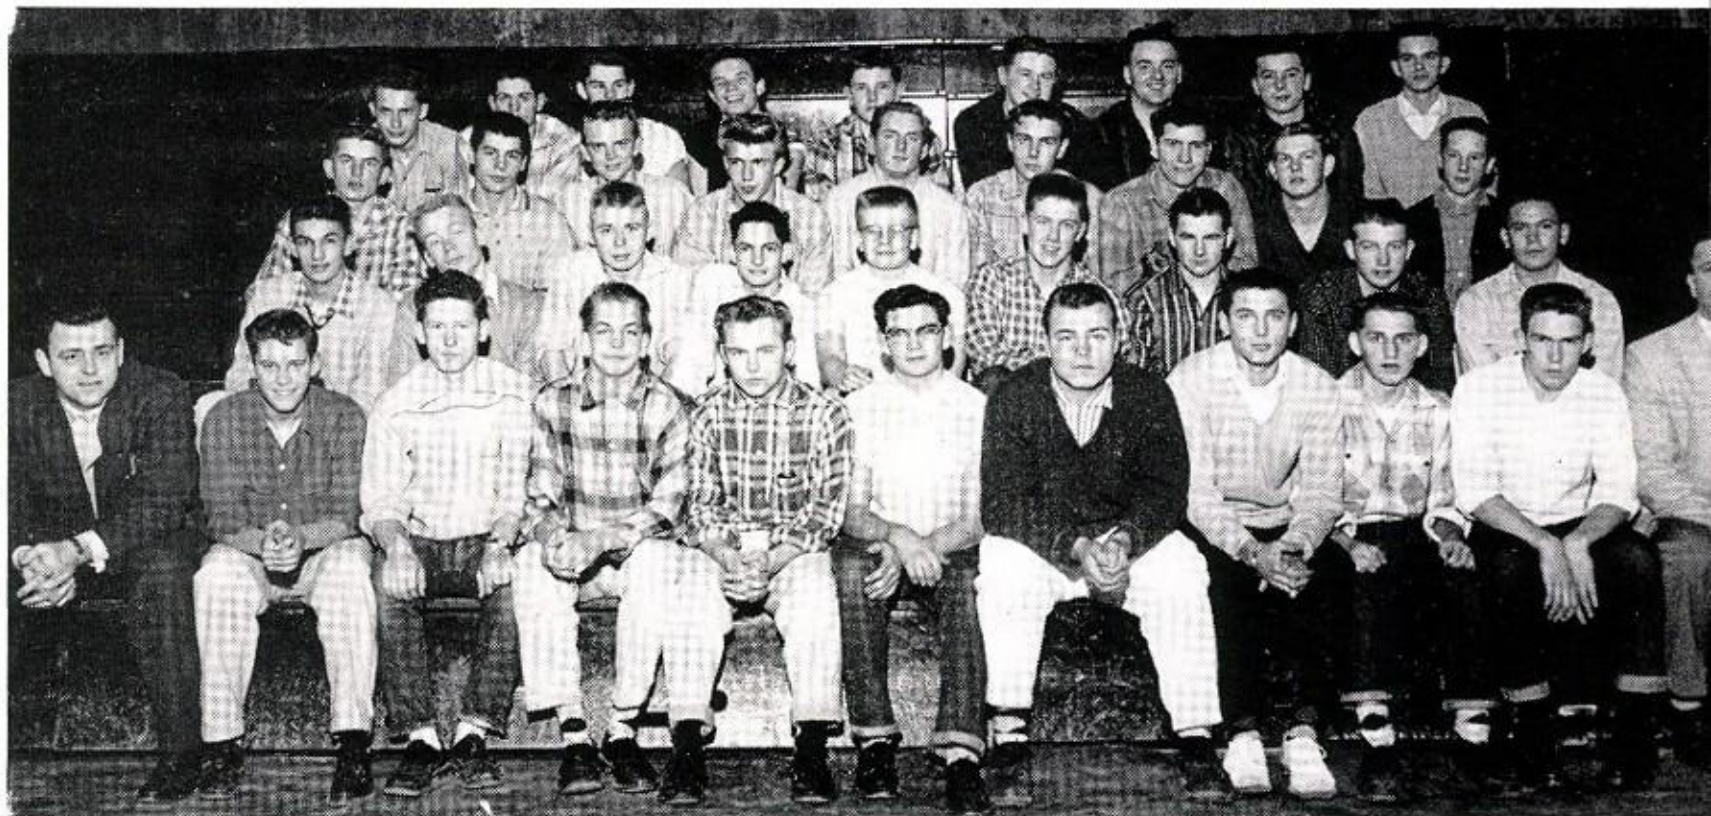

Center, top to bottom: Bill O'Brien, fullback; Richard Michaelson, tackle.

FUTURE PIRATE CREW

SEPARATING the true Pirate from the novice was the job of Coaches Quesnell and Shawl as they started the future football hopefuls of Highline on their way. This year's sophomore team consisted of some forty boys who started turning out soon after the opening of school. They were drilled and coached on the fundamentals and techniques of football quite thoroughly, and then launched on their season's schedule with the league's sophomore teams. These young Pirates had a fairly successful season and produced several good future Pirates in both the line positions and the backfield. Two of their number, Fred LePenske and Gordon Shaw, proved themselves worthy of wearing the Purple and Gold, and earned their varsity letter.

MANAGERS • Back: Eckert, Compton, MacNeil. Front: Armentrout, Sisley, Heim, Paluso.

"SWABBIES"

"LITTLE PRAISE, but lots of work" represents the daily life of a football manager. These hard working fellows do everything and their reward is a cold shower. They like their job, though. Mal MacNeil was the head manager of the varsity squad this year. Norman Eckert assisted as medical manager. Juniors were Jim Compton, equipment manager; Pete Armentrout, assistant medical manager; Loren Sisley, field manager; and Robert Heim, field manager. Newcomers were Ron Paluso, Robbin Young and Dale Lonheim.

A SEA OF GRASS

ON THE STRENGTH of two returning lettermen, this year's golf team did exceptionally well in its first six meets. The team's only loss was to Bellingham, and its five victims were Kent-Meridian, Renton, Sumner, Puyallup, and Franklin-Pierce.

Leading the way in the first half of the season was Larry Proctor, followed closely by Ron Proctor. On the trail of the two lettermen were Dean Straley, Ed Barnes, and Bill Spurlock. The indispensable Mr. Bill Trowbridge served as team coach again this year.

As the season's few remaining meets draw near, the drive displayed by the team thus far should win them a lofty position in the league.

Able Bodied Seamen

UNDER THE ABLE DIRECTION of Coach Everett Woodward the sport of gymnastics was initiated with a successful season. The new team won its first competition by a considerable margin, defeating six other teams in the State High School Invitational Meet at the University of Washington in December.

The squad remained undefeated the balance of the season by defeating Renton High School once, and Shoreline High School on two occasions. On March 23 the team traveled to Seattle Pacific College for the Pacific Northwest A.A.U. Gymnastic Championships. They again placed first in men's novice division.

The most outstanding individual on the squad this season was Terry Hildebrand, sophomore, who won the Pacific Northwest Individual All-Around title in the novice class.

Coach Woodward is again looking forward to a successful season as the nucleus of the team consists of underclassmen. Those squad members lost by graduation are: Tim Wyndham, Ralph Martin, and Richard Inch.

Pirates Capture League Championship

AS COACH BILL TROWBRIDGE will testify, this season was one of the finest in Highline's basketball history. In league play the Pirates lost only one game. Finishing the season with an overall record of 20 wins and 3 losses, they took first place in the Puget Sound League.

The team started fast, sweeping all opponents with decisive scores. In the league opener, Highline won over Renton on their home floor to the tune of 69-52. Next the Pirates journeyed to Bellevue, where they rolled up the highest score of the season. Everything the boys did was right, and everyone got in the act, downing Bellevue 84-36.

CAGERS PLAY SMOOTH

The Fabulous Five, as the Pirates were sometimes called, were in high gear now. The little field general, Rich Stanley, set up the plays so the big men, George Holthe and Dick Keith, could easily score. "Bo" Sprague was snapping the net with that soft shot of his almost every time he took aim, and Tom Bean, although he did not score heavily, was magnificent on defense and was a hustler all the way. These fellows had an unquenchable desire to win.

LEAGUE CHAMPS (Cont'd)

RESERVES LOOK GOOD

Opponents not only had this formidable crew to face up to, but a second team that could hold its own against any team in the league. The reserves were led by Tom Gibbs, a junior who was ever-pressing for a job on the starting line-up; Dennis Doane, who could really grab those rebounds; Pete Starceovich, who played a sound floor game, and had lots of heart; Gary Woldstad, a big fellow who was great in the clutch; Don White, a real inspiration and a greatly improved player; Ted Mihalisin, a boy who was always in there giving all he had—these fellows rounded out a fine second team.

BIG WIN STREAK

The mighty Pirates literally bowled over their next five opponents after the game with Bellevue. They encountered momentary opposition in the form of a scrappy Franklin-Pierce squad, but the Pirates came through with a narrow 42-38 victory. By this time their reputation had spread, and the Associated Press sports writers ranked Highline second in the state. The next eight games were won with no difficulty, and Pirate rooters began to cultivate dreams of taking first in the state Class A tournament. But alas, these dreams were partially shattered when the Bucs met up with a determined Kent-Meridian squad. The Pirates lost a heartbreaker 39-41. The next Friday at Enumclaw the Pirates pulled one out of the fire, winning 50-47. The Bucs finished the league season on their home floor, smoothly polishing off Renton and Auburn.

TOURNAMENT TIME

The Pirates then headed into the West Central District Tournament a heavy favorite. In the first game they encountered a greatly improved Bellevue team. Highline defeated Bellevue in a thriller, 50-49. The next night the Bucs were not so fortunate, for they lost to a tough West Bremerton team 51-57. This loss did not mean the end, however; they could have gone to state if the Pirates had won their next two loser's-bracket games. The following game was with Renton, twice defeated by the Pirates in league play; but the third effort proved to be a jinx when the Pirates lost 39-51. This loss left the Pirate rooters somewhat agape, but the classic refrain, "Just wait till next year," was in the minds of everyone.

Next Year's Regulars

TRYING TO KEEP in step with the fast pace set by Highline's "A" squad, the "B" squad had a successful season. The jayvees ended their season with a 16 won, 4 lost record. The losses were one each to Puyallup and Enumclaw, and twice to Clover Park. As all members of "B" squad are sophomores and juniors, there is going to be some fine material around to form next year's basketball team.

Smashing Serves and Rippling Drives

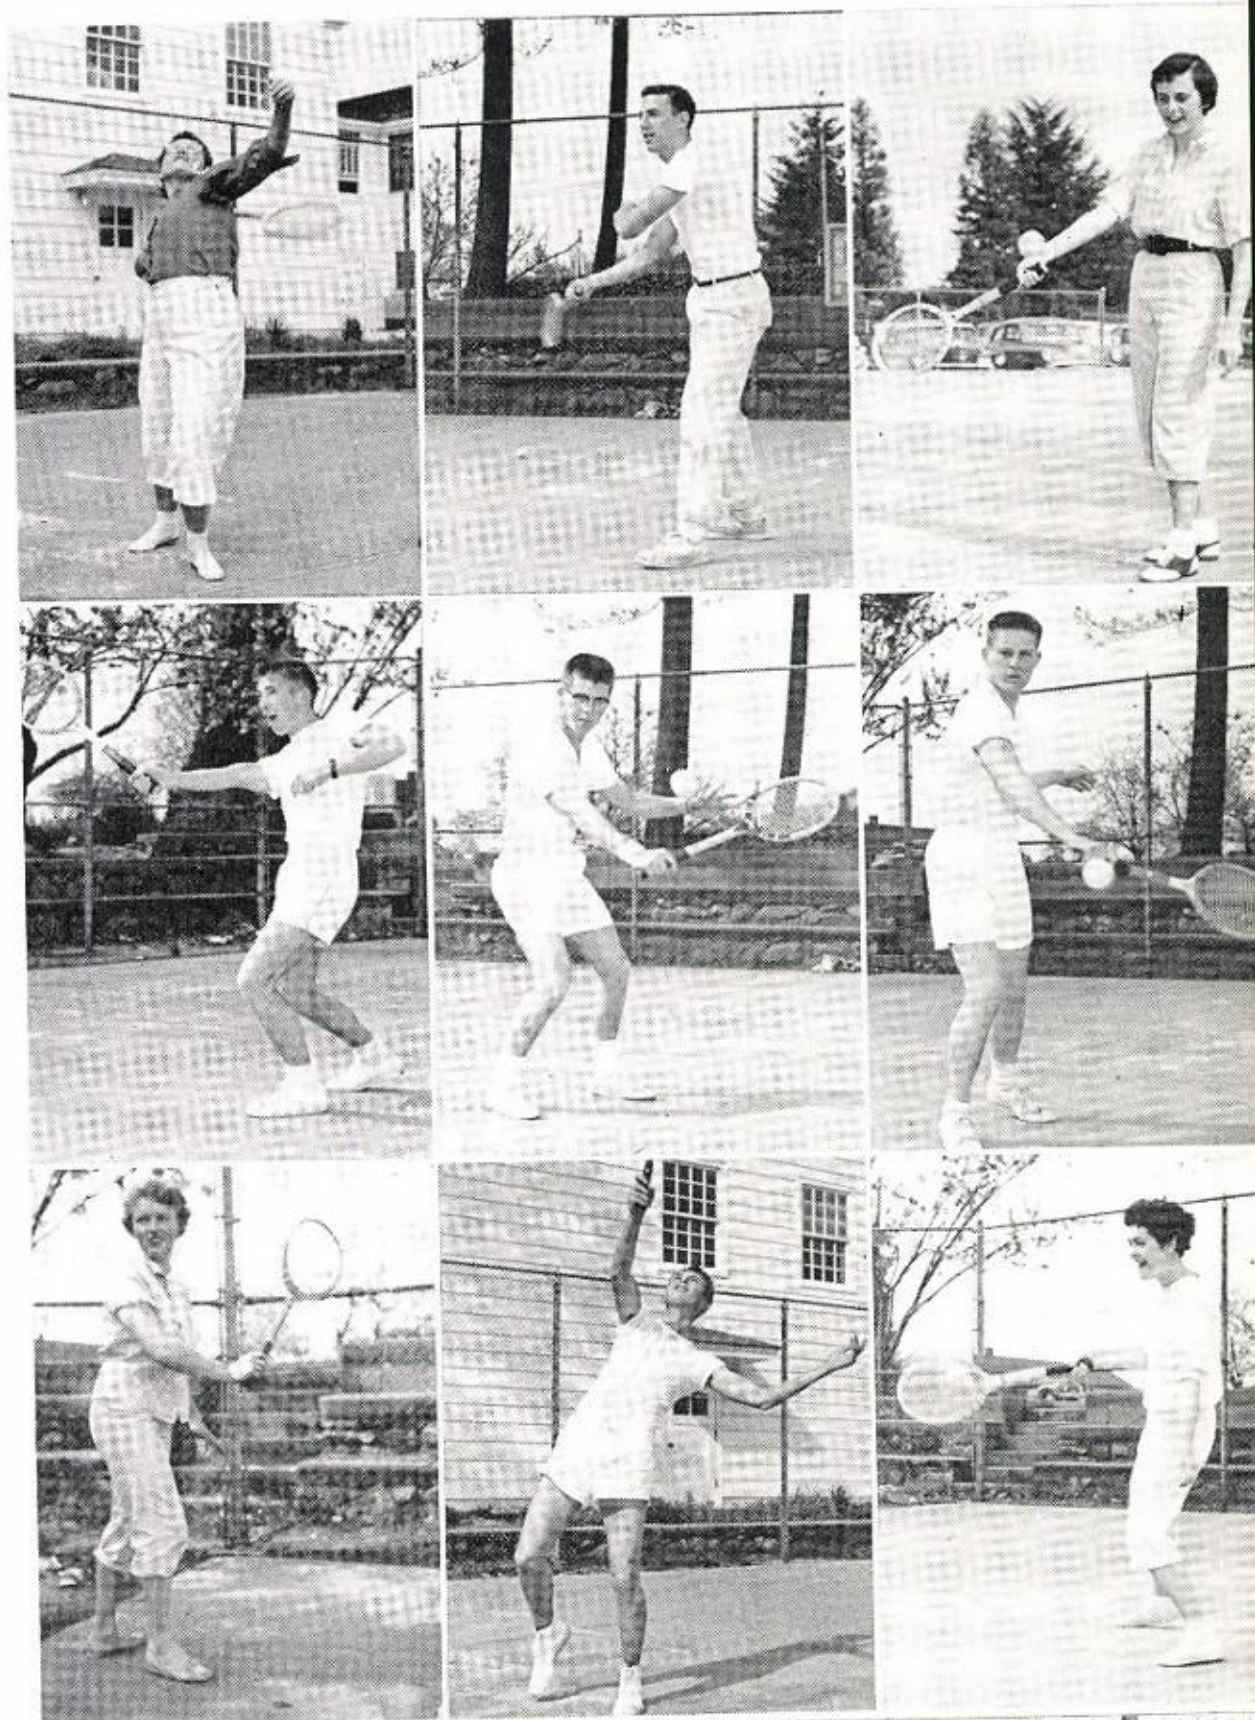

ENTHUSIASM for tennis ran high this year, as was evidenced by the large numbers who turned out. Coach Don Amundson indeed had a task in building a strong team, for most of those turning out were beginners.

In the opening league match Coach Amundson was extremely pleased when the comparatively inexperienced Pirate racketeers downed Auburn 5-0. However, the next match was with Enumclaw, who traditionally has good teams. The Hornets defeated the Pirates 4-1, with Bill Pike winning the only match of the afternoon. Next, Franklin Pierce and Kent-Meridian fell easily before the Pirate tennisers.

As of now the team consists of Kathy Bates, girls' singles; Priscilla Carrier and Kathy Everham, girls' doubles; Peggy Robertson and Barry Blaker, mixed doubles; either Joe Kleitsch and Jim Carter or Mike Schieber and John Stackpole, boys' doubles; and Bill Pike, boys' singles.

As the yearbook goes to press, the Highline tennis team has a record of three wins against one loss in league play. Hopes are still high for a repeat of last year's championship. There are three league matches remaining; of these, Clover Park will probably be the toughest; but the Pirates have the advantage of playing on their home courts.

Having lost the better part of his players by graduation last year, Coach Amundson is now in the process of building for the future. If interest and enthusiasm continue, along with good coaching, Highline's string of fine tennis teams will be extended into the years to come.

COACH "MAC" MALONE, and his assistant, Leonard Tazioli, combined the talents of six returning lettermen "B" squad players of last year, and produced a strong contender for the championship. Opening their league play with a 6-1 victory over the Sumner Spartans, Coach "Mac" Malone's Pirates showed they were a power to be reckoned with.

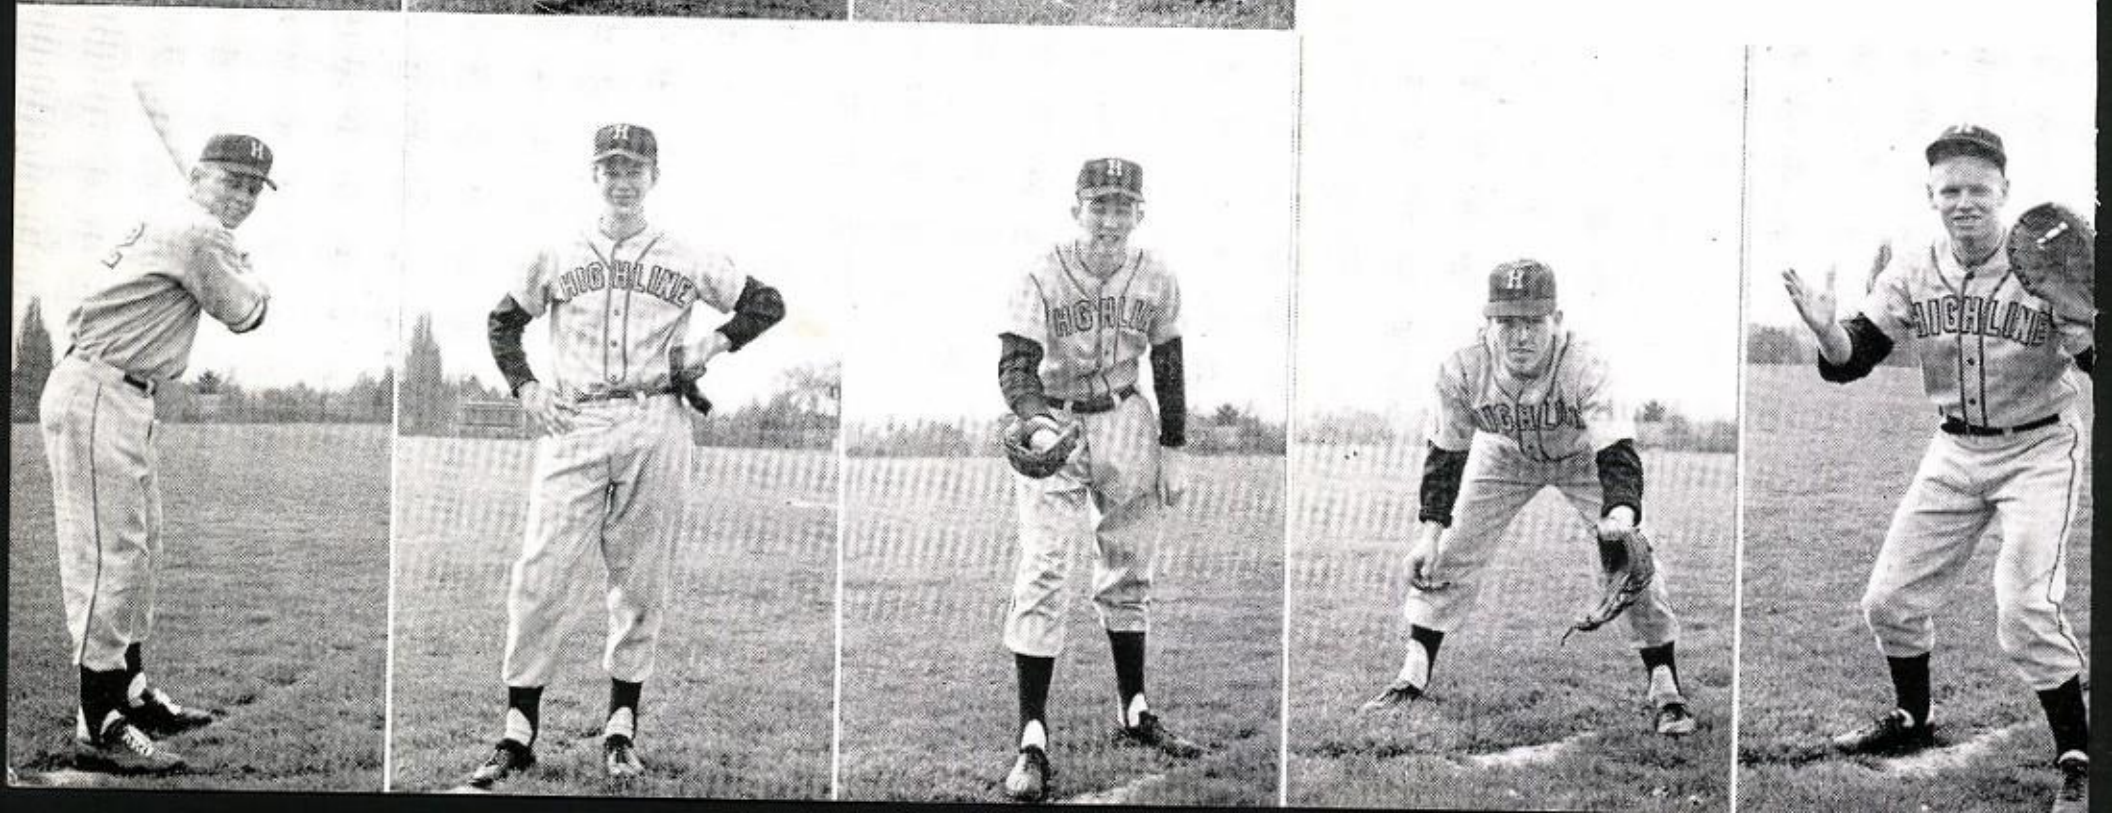

BUCS FIGHT BACK

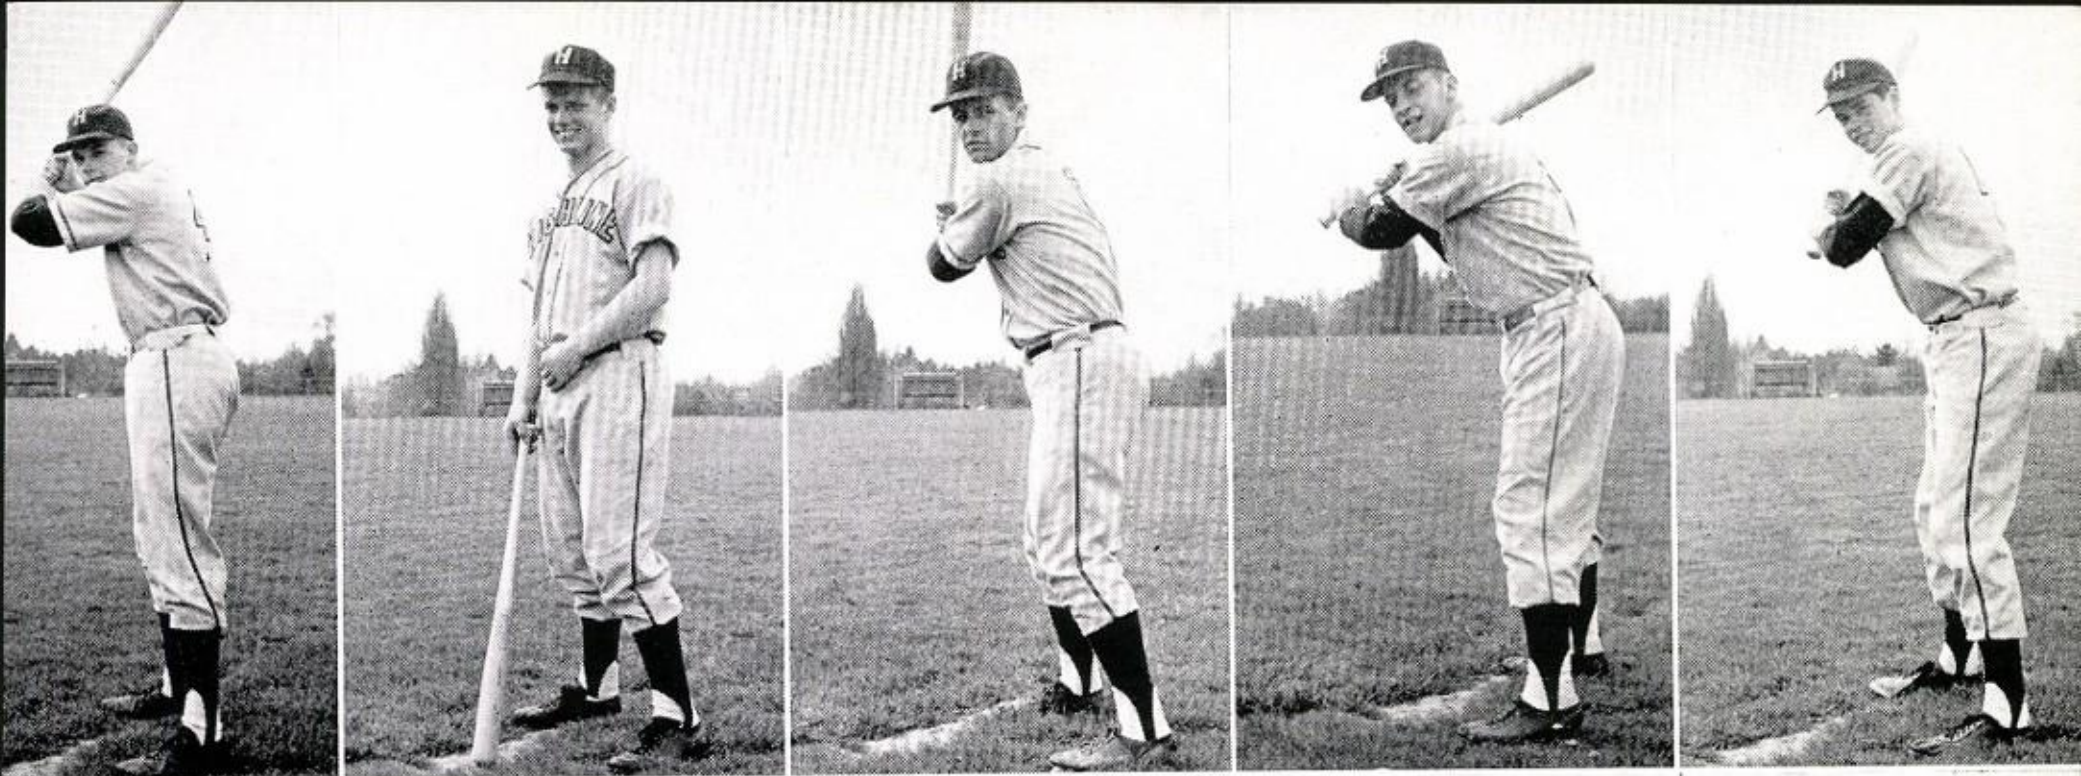

The Bucs mustered a six hit attack in the second inning of the contest, pushing across two runs. Tom Gibbs, Pirate second baseman, collected three hits in four trips to the plate, and pitcher Curt Bagley went all the way to win, striking out nine Spartan hitters. The team then dropped four practice games, but came back fighting to take their next two league contests against Franklin Pierce and Enumclaw by scores of 9-1 and 4-1 respectively, with sophomore Jim Venable and junior Curt Bagley turning in outstanding performances on the mound for the Pirates. Venable struck out nine batters while Bagley struck out ten.

ROUGH SEAS AHEAD

Suffering their first loss in league action, the Pirates lost a closely contested battle to the Renton Indians by the score of 5-4. Tom Gibbs led off with a triple to right-center field followed by singles from Bob Wilkins and Rich Stanley driving in two runs. The Bucs picked up their last two runs when the Renton catcher threw the ball into left field while attempting to throw Bob Thornton out at third base. The Indians came back in the late innings of the game to score five runs and hold the Pirates scoreless. Tom Gibbs collected two triples, a double, and a single in four times at bat. This loss put the Highline team into a tie for first place with the Enumclaw Hornets with a 3 and 1 record, followed closely by the Auburn Trojans who possessed a 2 and 1 record. As the yearbook went to press, the Pirates were entering the last half of their season, and fighting for the championship and the right to represent the Puget Sound League in the second annual post-season game in Seattle, June 1. On that date the first two teams of the Puget Sound League met the two top teams of the Seattle City League in a double header at Sick's Seattle Stadium. The Bucs had their work cut out for them with games against Puyallup, Clover Park, Auburn, and Kent-Meridian, but with what was considered as one of the strongest infields in the western part of the state, and good pitching from Pirate regulars, Curt Bagley and Jim Venable, their chances seemed quite strong.

Runners, to Your Marks..

DROPPING THE ANCHOR on Highline's athletic season this year, the Pirates' track crew sailed through its league competition undefeated. Boasting a strong nucleus of veteran lettermen, Howard Call, milerunner; Jon Lomax, and Gary Dietrich, junior sprintmen; Dennis Doane in the shot-put and discus; and Richard Inch, John Dudder, and Bob Shaw as pole vaulters, the Pirates proved too strong for league opponents.

Vic Carpine, coach, and Alf Hemstad, assistant coach, were able to add some of the Puget Sound League's new top talent to this core of experienced lettermen. Junior hurdler, John Anderson; and 880-yard-runner, Tom Mage; were probably the most outstanding additions. Sprinters, Nova Jones and Dave TenPas; distance runners, Bruce O'Brien, Mike Mathers, Mike Dawson, and Lonnie Finnegan; field men, Gary Soden, Jerry Trisler, and Dennis Pittis; and hurdler, Del Hudson, also added to the strength of the squad.

Proving grounds for this exceptional squad was the inter-class track meet, held before the regular season. Many records were broken as the juniors won by clearing the deck in all but the distance and field events, where the seniors were superior.

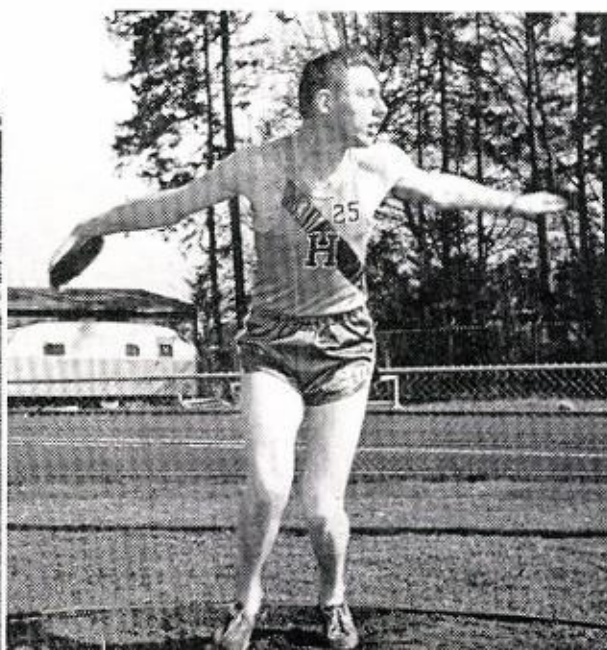

Co-captains Tom Mage and Howard Call accepted, on behalf of the team, the victor's trophy as the Pirates won the fourteenth annual Highline Relays by an impressive score of 42 points, and set a new record in the medley relay of four minutes and 51.4 seconds.

Renton played host to the Puget Sound League conference qualifying meet on May 7. Hurdler John Anderson and 220-yard-dash-man, Jon Lomax, bettered Highline's best try in their respective events as the strong and speedy Pirates tallied another win over their three competitors: Renton, Kent-Meridian, and Auburn. This victory resulted in the qualifying of some sixteen members of the team for the conference meet at Renton, May 10.

BASKETBALL • Cook, Graves, Anderson, Porter.

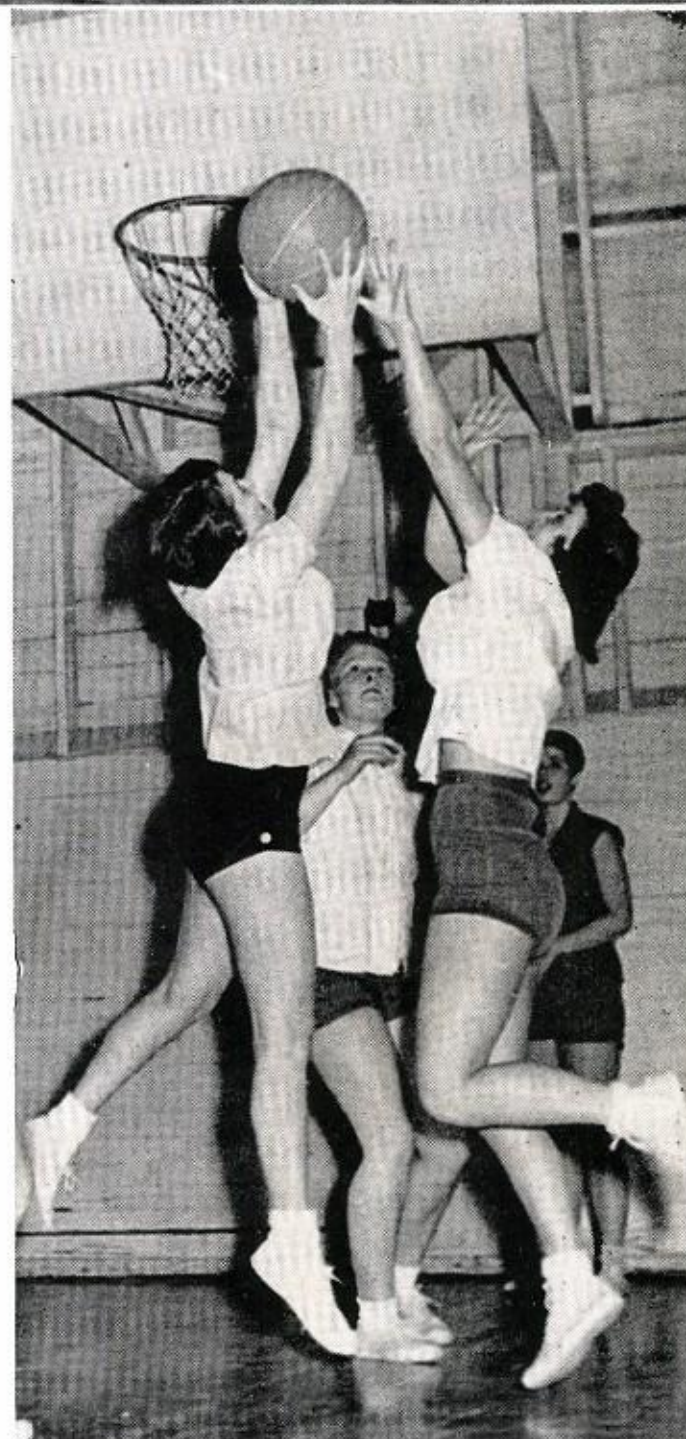

BOWLING • With the reorganization of H.G.A.A. in September came the opening of the bowling season. On Monday and Wednesday afternoons, several of the fair maties journeyed to the Burien Bowling Alley. At times it looked as though a little rough sailing would be nice to help bowl those pins over.

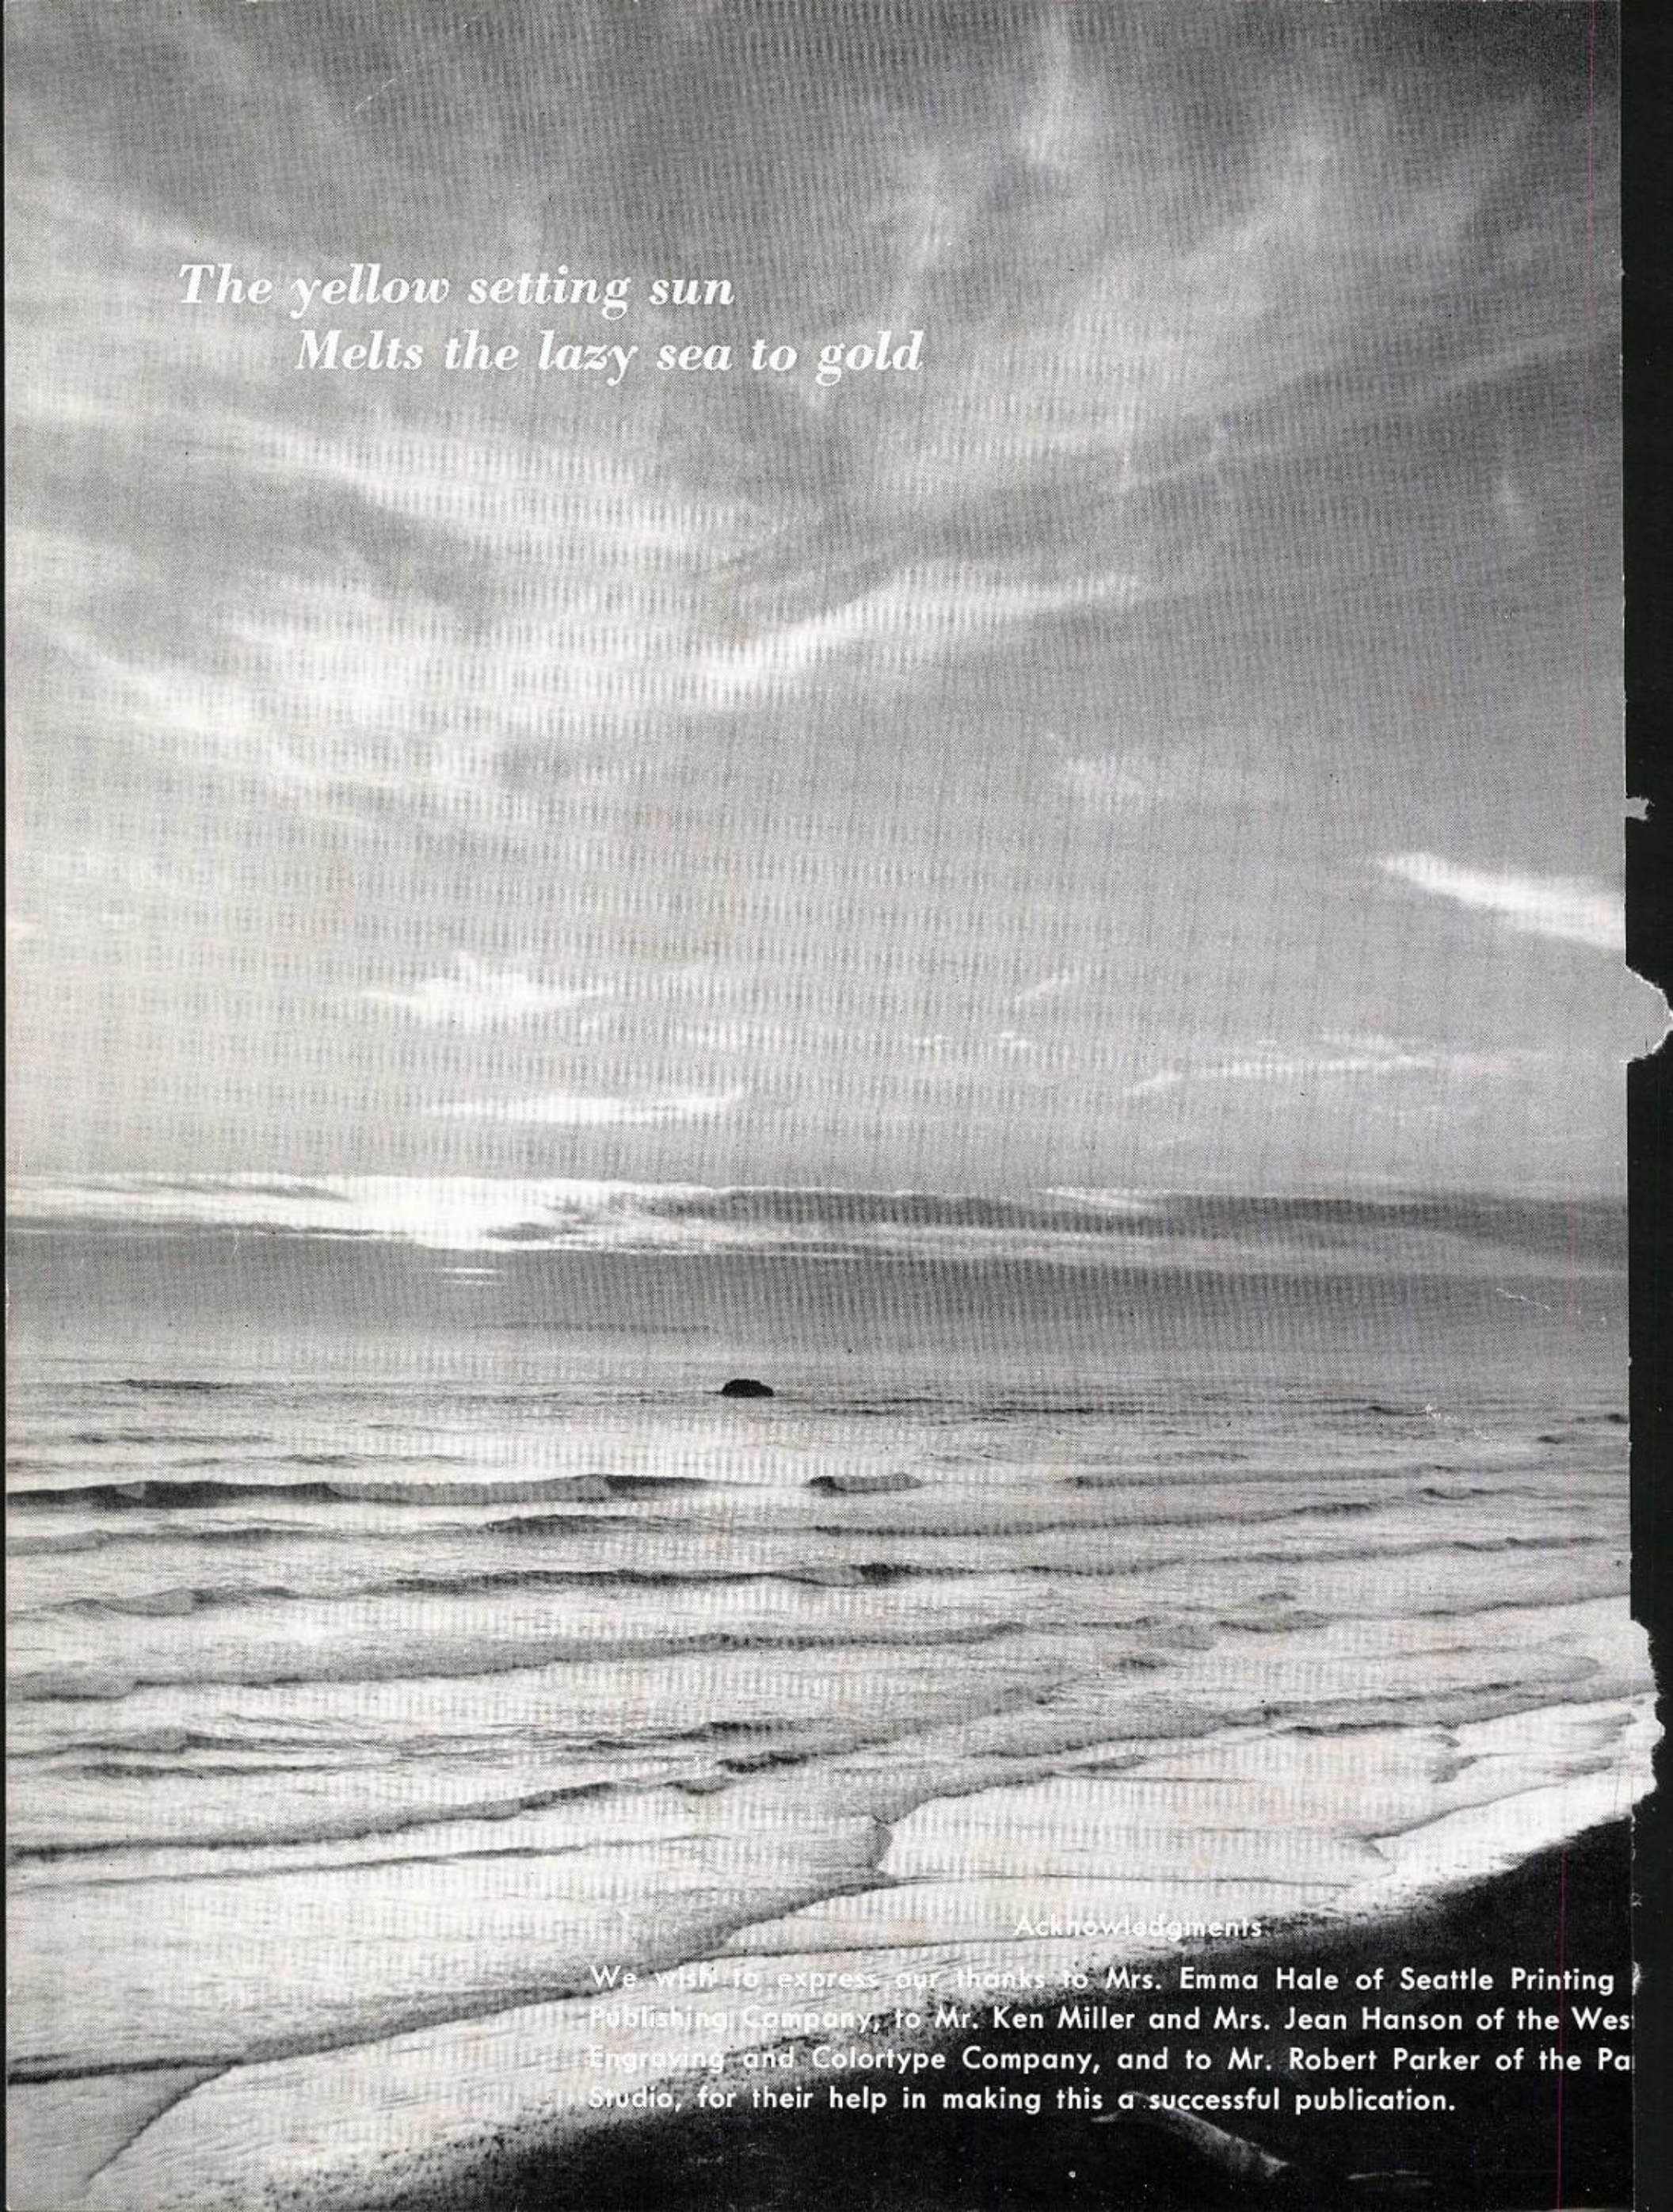

VOLLEYBALL • Running close competition to bowling as a favorite activity of the day was volleyball. Four teams were formed and the tournament was underway. Lynn Tannehill, Susan Graves, Marlene Illsley, and Susan Graham served as captains of the teams. Wilma Halpin was commended as an outstanding player on Lynn Tannehill's winning team.

BASKETBALL • As if they had caught a contagious disease, the mermaids caught onto the basketball rage in January along with the boys. Many were the shouts to "dunk it in" as several tried endlessly to score one more. The season was climaxed with a short, well-played tournament.

BADMINTON • Birdies flying everywhere! Some in the rafters, some out the door, while still others were entangled in the net. It created many a good laugh and a lot of fast-moving activity for the energetic mermaids, who displayed a great deal of skill as they batted the shuttle-cock over the net.

SOFTBALL • As the good ship Highline approached the end of its voyage, H.G.A.A. also prepared to dock. As a final activity, they took to swinging the hickory stick out on the practice deck. With sailing days quickly going by, the mermaids checked in the equipment and another year of fun and laughter drew to a close.

... Get Set, ... Go!

When the yearbook went to press, the results of the conference and West Central track meets were not known, and with many exceptional trackmen on this year's team, Highline's potential is very high, not only for winning the Puget Sound League championship, but also for strong representation at the West Central District meet and the state track meet held in Pullman, May 24.

* * * * *

Living up to the tradition of all work and no praise, this year's track managers did a fine job of keeping the new outfits for the track team in good condition. They also did a splendid job getting the track and field lined for all the home meets and seeing that all necessary equipment arrived at the meets away from home. Heading the "stop watch and towel boy" contingent were Roger Gorman and Dick Ross. Working along with these "big guns" were Bill Nelson, Dale Watney, Norman Roy and Lauren Tomlinson.

Sea Nymphs On Deck

EXCLUSIVELY for girls. Yes, promoting good sportsmanship and a spirit of competition among the fairer sailing mates of Highline was the chief aim of H.G.A.A.

Under the enthusiastic supervision of the late Miss Minnie Emry and Miss Shirley Nelson, the girls participated in such varied activities as bowling, volleyball, basketball, badminton, and softball. Those who turned out regularly for four of these sports received their H.G.A.A. letter.

The fair mates accepted invitations from the Renton, Sumner, and Enumclaw associations to embark to their far-off ports for a playday of fun and festivity.

On May 8, the athletically inclined mermaids proved also to be sea-worthy hostesses as they welcomed aboard visitors from many nearby ports. The day was filled with fun and laughter, although many bodies departed in a worn condition.
